Section 37 All act or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I was a member of the sub-committee of the Committee on Banks and Building and Loan Associations. I served with the sub-committee over a long period of weeks in the study of this bill. We had before us a man that I secured for the Chairman of the Committee, Senator Derrick, who came here and sat with us for several days at different times. We annotated the thirty-eight laws that are in existence in this State and in none of those laws do you find any such exceptions as appear in Section four, that was re-inserted in the House and does not appear in the bill now. I therefore took occasion to spend some time on this bill when I returned home last week and I find that Senate Bill 101, File Folio 5037 as it came back from the House has the following objections that can be made if the Senate is going to accede the joint rule of the Senate and House; Senate Bill No. 101, on which a Conference Committee was appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate on Wednesday of last week is not properly before the Senate, first, because it is not the bill that was sent to the House of Representatives by the Senate. Second, because the joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania provide as follows: Rule 11. "Every bill, resolution, or order, transmitted to either House, if amended by the House to which transmitted, shall have the amendment or amendments printed in italics, or enclosed in brackets, by the House in which such amendment or amendments are made and marked Senate or House Amendments, as the case may be." These joint rules of the Senate and House were adopted June 13, 1874, and were amended in January, 1901. It cannot be said that there are no joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania, due to the fact that admission was made that such rules exist, since the third rule of the joint rules of the Senate and House was invoked upon the appointment of the Conference Committee on Bill No. 101; the Senate and House thereby admitting that these joint rules that have been in use for forty-nine years, have never been abrogated, and have been called into service by virtue, as before stated, in the appointment of the Conference Committee. These rules have been used so long that they are regarded in the same light as the common law of our state. My point therefore, having been established, I direct the attention of the Senate to the fact that Senate Bill No. 101, File Folio 5073, is not properly before the Senate, due to the fact that it has not complied with Rule 11 of the joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania. The bill as it went to the House, did not have in it the brackets on page one. The bill as it went from the Senate to the House, contained the words on line 22 and 23, page 2, "for profit in this State" in italics. On page 3, line 3, the word "is" was in italics. On page 5, line 23, the words "except as provided in Section 4" were bracketed. On line 27, page 5, the word "or" was in brackets, and the word "of" on line 27, page 5, was in italics. On page 7, line 5, of File Folio 5073, which was sent to the Senate marked "Section 4," and appearing in the same type as the rest of the bill, was an amendment that was made in the Senate, and the entire portion appeared in italics in the Senate bill and the entire section was bracketed showing elimination; the amendment having been refused, was enclosed in brackets. On line 28, page 7, of the bill sent back from the House, the word "or" is omitted from the original text and the line means noting as it stands. On page 8, line 23, the word "applicant" is misspelled. On page 10, at the end of line 4, the words "issued to him" were in brackets, they do not appear in the House bill. On page 10, after line 4, the words "a registry certificate stating the principal place of" was in brackets, they have disappeared. On page 10, line15, the word "commission" is used in the bill sent back by the House instead of the word "commissioner" as it appeared in the original bill—commission means nothing. On page 10, line 15, the words "is not so satisfied, he shall" which were enclosed in brackets in the Senate bill, are left out. On page 10, lines 15 and 16, the words "declines or fails to so register the applicant he shall immediately" was in italics. It appears in the House bill as part of the original bill. On page 10, line 25, the words "in other respects" which were in brackets in the Senate bill, having been dropped in the Bill sent back by the House. On page 10, line 26 the following words "but shall state in bold type that the commissioner does not recommend and assumes no responsibility for securities offered by the dealer" were stricken from the Senate Bill which were in brackets, and do not appear in the bill returned to the Senate by the House.

Right here may I further strengthen my argument, by calling the Senate's attention to the fact that a line reading as follows: "that the commissioner shall thereupon register the dealer" was dropped in the bill sent by the Senate to the House, and in the House was re-inserted and appears properly in italics and underscored in accord with Joint Rule 11 of the Assembly. On page 11, line 21, the words, "in all other respects" which appeared in the Senate bill in brackets, were dropped by the House in its bill returned to the Senate. On line 22, the words "but shall state in bold type that the commissioner does not recommend or assume any responsibility for securities offered by the dealer or the dealer's agents or salesmen" were amended out of the bill in the Senate, and appeard in brackts when it went to the House, and in the House bill returned to the Senate, such amended out words do not appear. On page 11, line 27, the words "of course" which were amended out of bill in the Senate, do not appear in the House bill. On page 13, I direct the attention of the Senate to line 17, to the reading of the words "in a United States Post Office properly enclosed envelope". If any member of the Senate can tell me what this language means, he can do more than four attorneys to whom I have submitted the bill. On page 14, line 3, there was stricken out in the Senate, the following words: "and thereupon unless satisfied that all such offerings of the dealer had been made honestly and in good faith, and without intent to deceive or defraud, may prohibit the dealer from selling or offering such securities or any of them or in any way advertising them within this State", were dropped in the Senate and no reference is made to the dropping thereof in the bills submitted by the House. Also on page 14, lines 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9, were in italics, while the bill as it comes from the House appears as the original draft. On line 18, page 14, the words "forty-eight hours" were stricken from the bill and appeared in brackets, and a substitution therefor were the words "seven days" printed in italics, neither of which appeared in the bill returned by the House to the Senate. On page 15, line 8, the word "violate" was stricken from the bill and placed in brackets and the word "violated" was substituted therefor and printed in italics, they do not so appear in the new bill. On line 10, page 15, the word "may" was stricken from the bill and appeared in italics, it comes back as part of the original draft. On page 15, line 16, the words "forty-eight hours" were stricken from the bill and appeared in brackets, and the words "seven days" were substituted therefor and appeared in italics, neither are shown in the new bill.

I now direct the attention of the Senate to line 29, page 15, of the bill which came back from the House of Representatives wherein it says in the latter part of section 17 as numbered in File Folio 5073, "in case of revocation or suspension as the result of proceedings under this section or in case of the revocation or suspension of an agent's or salesman's registration as the result of the proceedings against the dealer under Section 15 hereof".

On account of Section 4, which was stricken from the Senate bill, and all section numbers thereafter necessarily having had to be changed, Section 15, as it appears in the Senate bill should be made Section 16 of House bill since Section 4 was reinserted.

Section 4 was stricken out by the Senate, and does not again appear in the House Bill in italics as a Senate amendment as previously referred to. If nothing else in this act would make it unworkable and unconstitutional this mistake is one that would be sufficient to abrogate the law if concurred in by the Senate. On page 17, line 9, the words "the commissioner may require by subpoena or summons issued by him the attendance and testimony" were stricken from the Senate bill, and do not appear in the House bill, while all of lines 10 and 11 as having been stricken out by the Senate and part of line 12, all of line 13, part of line 14, part of line 18, all of lines 19, 20 and 21, were printed in italics in the Senate bill, they appear in the House as part of the original draft of the Senate bill.

I now further direct the attention of the Senate to page 18, line 23, of the bill as returned by the House; the last word on line 23 in the House bill is "number" while it should read according to the original text of the Senate bill "under". I also direct the attention of the Senate to page 19, line 8, where the word "commission" was stricken from the Senate bill, and appears in the Senate bill in brackets.

On page 20, line 13, the word "may" was stricken from the Senate bill and appeared in brackets, and the word "shall" appeared in italics, while in the House bill sent to the Senate it appears as part of the original draft.

I also direct the attention to the Senate to line 14, page 20, where the bill states "one deputy shall be appointed by the banking commissioner" which is in direct contradiction to line 8, page 21, and to lines 5, 6, and 7 of pages 22 of the bill returned by the House. In section 25, the bill states specifically that the commissioner has the power to appoint one deputy while in Section 26, the words "the deputies" are used, which is also true of Section 28, lines 6, 7, and 8. There are many other errors in the bill, but I have shown enough to the Senate to justify my stand that I took las week, in stating that this bill is not properly before the Senate, and I now say to each Senator here present, that under no circumstances or condition can any Senator who believes in doing things according to law, decently and in order, can afford to stultify himself by further considering a bill which is not properly before the Senate. If you doubt the wisdom of my statement, then I say to you that as law-makers who believe in law and order, and who sit here as the representatives of the people, passing laws that others must and should obey, we too, should obey the laws as we have drawn them, or agreed upon them and which have been in use and acted upon, for nearly fifty years. The business of the Senate and House of Representatives is the making laws through actions of the General Assembly of the State of Pennsylvania. We must recognize the rules or chaos will ensue. There is nothing that strikes at the foundation of all government, whether it be in the Counsel Chamber, in the halls of the General Assembly or in the halls of Congress, as much as the use of the strong arm in opposition to recognized and justice and decency and obedience to established parlimentary practice. Without that recognition we become a mob.

I voted for the passage of this bill as amended, against my own judgment, but did it in self defence, for the reason that I am engaged in the Investment Banking Business. I cannot subscribe to the fact, however, that flesh should be made of Investment Bankers, and fish of Public Service Companies and others to be freed from any supervision and control. Public Service Companies have kept a strong lobby of lawyers here to accomplish the purposes as set out in this mongrel bill which I have just outlined. I do not believe the Senators can subscribe to the fact that they will be bullied and bluffed into doing an unlawful act, by people who wish exemption for selfish reasons, which if agreed to, will nullify the purposes which the act was intended to correct. I therefore move you Mr. President, that this bill be returned to the House of Representatives with the information that the bill must be placed in proper shape before it can be further considered by the Senate of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate according to the statement of the Senator from Allegheny it would seem that this bill contains a great many errors, in fact, nothing but errors. We heard this same kind of a discussion last Thursday. I have a transcript of the record made by the Senator from Allegheny, covering about six pages and if I am in order I want to read a letter from Mr. John H. Fertig of the Legislative Reference Bureau. This communication is dated June 12, 1923: "In accordance with your request, I compared the two last prints of Senate Bill No. 101, being Printer's Nos. 602 and 757. I find the following changes:

Page 1, line 4, the words "Section I were stricken out. This amendment was proper since these words were duplicated.

Page 5, lines 23 and 24, the words "except as provided in section four", eliminated by the Senate, were re-inserted by the House. This re-insertion became necessary because section four stricken from the bill by the Senate was re-inserted by the House.

Pages 7 and 8, section 4, which was stricken out by the Senate was re-inserted by the House, and this re-insertion brings about in the House print a re-numbering of all the sections.

Page 10, line 24, was added to section eight. This line does not appear in the Senate print. It was improperly dropped by the printer.

It is only proper to call your attention to the fact that in re-printing the bill as amended in the House, the italicized matter in the Senate print was printed in Roman letters in the House print. This is a rule followed by the printer in making re-prints of bills, and is done for the purpose of ascertaining the latest insertions, which are printed in italics. If the italics, when once inserted in a bill, remained the same in all prints thereafter made, it would be impossible to pick out the insertions made in particular prints.

I would say on the whole that the only important change made by the House was the re-insertion of section four of the bill. All the other changes are immaterial."

Sincerely yours,
John H. Fertig,
Assistant Director.

Yet the Senator from Allegheny, last Thursday, argued here that the bill was sent over by the House was not the same bill that came back to the Senate. He tried to make it appear to the members of this Senate that it was not the same bill. He has tried to say to you to-day that this bill is chuck full of errors from the first page to the last page. He directed your attention to the fact that this bill does not provide for deputies. In one instance it provides for one deputy and in another instance it provides for two. I want to read that to you: Section 25, page 22 of the bill attached to the report of the Committee of Conference provides as follows: "The administration of the provisions of this act shall be vested in the Cmmissioner of Banking. The Commissioner shall with the approval of the Governor appoint two deputies who shall be learned in the Investment banking business. Those appointed under this act shall perform such duties as the Commissioner shall generally or specifically direct and shall have all the powers by this act conferred on the Commissioner which may be necessary for the complete discharge of such duties. In case of vacancy in the office of the Commissioner or in case of inability of the Commissioner by reason of absence physical disability or other course to properly administer the provisions of this act the Governor may designate a deputy appointed under this statute to act for and in such Commissioner's stead and thereupon the deputy thus designated shall have generally for the time being all the power and authority in this act conferred upon by the Commissioners."

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Clark.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Clark, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, no, I refuse to be interrogated at this time.

Mr. President, I consider it not only a privilege but a duty that I owe to the good people of my district and the citizens of Pennsylvania to speak to-night in support of Senate Bill No. 101, entitled: the "Securities Act," the purpose of which bill is to prevent the sale of spurious or fradulent securities within the State of Pennsylvania.

This bill has had most careful consideration by the committee on Banks and Building and Loan Associations since the date of it's introduction, February 5, 1923. Two public hearings having been held.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz will state his point of order.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, the matter before the Senate is the report of the Committee of Conference and I make the point of order that the motion is out of order because in consideration of a report of a Committee of Conference there is nothing before the Senate but the adoption or the rejection of that Conference report, and that the Senate under the consideration of the Conference report cannot go beyond an inquiry into the regularity of the proceedings in either House during the passage of the bill, that when a bill is in committee of Conference it is not in the custody of either House and neither House has the right or authority to transmit the bill back to the other house for any purpose.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules the point of order is well taken.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I fail to see the proposition as set out by the Senator from Lehigh, but as long as this conference report is before the Senate for consideration the contents of that repart are also before the Senate for consideration. I, therefore, direct the attention of the Senate to the fact that this bill was reprinted in Conference report and that Section 25, of File Folio 5073, as it came from the House and re-printed in the Conference report was changed in Section 25 from one deputy to two deputies. Here is 5073 and it says one deputy. In the Conference report it is re-printed and it says two deputies. How could the Senate consider a Conference report on a bill that has been changed as it even came from the House with all these changes that have been made in this bill.

Mr. President, I rise to a point of order again that the Conference Report as it is submitted is not the bill that was sent here by the House, File Folio 5073. 5073 is the thing that is to be considered and not 5073 as changed by the printer or by the committee.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair decides that the point of order is not well taken.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I want to say that as far as the report of Committee of Conference is concerned that they did find certain typographical and other errors which they considered it their duty to correct and which we attempted to correct, and have been corrected in our Conference report.

Mr. President, I might also say that any differences that the Conference Committee found between the House and the Senate were discussed and agreed upon then and included in their report which we think was entirely within our power.

And the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the report?

BILL OVER IN ORDER.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 810, (House Bill No. 316) on second reading, entitled;

An Act to amend section three hundred and seven of an act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-six) entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder" as amended go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER SENATE BILL NO. 1097.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1097, (House Bill No. 936), entitled:

An Act for the repression of prostitution and assignation making it unlawful to solicit aid or permit prostitution or to use or permit the use of any place for the purpose of prostitution or assignation making certain evidence admissible in proceedings under this act authorizing the commitment of prostitutes to private institutions providing for their parole and prescribing penalties be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I trust this motion will not prevail. The members will receive, if they have not already done so, a circular letter from the Commissioner of Health in regard to this bill. Do not kill the bill by throwing it into committee. Let us fight it out on the floor of the Senate.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, What is the purpose of this motion?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I have already answered the question of the Senator from Fayette. I feel that it is a bill that should be passed upon by this committee.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, this bill has been under consideration for a long time. It seems to me that it ought not to go back to committee. As Senator Snyder has said, the bill ought to be fought out on the floor and either passed or defeated on its merits, and it has merit. It ought not to go back to committee this late in the session.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, the bill can be read to-night. It is only on second reading, and we can consider it to-night.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. President, there is a sentiment on the part of a great number of people representing the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association in favor of this bill on account of the moral effect it will have in this State. We have before us a circular letter from the Commissioner of Health of this State desiring its consideration, because of the splendid effect it will have from the standpoint of good health. It seems to me these expressions should prevail against any postponement tactics that might delay the passage of this act. This bill has been in the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, and it has received careful consideration. It comes to us acted upon favorably by the members of the House, and it seems to me to be our duty to put the bill on passage and keep it going until it is through the Senate. I think that should be done, if possible.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Snyder and Mr. Long, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—20.

Aron,
Baldwin,
Buckman,
Clark,
Craig,

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1551, (House Bill No. 710), on second reading, entitled:

An Act to provide for the selection and purchase of a tract of land and the erection thereon of buildings for an Eastern State Penitentiary making an appropriation therefor and directing the sale of the site now occupied by the State Penitentiary and the buildings and materials thereon

be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Vare, whether he is satisfied to have this bill recommitted at this time?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would object very much to see the bill recommitted. I would like to say to the Senate that the Eastern Penitentiary, at the present time is very much overcrowded, approximately eighteen hundred inmates there, and I think accomodations for approximately seven hundred and fifty—seven hundred twenty-eight, I am informed by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward. So that the Senate can readily understand they have reached a stage which is almost intolerable. It has been suggested that the state is spending large sums of money in the central part of the state. My information is that the construction of that institution has been going ever since the grounds were first purchased, years and years, and I think two million dollars approximately have been spent. We in Philadelphia feel that there ought to be an institution in the eastern part of the state where there can be reasonable access to the prisoners on the part of those who may be relatives and I trust this bill will not be recommitted.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, there is absolutely nothing in this bill which affords any relief at this time to the Eastern Penitentiary. This bill only came over from the House yesterday, was referred to committee, immediately reported out and was read the first time. It carries an ultimate expense to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of a million and a quarter dollars and should be more thoroughly digested by the Committee on Appropriations. I feel confident that there is not a member of this body who wants to put through the Senate that speed a bill carrying an appropriation of a million and a quarter. There is absolutely nothing in the bill to offord relief to the Eastern Penitentiary now and I ask to have the bill recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for further consideration.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I am reliably informed that a public sale of the site of the Eastern Penitentary will bring two million dollars, and it seems to me a good thing on the part of the state to buy a piece of ground and locate an institution thereon. Later on the state can be reimbursed by the sale of this splendid property.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate it seems to me it would be highly unfortunate if this bill were not acted upon before Legislature and this Senate adjourns. There is not a more acute situation in the matter of taking care of prisoners in the State of Pennsylvania than that which surrounds the Eastern Penitentiary in Philadelphia. Recent investigation made by an energetice and highly intelligent grand jury, disclosed conditions that demand the attention of every man and woman in this Commonwealth, and particularly in the eastern section of the state, who is interested in public affairs and I feel quite confident that the Senator from Lehigh, when he gives consideration, as he generally does, in a broad spirited way to the situation now confronting the people of Philadelphia and the people of the entire State of Pennsylvania, because we are all concerned in the care of our prisoners, will realize that something must be done of an emergency character to provide a better method, a more intelligent method, a more humane method, a more farsighted method of taking care of the prisoners of the State of Pennsylvania in so far as the penitentary is concerned. This bill should pass and it should pass before we adjourn on Thursday.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I just want to repeat what I stated before, I find no fault whatever with the effort to keep the Eastern Penitentary in the City of Philadelphia if that site should be sold. But every Senator realizes that there is absolutely no relief in this bill, which starts out by creating a commission and providing for the selection and purchase of a new site for the penitentiary. That affords no relief for the present congested condition of the Eastern Penitentiary. It is a matter that should be thoroughly studied and not rushed through hastily in this fashion in the closing days of the session. It means an expenditure of a million and a quarter and I judge nearer two and a quarter than one and a quarter.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL NO. 504.

Mr. JOYCE. I move to reconsider the motion by which Senate Bill No. 504, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Sesqui-Centennial Exhibition Association situated in the city of Philadelphia State of Pennsylvania was defeated.

Mr. STINEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division being called for 27 Senators voted "aye", 18 "nay", whereupon the question was decided in the affirmative.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I very much regret, being the sponsor of this bill, that personal matters detained me last night and alone prevented me from being here. I was amazed when it reached my ears from a source outside of the Senate, that it was said that my absence from the Senate was because I desired to duck the bill. That is a lie. I have never ducked any bill in my life, and the only thing that somewhat surprised me was that someone did not happen to say: "Owing to the absence of the sponsor of the bill, I ask that it go over in its regular order," because there would have been nothing lost by that. Indeed, it would only have gone, so to speak, another day. I am not going to take up any time speaking of the merits or the demerits of the bill, because they were gone over very thoroughly, I understand, last night, from what I read in the paper.

Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I will say this to you, if therewas ever a time that you ought to this to you, if there was ever a time that you ought to do it now. Only on Saturday New Jersey took the matter up, New York is taking the matter up, they are all ready to take part in this great celebration. Of course the question comes up of five million dollars. Of course that is a natural question that is facing us, but where there is a will there is a way. If Pennsylvania wants to stand not only in name but what she honestly is, the keystone of the arch, and having within her confines one city that boasts of more patriotism than any other city in the land, if that is the case, vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, everything that I said on this bill last night applies with equal force today. If we are to appropriate money in this manner for a purpose of this sort, there must be some end to such appropriations. The people in the City of Philadelphia are not demanding this bill, they are not demanding this money at this time. What they want today is to be let alone, in order that they can work out their own salvation. The people in Philadelphia do not want the Sesqui-Centennial, they want houses in which to live. Today the housing situation there is such that people cannot rent houses at hardly any price, and the prices asked when they come to buy a house is such that people in ordinary circumstances cannot afford to pay them. If you want to pass a bill of this kind conditions will become worse than they are today. Not only that, but our treasury is in such condition that we cannot go forward with these appropriations and make appropriations of millions of dollars for such purposes as this, and we should not do it, not only out of consideration for our sister states but for the other nations of the world. Mr. President, the whole world is on its back. The other nations of the world do not want to appropriate large sums of money to join in an exposition of this kind. What they want to do is to recover from the ill-effects of the war, and it is not going to help them if we are going ahead with a thing of this kind and almost insist that naions who owe us billions and billions of dollars today come forward to meet conditions of this kind. By voting against bringing this matter up today there is no discourtesy meant to the Senator from Philadelphia. If he had requested that the bill go over I am sure that the Senate would have acceded to his request.

Mr. President, in addition to that I desire to call the Senate's attention to the wording of this appropriation bill. It is not an appropriation to any arm of the government, it is an appropriation to a private corporation. The title reads "An Act making an appropriation to the Sesqui-Centennial Exhibition Association, situated in the City of Philadelphia, State of Pennsylvania". That is no part of the State government. Another phrase from the bill reads: "Whereas, the Sesqui-Centennial Exhibition Association chartered under letters patent issued by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," etc. This is making an appropriation to a private corporation. What kind of an appropriation is this? We are not informed whether it is a corporation for profit or not, we do not know, and therefore before we can make any appropriation to a corporation of this sort, as I read it, it will be necessary to have a vote of two-thirds of all the Senators and members of the House elected. Article 3, Section 17 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania reads as follows: "No appropriation shall be made to any charitable or educational institution not under the absolute control of the Commonwealth, other than normal schools established by law, for the professional training of teachers for the public schools of the State, except by the vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house." I, therefore, trust that this bill will not pass at this time.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate. I spoke on this proposition last night. I did not say very much because I did not think it needed much talking. There was talk here about patritism. There was some talk about the good name of Pennsylvania and a lot of statements were made that might lead you away from your good common sense. This is not a question of five million, this thing will be a question of forty million dollars. The people of Philadelphia now are paying taxes in excess of what they ought to pay. If by any reason this thing should go through and this money is raised it means that the citizens of the City of Philadelphia will have to pay additional taxes. Now the patriotism in this proposition at this time, and I appeal particularly to the men from the country, is a patriotism that will help our poor people. That is the patriotism that will help the working man to buy a home. That is the patriotism that will help a poor man to rent a home. There is a crying need in our city at this time for people in needy circumstances to find a roof to put over the heads of their children. There is a crying need in our city at this time that the children and the grown people should get a better water supply. That is the patriotism. Show your patriotism by taking care of humanity, show your patriotism by taking care of the poor and needy, and this sort of patriotism of what our other states will say to us is all bunk. This is a proposition for real estate speculators who have bought property in this particular locality and have taken their chance, and if this does not go through they are going to lose. If they gambled and lose that is a chance they take and the State of Pennsylvania should not take five million dollars from its farmers and other people in order to keep gamblers out of a hole. The other day we had a fire at Broad Street station. If our Councils could pass an ordinance, and maybe they will attempt to take away this property in this particular location, it will be a great benefit to Philadelphia in order to get rid of the traffic congestion, and if you pass this bill and help the Sesqui-Centennial and these gambling real estate men, the price of that property will go up so high that the City of Philadelphia will not be able to afford to buy this piece of ground to relieve the congestion in the City of Philadelphia. There is no charity in this, there is no patriotism in this, there is no desire on the part of our people to have it, and you people of the country, you take it from us, we do not want the thing that will compel us to lay additional burdens on the poor people. There is a combination of real estate gamblers who make conditions such that people in moderate circumstances cannot get a fair living. We do not want people from England, France and other places to come to Philadelphia for a Sesqui-Centennial. Philadelphia is not a boom town. The housing conditions are not sufficient to help out the natural increase in our population and what we want.

Mr. SPROWLS. Mr. President, we have a unique situation here, with some Senators from Philadelphia opposing the bill and others favoring it. A few weeks ago I spoke to Senator Woodward and he likewise said there was great opposition to it, and the fact that so many citizens of Philadelphia do not want the Sesqui-Centennial is the reason I voted against the bill. If the citizens of Philadelphia were cooperating and pulling together and wanted it and were working hand in hand for the bill it would be a different proposition. I love the city of Philadelphia and her history and traditions and I want to tell you that the people in Philadelphia do not want this great exposition there in 1926. Why should we force it on them. And in the next place, as Senator Buckman has said, one half of the world is down and our duty is to help it on its feet. We cannot have continous prosperity in this country with those conditions. I want to tell you we cannot have a great world's fair at the present time in 1926 and for that reason I am against it.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President, I am glad to find out this afternoon the great interest my distinguished colleague from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, takes in the farmers. It carries me back to when, with just as loud a voice and with just as striking emphasis he attacked the Derrick Bill and gave the farmers the responsibility. But of course a good lawyer, when the situation changes and it pleases the gentleman to talk the other way, then he becomes the farmer's friend and it is for their sake that he wants this great centennial not to take place.

I am also glad the golden gate, not of the great Pacific, but of Bucks county, is opening its door to us and that when we can no longer find a place in the Quaker City and we have no more room, strange to say, in the northern section we have a place where we can go, in Bucks county, because they do not want to have a celebration. As far as I am concerned in reference to this bill in Philadelphia, I notice what Senator Sprowls said, that he had spoken to a couple of gentlemen of the Senate, but there is no project whatever it might happen to be, that does not find somebody in favor of it, and somebody who is against it. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, spoke of real estate sharks. This bill was handed to me by Ernest Trigg, ex-president of the Chamber of Commerce, and letters and telegrams reached me to-day from such men as Howard French and others, distinguished business men of the city of Philadelphia, everyone asking me to do my utmost to have this bill reconsidered and passed. It is true there are some people against this bill, it is true there are those in this Senate who differ on many questions, but this is a matter I hope you gentlemen of the Senate will give your vote for and let us say at least Pennsylvania has redeemed us all.

And the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make reports from Committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STITES, from the Committee on Education, reported nomination by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, of J. George Becht, of Clarion, Clarion County, to be Superintendent of Public Instruction for a term of four (4) years ,to compute from date of confirmation; accompanied by the following report:

Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, June 12, 1923.

To the Senate of Pennsylvania.

The Committee on Education, to whom was referred the nomination by the Governor of J. George Becht, of Clarion, Clarion County, to be Superintendent of Public Instruction for a term of four (4) years, to compute from date of confirmation, respectfully reports:—

That after conference with the nominee, J. George Becht, and upon consideration of such nomination, the Committee recommends the confirmation of said J. George Becht, as Superintendent of Public Instruction for a term of four years, to compute from date of confirmation. Respectfully submitted, C. W. Barr, Chairman.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move the adoption of the report of the Committee on Education.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I am certainly surprised at a report of that kind. I attended this meeting of the Committee on Education and made the motion on which the action of the Committee was adopted. I propose to vote for this confirmation, but do not like to see a report sent in which is so diametrically opposite from what the Committee decided that I cannot sit passively in my seat and let that go by. The question was raised in the Committee whether the Committee would recommend confirmation and it was decided not to make any recommendation and the motion was simply that the Committee report the nomination to the Senate for action. I am not doing this because I want to oppose the confirmation but I am not going to sit by and let a report from a Committee come in which is so opposite to what the action of the Committee was.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Chair hear objection to the Senate resolving itself into Executive Session?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I object unless the report is modified to comport with the action of the committee.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I was not present at the meeting of the Committee on Education. At the request of Senator Barr I prepared the report, which was put in typewritten form. I understood that that was the action of the Committee on Education. It appears that I understand Senator Barr's statement and if so, I apologize to him and to the members of the Senate because I had no thought of improperly interpreting the action of the Committee and I myself was not present. If that report is in any respect erroneous I ask the permission of the Senate to have the report withdrawn and the facts put in the exact shape they were when the Committee met.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I now move that Rule 38, which requires nominations reported from committee to lie over one day, be dispensed with and that the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive session for the purpose of acting on the nomination.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I object unless the report is presented as it was adopted by the Committee.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, that the report has been withdrawn.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, then there is no report before the Senate?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Lehigh that only the nomination is before the Seante.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, if the report has been withdrawn then. as I understand, there is no report at all from the Committee.

The PRESIDENT. For the benefit of the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, and the other members of the Senate, my attention has been called to the fact that accompaning the report of the committee was the communication from the Governor submitting the nomination, with a favorable indorsement. Now the only thing that has been withdrawn, as the Chair understands, is the report of the Committee, but the nomination by the Governor is now before the Senate for its action, and the question is whether there is any objection to the Senate resolving itself into Executive Session for the purpose of considering the nomination. Does the Chair hear objection?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I have no objection. I do not want to delay this matter. The action of the committee was, and I made the motion in the committee, that the committee report the nomination back to the Senate for action, and with that understanding I withdraw the objection.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears no objection.

A motion was made by Mr. STITES,

That the Senate do advise and consent to said nominations.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I have consistently voted for every nomination that has been sent to this body by the present Governor of the Commonwealth, and if this nomination were for an office under the control of the Executive Department of the Commonwealth I should not raise my voice in opposition, but I regard the educational program of the State of Pennsylvania as the most important thing that confronts the State of Pennsylvania and this Senate.

It concerns every home in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, it concerns every man, woman and child in the Commonwealth. The framers of the Constitution saw fit to except the Superintendent of Public Instruction as the only constitutional office under control of the Executive in making appointments. The proponents of the Governor, not the opponents, have raised very serious question regarding the wisdom of the removal of the former Superintendent of Public Instruction in an effort to retain him under conditions that no red-blooded man could afford to subscribe to. I want to say, in fairness to the appointee, that before the Committee on Education he emphatically denied having entered into any deal with the Governor whatever. But I read from the Philadelphia Public Ledger of Saturday last, in which the Governor is quoted as having said "I have asked Dr. J. George Becht to continue to perform the duties of Superintendent of Public Instruction until such time as my investigation is completed, in order that the duties may be performed without any legal or other question. I am sending his nomination to the Senate for confirmation this coming week."

I read from the same paper of the same date the following: "Is it your view the Council of Education would have equal authority with you in respect to tenure of office?" "Yes", was the Governor's reply. Dr. Becht, who has been serving as Superintendent ad interim since Dr. Finegan's term expired, June 1, said to-day he had accepted the Governor's offer of appointment of Superintendent. "I told Governor Pinchot", he said, "I would accept the proposition as made by him."

I cannot help but feel that it is a mistake and a very great mistake to drag the high office of Superintendent of Public Instruction into politics. I am somewhat practical in politics myself, and do not deny it, but I have always held that the schools and the roads should be kept out of politics. I believe that as firmly now as I have ever at any time in my life.

I read further from the same paper, which has always been the strongest proponent and advocate of Governor Pinchot and his policies from an editorial in the same paper, the Philadelphia Public Ledger of Sunday last.

THE DISMISSAL OF FINEGAN.

Pennsylvania's loss in the dismissal of Dr. Fiegan as Superintendent of Public Instruction—for the circumstances attending his severance from the State's service amount to a dismissal by the Governor—will be the gain of some other Commonwealth or educational institution. For Dr. Finegan leaves with a prestige greatly enhanced not only by his resolute refusal to accept a reappointment on terms that violate the plain intent of the Constitution but by the extraordinary and spontaneous manifestation of confidence and regard from educators and from the progressive citizenship of this and other States that was inspired by the prospect of a break in his relations with the public school system of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Finegan emerges from the conflict of wills with Governor Pinchot with a heightened reputation for firm adherence to the best ideals of professional honor and propriety. It was unthinkable that he would have been willing to make his continued tenure contingent upon a bargain with Governor Pinchot which he regarded as unlawful, or that his opinions and judgment upon the technical problems of education, and after his long experience, should be subordinated to the views of a Governor without any experience whatever in public school work and making no pretense of personal knowledge of the subject. And in this connection it will not escape attention that the acceptance of the vacant position of the terms that were offered to and rejected by Dr. Finegan will be taken as a measure of the character and fitness of any one selected by Governor Pinchot for Superintendent of Public Instruction pending the personal study which he proposes to make. For no temporary appointment to this office can be made without some such prior bargain with an incumbent willing to subject his tenure to the Governor's will at some future time.

It is profoundly disturbing to the friends of progressive education to find Governor Pinchot amenable in this matter to the counsels of a reactionary element notoriously opposed to the policies which have lifted the State from its low position in education and to that section of the population which was most active in its opposition to his candidacy. The Governor's refusal to listen to his own educational advisers and to the other disinterested experts whose verdict on the school policies and administration has been unanimously favorable is inexplicable on any other theory than that the separation of Dr. Finegan from the service of the State was pre-determined. Governor Pinchot could far better have afforded to reach by direct means the result he desired than by a proposal which sets a dangerous precedent and subjects the public schools to the changing currents of executive will or of political pressure or expediency.

By the removal of the strong guiding hand of the man under whose direction the great educational advance of the last four years has been effected, the school system of the State is plunged into confusion and uncertainty. Where confidence and enthusiasm existed there will be anxiety and doubt. Under the existing conditions, it is extremely uncertain where the Governor can find a man big enough to take the job; meanwhile the system must get along as best it may with a second-rate substitute who would not have been thought of as a successor to Dr. Finegan by any one conversant with educational progress or sincerely desirous that the standard of service developed during Dr. Finegan's incumbency shall be maintained and raised still higher.

The Governor's course in this whole matter is a great disappointment, the first conspicuous mistake of his Administration. At a moment when he is triumphant over the enemies of good government in the legislature, it is a great pity that he has permitted the enemies of true progressive education to mislead him into the adoption of a course which promises ill for the prestige of the State and for the well-being of its public school system."

Again I do not make the charge, but the North American of yesterday makes the charge in an editorial, in which it says that "Dr. J. George Becht, first Deputy Superintendent, is to succeed Dr. Finegan, placing his resignation in the hands of the Governor in accordance with the proposition made to his predecessor".

Now if these charges are not true then it seems to me that the Governor of this great State, in addition to Dr. Becht, should come out and deny them in a most emphatic way it is possible to deny them. I am proud of the progress that has been made in the Pennsylvania school system during the past four years. I believe that the system inaugurated by Dr. Finegan and put into legislative form by the Edmond's bill is the best educational system that has ever been promulgated anywhere in the United States, and as evidence of that, the District of Columbia, whose schools are under the jurisdiction of the National Congress, after studying all the school systems of the United States, have adopted the system promulgated by Dr. Finegan in the schools of Pennsylvania.

I have no quarrel with the Governor. I believe that the Governor should have a right to appoint whom he pleases to these offices that are under executive control, but I believe that in matters of this kind his Educational Council and his Committee which he appointed soon after his nomination for this high and exalted office, should have been listened to. Those Committees gave to Dr. Finegan an absolutely clean bill of health and gave to his department a clean bill of health. Again, I have been appealed to from many quarters to give my support to Dr. Finegan and those appeals have almost unanimously come from the women of the district that I represent. I understand that the Non-Partisan League of Women Voters of the State of Pennsylvania have indorsed Dr. Finegan and his policies, and I know that the women belonging to that organization in the county which I represent have appealed to me to give to Dr. Finegan and his program such support as I possess and it is carrying out what I feel to be an absolute duty in voting against the confirmation of the nomination sent to the Senate by Governor Pinchot. I have not appealed to any member of this Senate to do likewise. I have not asked a man in this Senate to vote as I do. I am voting as a clear matter of conscience and doing justice to one to whom I believe justice should be done in raising my voice in behalf of Dr. Finegan and his policy and every other man in this Senate must act upon his own conscience and his own impulses in this matter. That is the reason my vote shall be cast against the confirmation of this candidate.

Mr. WEAVER. Mr. President, as a humble lawyer I have always tried to confine myself to the issue. There is but one issue in this case, namely, the confirmation of Dr. J. George Becht. As to these editorials that have been read from newspapers by the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, I must say I am somewhat surprised at him, because I have heard him complain bitterly about the injustice of newspaper articles and editorials. If we are to be controlled by things of that kind the whitest of wings may be furnished to the most undeserving to fly to heaven and the heaviest and blackest loads may be put upon the most deserving fellow to take him down to perdition, if those are to be the tests. I do not think that ought to be done and there is only one question, as I have said, the confirmation of Dr. J. George Becht and his fitness. I am not arguing now the question of Dr. Finegan. He is not the applicant. He has not been nominated and we could not vote for him if we wanted to and therefore the question of Dr. Finegan's incumbency in the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction is not at issue at all. As I say, there is only one question and that is the fitness of Dr. J. George Becht, and as a long time friend of his and as a person who knows something about the schools of Pennsylvania,—I went to school a great many years after people usually quit school,—and I was a school teacher and school man myself, and after that for quite a number of years I was a school attorney, and I have personal knowledge of Dr. J. George Becht, casting no reflection upon Dr. Finegan, because I believe him to have been eminently qualified, but I am equally well satisfied that Dr. Becht is fit for the position for which he has been nominated. His appearance before the committee this afternoon was all in his favor. It was that of an open gentleman, a man who answered the questions that were put to him unequivocably and without evasion whatever and if there is the least scintilla of doubt in the mind of any gentleman who heard him answer those questions this afternoon it is in the mind of a person who either has some preconceptions against Dr. Becht and determined not to believe in him, or else he is not influenced by the clearest and plainest statements. For that reason I intend to vote for the confirmation of Dr. Becht.

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I have had occasion to differ with Governor Pinchot on several occasions this session. I mightsay to the gentlemen of this Senate that I too, along with many of the citizens of this Commonwealth, having been amazed and disgusted at the school system of Pennsylvania having been made a political football. As one interested in the welfare of the schools I have felt very great grief at this having been done for the first time within my recollection, and, unlike many other people of the State and unlike many other members of this body, I have placed the responsibility for that condition of affairs upon the shoulders of our Governor. Everything that has happened to sink our educational department into the mire of politics since the beginning of this session falls solely upon his shoulders, and in my opinion, gentlemen, culminated in an attempted evasion of the Constitution and in the gratuitous insult to Dr. Finegan within the last few weeks. When I learned of what had taken place and of Dr. Becht's nomination to the vacancy and read in these newspapers that have been quoted what they claimed the situation to be, I said to the Chairman of the Committee on Education and to many of you in the Senate that if those were the facts I would vote against Dr. Becht's confirmation, because I thought that anybody that would be a party to such an attempted evasion of the plain constitutional mandates was not qualified to take his oath of office, and if such attempt at evasion took place after the oath of office had been taken he was guilty of a breach of the oath which he took after he assumed the office, and I say it again, no difference to whom it might apply. But, I wanted to be fair to Dr. Becht. I did not want to prejudge him. In order that I might be fair to him I attended the meeting this afternoon of the Committee on Education, at which he appeared, and was assured by him with words from his own mouth that there were no strings to his appointment, that the newspaper reports which credited him with having made this infamous bargain were untrue, that he had no understanding, either express or implied, that he would resign or step out of his position other than as required by the Constitution, or by impeachment, and, therefore, in order to be fair to Dr. Becht, in order that I may cast no aspersions upon him, although I want it to be understood that I do pass my condemnation upon what preceded, in order to be fair to him and in order that the schools of our State, in which we are all interested, may not suffer further harm, I propose to vote for Dr. Becht's confirmation, and I wish this explanation of my attitude to go upon the record, in view of my previous emphatic declarations in condemnation of the negotiations between Dr. Finegan and the Governor.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Craig.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Craig, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. PRESIDENT, with pleasure.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, there is one matter which I have been interested in and that has been the newspaper discussions, and in reference to the constitutionality of this appointment and the appointment made for the period of four years to be confirmed by the Senate of Pennsylvania. The point I wish to ask, and I wish to ask the question pointedly, is, did Dr. Becht deny these different newspaper stories and editorials that have been published that he has his resignation in the hands of the Governor?

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I may say in reply to the Senator from Allegheny, that I expressly asked Dr. Becht, in the plainest language that I could use, if these newspaper stories were true, and he said they were not.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I desire to ask if the question was asked whether there was any understanding with reference to the question of removal, if the Governor saw fit to make a change, or remove him?

Mr. CRAIG. Mr. President, I pride myself on some slight skill in cross-examining, and I asked the Doctor if there had been any understanding, either express or implied, oral or written, or any gentlemen's agreement, that he would be relieved from his office in any other manner than that contemplated by the provisions of the Constitution, and re said no.

Mr. CHRISTLEY. Mr. President, I desire to say in reference to this matter that I heartily concur with what the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Weaver, has said, that there has been some talk on this subject which is, as I see it, outside of the question. The question before this Senate is the question of the confirmation of the appointment of Dr. Becht, his fitness, and only questions incident to and related to this matter should be discussed at this time. There is no doubt but that when Governor Pinchot was elected Governor of this state he was confronted with certain conditions with reference to the public school system of the state. He found the school system of the state of Pennsylvania divided into two camps, practically, nearly equally divided, and both very bitter. One of those camps, as I call them, contended that Dr. Finnegan should be crowned the prince of educators, and the greatest educator that the world has seen, and the other camp contending that he ought to go back to New York on the next train. Now those are the facts. There is no question about that, those are the facts, and I want to say in defence of the Governor that, confronted with them, and place yourself in his position, as a business man, and wanting to do the best for the grandest institution that we have in our state, what would you do, or what ought to have been done under those circumstances. You know and I know that in order to get efficiency we have got to have cooperation, and with the people of the State of Pennsylvania so divided, cooperation, teamwork, and coordination is absolutely unthinkable. and unattainable. That being true he asked for time to consider this proposition and it was given, and Dr. Finnegan said "I have given you time enough, either name me for four years or I will quit." Now this is the condition under which Dr. Becht has been appointed. One of those camps contended that Dr. Finegan traveled too fast and went too far in the educational system of Pennsylvania. The rural districts of the state contend and contended that he had relegated local self-government in those schools, and that was one of the things they were cross about. Another one, that he had fixed the purse-strings of evrything in Harrisburg and centralized power here.

Now these are the things that they contended. Dr. Becht was under the old school and served under Dr. Schaeffer for five or seven years and knew something about that system that the people of the State of Pennsylvania, a great many of them, one school of them, thought was right. He has also served for four years with Dr. Finnegan. My point is that having so served under each school or system he ought to know and ought to be advised between the two. And I for one have found that right frequently lies between two extremes. It seems to me that Dr. Becht is properly qualified to fill this position at this time and cement and weld together both schools and get cooperation, which the public school system of Pennsylvania so much needs, and ought to have,—the support of every citizen of the State of Pennsylvania. The confirmation of Dr. Becht at this time will be a distinct benefit to the school system of Pensylvania and I shall vote for his confirmation.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Butler, Mr. Christley.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Butler, Mr. Christley, permit himself to be interorgated?

Mr. CHRISTLEY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Butler, Mr. Christley, whether or not the question of the schools he talks about was not fought out at the election last fall, one side of the question represented by the Democratic candidate for Governor, who was contending against centralization, and the other by the Republican candidate?

Mr. CHRISTLEY. Mr. President, I do not know. I have heard it discussed in the campaign, but I did not know that Dr. Finnegan or Dr. Becht was in that campaign.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Butler, Mr. Christley, who is somewhat interested in politics, whether he does not know that the Democratic candidate, Mr. McSparran, practically made his whole campaign on the educational program in Pennsylvania?

Mr. CHRISTLEY. Mr. President, I think he did.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO APPOINTMENT OF COMMITTEE TO STUDY AND MAKE REPORT OF ALL EXISTING COMPULSORY LIABILITY INSURANCE FOR MOTOR VEHICLES, &C.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MANSFIELD offered the following resolution, which was twice read considered and agreed to.

In the Senate, June 12, 1923.

Whereas, Many residents of this Commonwealth have been injured in person or in property by accidents caused by the unlawful, reckless or negligent operation of motor vehicles, by others, and

Whereas, It frequently happens that persons so injured or their legal representatives have been unable to recover due compensation for such injury by reason of the financial irresponsibility of the drivers of said motor vehicles, or the persons liable for their acts, and

Whereas, The interest of the citizens of the Commonwealth can only be protected and due compensation for injuries caused can only be properly guaranteed to them by a system requiring the taking out of adequate liability insurance by the owner of each motor vehicle registered and operated within the Commonwealth, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That a Legislative Committee, consisting of two Senators, to be appointed by the President Pro tempore of the Senate, three members of the House of Representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Attorney General, and one representative of the State Highway Department, and one representative of the Workmen's Compensation Insurance Board, to be appointed by the Governor, is hereby constituted and authorized to make a complete study and investigation of all existing systems of compulsory liability insurance for motor vehicles and motor vehicle owners or drivers, and of the necessity or advisability of the adoption of any such system or any other system of liability insurance by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and to report their findings, together with suggested legislation, including drafts thereof, to the Session of the General Assembly to be held in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, and be further

Resolved, That the Members of the said Commission shall receive no compensation for their services, but shall be reimbursed for any expenses actually and necessarily incurred by them in the performance of their duties, and to provide for such expenses, and items not to exceed one thousand dollars, shall be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL SIGNED.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bill had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 763, entitled:

An Act relating to the preparation of a new Constitution of the Commonwealth by a convention and its adoption or rejection by the people; and making an appropriation.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor David J. Davis) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT HOUSE BILL No. 936.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1097, (House Bill No. 936), entitled:

An Act for the repression of prostitution and assignation making it unlawful to solicit aid or permit prostitution or to use or permit the use of any place for the purpose of prostitution or assignation making certain evidence admissible in proceedings under this act authorizing the commitment of prostitutes to private institutions providing for their parole and prescribing penalties

be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, this is the bill that we had more or less contention about earlier in the day about being sent back to Committee. I hope that this motion will be voted down and the bill be kept on the calendar and take its regular course, either pass it or defeat it in the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division being called for, 18 Senators voted "aye" and 18 "nay" whereupon, the question was determined in the negative.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT HOUSE BILL No. 710.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1551 (House Bill No. 710), entitled:

An Act to provide for the selection and purchase of a tract of land and the erection thereon of buildings for an Eastern State Penitentiary making an appropriation therefor and directing the sale of the site now occupied by the State Penitentiary and the buildings and materials thereon

be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. QUIGLEY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, this is the Eastern Penitentiary bill, discussed at length today. I think the sentiment of this Senate was decidedly in favor of meeting the emergency situation that has arisen in the City of Philadelphia, at the eastern section of the state, regarding the Eastern Penitentiary. That matter is receiving the consideration of some of the most eminent jurists in the eastern section of the state and many of the most public spirited and most enlightened of our citizens. It would be a decided step backward to have anything happen to this bill that would prevent its passage in this Senate, and I ask that this motion be defeated.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, JUNE 12, 1923.

The House met at 11:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cox, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father, reverently would we bow our heads this morning as we approach Thee, invoking Thy divine blessing upon us. Help us always to maintain a noble candor and wait, when needful, for a gentler spirit and a better sense of truth. Help us to restrain our dislikes and soften our resentment toward others by consideration of our own shortcomings. May we always hold sound opinions and never allow insane things to topple us into the gulf of unbelief, and may we never act as though we were infallible, but always with a deep sense of our dependence upon Thee. We ask it in the name of Christ. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on motion of Mr. Whitehouse, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. DAVID FOWLER, from the Committee on Labor and Industry, reported as committed, House Bill No. 1772, (Senate Bill No. 1073), entitled:

An Act to amend section three hundred and one and sections three hundred and six and three hundred and seven as amended of an act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and thirty-six), entitled "An Act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder."

Mr. DAVID FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, in accordance with the resolution passed on June 7th, that all bills be read for the first time when reported, I ask that it be read for the first time.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I object to the bills being read for the first time, and Mr. Speaker, in support of my objection, I wish to cite the Constitutional provisions. On page 358, Article III, Sections 2 and 4. Section 2 provides that no bill shall be considered unless referred to a committee, returned therefrom and printed for the use of the members. Section 4 provides every bill shall be read at length on three seperate days.

Mr. DAVID FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Elk states that the bill must be printed. I want to say the bill has been printed, and no changes have been made in the bill since passed by the Senate. I understand if the bill had been amended his objection would be well taken, but due to the fact that the bill has not been amended in committee and remains the same as when passed by a tremendous vote in the Senate, I feel it is in line with the resolution passed on June 7th and is entitled to be read for the first time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair calls the attention of the House to Rule 35, which provides that all bills and joint resolutions reported affirmatively shall be placed upon the files and calendar in their order and placed upon the desks of the members by the Sergeant-at-Arms. Before this bill can be read for the first time, it will be necessary to suspend that rule for the reason that the resolution offered last Thursday is not to suspend the rule.

RULE SUSPENDED.

Mr. DAVID FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that Rule 35 be suspended for the specific purpose of having Senate Bill No. 1073, file folio 5583, read for the first time today.

Mr. KOHLER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call the attention of the Speaker and the members of the House to the Constitutional provisions and to state that no rule of the House can abrogate the provisions of the Constitution. Now, then, what does the Constitution say in this instance? It is very plain, it says more than the bill shall be printed. It says the bill shall be printed for the use of the members of this House. I want the matter clear on this important matter. I want the record so clear that if the action contemplated here this morning is carried to a successful conclusion, a contest can be inaugurated against the position of this bill, and I ask the Speaker to rule on the Constitutional provision that a bill must be printed and on the files for the use of the members.

Mr. DAVID FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, last night Senate Bill No. 1377 was asked to be read for the first time and the Chair sustained it under the rules. The gentleman from Elk stated here last night that he wanted to be fair. Now, if that was fair last night, it was fair today. This is a very important bill as he said, it has been threshed out thoroughly in the Senate for months and months, has been in the committee and practically every member of this House is familiar with the terms of this proposed bill. I think in all fairness, due to the fact that unless action is taken upon the bill today, it practically defeats the bill, I wish to say to you I feel, in all fairness to the workers of this State that this bill should be read for the first time today, if we are to be fair. The bill is a compensation bill which merely amends the bill from $12.00 per week now to $15.00, and in many and many of the States it is as high as $20.00 per week. It reduces the period from ten days to seven, and in many states we have it as low as three days, the waiting period. I want to say to you in all fairness that I think this bill should receive fair consideration here today. We are not asking for much, it has been practically agreed to, and the Senate passed this bill, I understand 33 to 10 last night.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the bill has been printed and upon the files of the members, of the Senate files of the members, the provisions of the Constitution have been complied with.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to the point of order that this bill is not upon the files of the members of the House. I wish to further state that there is no record on the Journal of this House that will show that this bill is before the House. You will find that the Journal of this House shows that this bill has just now been reported from the committee, and nothing on the Journal of this House will show that this bill is before this House other than as a report from committee.

The SPEAKER. Notwithstanding the objection, the Chair is of the opinion that the bill is actually upon the files of the House for the use of the members as provided by the Constitution, the same as any other bill.

Mr. FLYNN. May I ask the Chair to rule how this bill appears on the Journal at the present moment when a motion is before the House to read it for the first time?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is aware of no Constitutional provisions providing for what the Journal may show. It does provide in explicit terms that it shall be upon the files of the members.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I only want to have the record very clear in this case. I don't wish to frame any disagreeable issue here so far as the ruling of the Chair is concerned, but I do wish to have the record of this House clear as to this transaction, and I ask to have noted on the Journal my objections and the ruling of the Chair. Will that be done?

The SPEAKER. The Chair presumes that the Journal shows that the bill was reported from committee, and the remarks of the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn, will be spread upon the Journal.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" appeared to have it, whereupon the yeas and nays were required by Mr. Heffernan and Mr. David Fowler, and were as follows:

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO THE PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM.

Mr. SCHLEITER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution at this time. Since the beginning of the session I have heard upon the floor of this House more or less favorable comment upon what is commonly known as the "Finegan system." Back home there is a great deal of dissatisfaction, all of which I believe due to the fact that the people are not enlightened as to the provisions of the Edmonds Bill, and as stated, what is otherwise known as the "Finegan plan" or "system". The school teachers are continually complaining on account of the extra work that they are compelled to do in making up reports, and some of them claim that are kept up until midnight for that purpose, and that necessarily must detract from the time that should be given to the scholars in schools. Mr. Speaker, I have no desire to unjustly criticize this act. It hasn't had enough time in order that its merits or demerits may be tested, but where there is so much dissatisfaction, it seems to me there should be some way in which the people of the State of Pennsylvania who, after all, must pay the taxes, that they should be enlightened as to the provisions of this bill and also as to the cost of administration, not alone here in the department on the Hill but also as it affects the counties and municipalities and townships and every school district. I have gone to some little trouble, Mr. Speaker, to get the information which I have for the people of Pennsylvania—

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that there is nothing before this House for discussion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is compelled to rule that there is nothing before the House.

Mr. SCHLEITER. Mr. Speaker, I intended offering a resolution. We are at the present time under resolutions, they are before the House, and I wanted to state the object. I want to get this matter before the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that there being nothing before the House, debate is not in order, and the point of order raised by the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Harer, is well taken.

Mr. SCHLEITER. Then, Mr. Speaker, I would like to present this resolution.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

RESOLUTION

In the House of Representatives, June 11, 1923.

Whereas, It appears that the Department of Public Instruction as organized under the "Finegan System," employed during the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-two, one hundred and fifty-nine persons at annual salaries ranging from nine hundred to twelve thousand dollars, involving an annual expense of $429,850; and

Whereas, This amount is greatly in excess of the cost of the department prior to the inauguration of the "Finegan System;" therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That there is hereby created a legislative investigating committee, composed of two Senators to be appointed by the President pro tempore of the Senate, and three Members to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to investigate fully the operation of the Department of Public Instruction, and the educational system under the "Finegan System."

Resolved, That the Committee shall have power to subpoena witnesses and require them to appear and testify.

Resolved, That the Committee shall make a report of its findings to the General Assembly of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, and in said report shall recommend such changes, if any, which it deems advisable.

Resolved, That an item shall be inserted in the General Appropriation Bill to pay the expenses of the Committee.

The SPEAKER. The resolution lies over for printing under the rules.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. SCHLEITER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to address the House on a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SCHLEITER. Mr. Speaker, in regard to the resolution just offered—

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives, as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1923.

Whereas, the University of Pennsylvania has recently installed at Philadelphia a radio broad-casting station and is now engaged in broad-casting educational lectures, and

Whereas, By reason thereof, countless persons through the Commonwealth and in every part of the nation will be inestimably benefited; opportunity to acquire knowledge will be opened to many who have been denied this priceless privilege, and the radio public will, without cost and at pleasure, be able to "tune in" on lectures of real educational value and

Whereas, the General Assembly of Pennsylvania considered the project a most praiseworthy and commendable endeavor which will assist in the education and enlightenment of the people of the Commonwealth, therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the congratulations of the General Assembly be extended to the Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania upon the wisdom of the policy which has resulted in this new venture in public instruction and the great stride they have taken in making higher education more accessible to the people of the Commonwealth and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to trustees of the said University of Pennsylvania.

SENATE MESSAGE.

SENATE ADOPTS CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT ON HOUSE BILL No. 262.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has adopted the report of the Committee of Conference on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses on House Bill, numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 262.

An Act to amend part of section one of the act approved the tenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and fifty-five) entitled "An Act to fix the number of Representatives in the General Assembly of the State and to apportion the State into representative districts as provided by the Constitution"

SENATE MESSAGE.

SENATE ADOPTS CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT ON HOUSE BILL No. 1337.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has adopted the report of the Committee of Conference on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses on House Bill, numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 1337.

An Act providing a method for deciding a tie vote in borough councils

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE

Mr. MATHAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1480 (Senate Bill No. 868), file folio 2157, entitled:

An Act authorizing poor directors of county poor districts to provide for the payment for the preparation of plans and specifications heretofore made for public buildings for such poor districts where no legal or valid contract was entered into as required by law was defeated on third reading and final passage, be reconsidered.

Mr. VAN ALEN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I do not wish to detain this House any longer than I absolutely have to. This bill was defeated in a light House, I think, under some misapprehension on the part of the House. The facts, as they relate to this bill, only affect York County, and if the bill passes, it gives an opportunity to York County to do honor to itself. As I explained on last Thursday, we have had a complication with our almshouse affairs down there for a great many years. We have had an old, antiquated almshouse that was condemned by three separate departments of the State, and the Board of Poor Directors were liable to removal unless they erected a new almshouse. In addition to the condemnation by the three departments of the State, the fire marshal, the factory inspector and the Board of Public Charities, three grand juries of York County, condemned the almshouse, making it imperative that a new almshouse be built. In pursuance of these orders, the Board of Poor Directors of York County, by resolution, employed an architect to make plans and specifications for a new almshouse. In pursuance of that authority and on the authority, as I am informed, by the architect who sits here, on the autority of the Attorney General, the architect went ahead and prepared the plan and the plans were accepted, but after that complications arose. There were three separate petitions presented to the court, asking that the money be turned over to the poor directors for the construction of this almshouse, and finally the court, in 1917, three years later, said that could not be done, because the petition did not show that there was enough money in the poor funds to build this almshouse, and the matter remained in this state until a bill was introduced in 1917 that enabled the county commissioners and the poor directors to proceed with the construction of the almshouse. Then the war came along and material was so high that they decided to postpone the matter, and the question has been postponed until this day, but in the meantime the architect, who had been legally employed has not been paid for his work. I have here a photograph of the plans of the architect, showing the character of it. I have almost oceans of correspondence that passed between our poor board and the architect and the departments of the State, directing that this thing be done. I have here a newspaper clipping from a Democratic newspaper and a similar one from a Republican paper, speaking of these conditions.

"The amendment which Senator Wasbers proposes to offer to the almshouse building bill ought to meet with no objection from any source. It is desirable that the court supervise the expenditures of moneys to be used in providing a new almshouse, particularly in view of the fact that for so long a time it has had in its hands moneys which will be applied to the expense.

"There is no reflection intended upon the poor directors or those who may be directors when the building is done, but under all the circumstances, in order to avoid any suspicion or gossip, it is well that the court have supervision of all expenditures.

"The amendment probably will be accepted, since Mr. Spangler who introduced the bill, has indicated that he will not oppose it."

"York County surely does need a new almshouse. There can be no doubt of that. The reports of the various grand juries who have inspected present buildings in the past several years are proof enough of that fact. Anything which will hasten the building of a new almshouse and at the same time provide for the interests of the people of the county, whose money will have to build it, ought to be agreed to rather than put off the building".

All of the newspapers came out for it. I have here a sheaf of clippings that were collected by the Board of Public Charities of the State on the subject of our almshouse, which are open to inspection. I think this matter has given the State about as much trouble as any single factor of this kind ever before the various departments of our state government. Now, as I said a moment ago, it was discovered after all this pressure was brought to bear, after this architect, who sits right here, was employed on this project, by reason of a legal technicality the man was not paid although the man himself has spent thousands of dollars on this project and has given his life's work, the end of it, in behalf of this project. This bill does not place an obligation upon any county. It merely permits the poor directors of the county of York to say, if they so see fit to say, that this man is entitled, and he certainly is entitled, to some compensation for the work he has done. He is now an old man, he has nothing, practically, to support him except this very proposition. He is the original architect who built the high school and other public buildings in York County, and is one of the deans of the architects in the county of York. I further say that this bill is merely a validating act, merely for the purpose of allowing the county of York to show good faith in recognizing a moral obligation which it unquestionably owes, and for that reason, members of the House, I ask you to vote in favor this bill.

Mr. FLINCHBAUGH. Mr. Speaker, this is the bill that was defeated on Thursday last, at which time I saw proper to voice my objections to this bill, and I have not changed my mind to this date. I did not hear all my colleague, Mr. Spangler, said, but I understood him to say that this was a legal contract. I submit, if it is a legal contract, it would not be necessary to introduce this bill in this House, but it is neither a legal contract nor a valid one. A valid contract is such a contract as is signed and binding. I want to submit that this word "valid" has a wide meaning. It may open the door in future time in any of the counties of this State to permit a public official to enter into a sort of a contract and then try to collect the money from the taxpayers of the various counties of the State. It is nine years since these plans were drawn and this almshouse in question today has not been built up to this time. The almshouse in the county of York is a much abused building. The architect of it is really grand ,and while it is capable of supporting over three hundred inmates, there are only one hundred twenty-six inmates in the almshouse at this time. It is true that the fire marshal of the State and the factory inspector of the State condemned it as being unsafe so far as the third story is concerned, but the poor directors of the county of York have discontinued housing inmates on the third story. Members of the House, you should not vote to support this bill, because it is not a moral obligation on the part of the people of York. If there is anyone who should stand this bill, it is the poor directors who were in office at this time and entered into this contract illegally. The bill provides, as I understand it, that before the almshouse may be built, it is necessary that the poor directors, the county commissioners and the judges of the common pleas court to agree that the poor directors entered into this with sufficient authority. If you enter into a contract which is not valid and legal, you have to suffer the consequences. When you buy a piece of real estate, it is your duty to see that this real estate is free of encumbrances, and I suggest that in the same manner it was the duty of this architect in question to have legal counsel to see that the poor directors had proper authority to build this almshouse before they went ahead and entered into this contract. Furthermore, if you give this power to poor directors, as contained in this bill, you open the way to litigation, because the county controller told me no later than yesterday that under no circumstances, would he approve this bill as he considers it illegal and not valid and not a moral obligation on the people of York County. I therefore ask you to vote "No" on this motion.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" appeared to have it,

Whereupon, a division was called for, and 74 members having voted in the affirmative and 33 in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker, this bill is nine years old, if we are to go by the record here, and if we are going back nine years to pay illegal bills, bills that been contracted in an illegal manner, I believe that we are creating a dangerous precedent. It seems to me that if this bill was legal at the time when it was contracted, there are remedies at law under which it could be collected. The question I want to leave with you is this: Is this House going to open the door and say we are going back nine years for bills that already have got gray beards to them, resurrecting them and legalizing them? If we do that, we are opening the door for a dangerous precedent, because it will mean that hereafter anybody in the State of Pennsylvania can go to work and draw illegal plans, and then simply come back here into the Legislature of Pennsylvania and ask to have them validated. I ask you to consider this carefully before you cast your vote on this bill. I ask you to vote "no" on this bill and say to the people of Pennsylvania that you will not stand for such a dangerous precedent.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I was one of those members who voted against this bill the other night when it was on our calendar. It was only after a great deal of argument by the members that I could come to that conclusion. After the bill was defeated I made it a point to make a personal investigation and to interrogate some of those who knew something about the conditions, and I have personally come to the conclusion that my vote was not a fair vote, and I therefore want to vote today for this bill upon our reconsideration. If the work was done nine years ago, it isn't too late to right that wrong. Those of you who have dealt with the questions of contracts must know that sometimes the people to that contract are improperly advised. You know that at this session of the Legislature we have passed half a dozen enabling acts to correct conditions in the various poor districts, school districts and others throughout the State. If something was done here that ought to be paid for, I think we ought to pass the bill to do it. Down in York County they have a special act, they are now going under the old special act of 1804. Here is a man who is hired to do a job. He is caught between the upper and nether mill stone. Now, what does this bill propose to do? It proposes to pay him. Now, it proposes to give the present holders of office, elected by the people of York County of both parties, a chance to say whether or not they will pay him. This is a validating act only in that it enables them to say whether they will pay. The same board that contracted the bill is not now in office. There is an entirely new group of men elected by the people, and they also represent the citizens of the county, and if they want to pay this bill, then this bill gives them the opportunity so to do, and I take great pleasure in voting for this bill on reconsideration.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. McVICAR.

The House resumed the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1505 (Senate Bill No. 763), entitled

An Act relating to the preparation of a new Constitution of the Commonwealth by a convention and its adoption or rejection by the people

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 29, by striking out the words "for at least four years"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 15, by striking out the words "except that"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, lines 16 and 17, by striking out all of said lines

Amend Sec. 7. page 5, lines 25, 26, 27 and 28, by striking out all of said lines after the words "duly elected" in line 25.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there objection?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now resolve itself into a committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendments to House Bill No. 1505 (Senate Bill No. 763), file folio 4271, as follows:

Amend section 3, page 2, line 29, by striking out the words "for at least four years".

Amend section 4, page 3, line 15, by striking out the words "except that".

Amend section 4, page 3, lines 16 and 17, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend section 7, page 5, lines 25, 26, 27, and 28, by striking out all of said lines after the words "duly elected" in line 25.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the bill before us is what is known as the constitutional convention bill. When this bill was on second reading my colleagues from Philadelphia, Messrs. Sowers and Marcus, offered a large number of amendments. Two of the amendments were not objectionable and were adopted. The others were defeated by this House. However, they failed to amend the balance of the bill to conform with the amendments which they had made. Hence it is imperative that the bill be amended so as to conform to the amendments which they made, and as a bill can only be amended on third reading by going into a committee of the whole when there is objection to the request for unanimous consent, that is the reason that you are asked to vote aye upon this motion.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is true that a number of amendments were offered, some of which were accepted, and some of which were rejected. Now, I think this House went on record emphatically that the delegate must be an inhabitant of the senatorial district that he is to represent. The amendment offered now is to cross out on page 2 the words, "for at least four years," and that would mean coming back to the same principal that this House rejected, that a delegate need not live in the district from which he is elected, because he may move in a day before. If you cross out the "four years" he would only have to live there four months, say. The House has establshed the principal that the delegate must come from the district where he is elected, in other words he must live in the district. Now if you are going to say in, "four years" or anytime limit, why then you are going to go back to the same principal that we rejected. I understand that this House positively and emphatically voted that the delegate must live in the district from which he is elected, and I hope that this motion does not prevail.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, so far as I am concerned there would have been no objection raised to these amendments going in at this time had the amendments been confined to making this bill confrom so far as sections 3 and 4 are concerned, but the attempt made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McVicar, to strike out the four years on page 2, section 2, seems to me to take out the most vital part of this bill. If a representative is of any service it is because he represents a constitutency and by reason of that fact he is sent into conventions, he is sent into the halls of this House, and there he is expected to represent the views of that constitutency, so if we strike this out we will strike out the very vital principal of representative government.

Mr. WHITEMAN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, doesn't it seem to all of us that the gentlemen from Philadelphia in making this objection overlooks the very vital and very essential fact that in the final analysis the people themselves are the arbiters of this bill and the arbiters of the results following from this bill. The people of the district themselves do not need to elect a man as a delegate to this convention unless they see fit to do so, and it seems to me that we can trust the people to do the right thing in the election of a delegate just as we can trust the people to decide whether or not they really want a constitutional convention. That is all that this bill carries with it. It is up to the people themselves to decide whether they wish to have a constitutional convention.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Whiteman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Whiteman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WHITEMAN. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. Did you not consider the vote on the amendment to strike out the provisions enabling a man to be chosen as a delegate who did not live in the district as an emphatic vote or expression of opinion of this House?

Mr. WHITEMAN. In reply to the gentleman I will say that personally I went along because I didn't think that it was very material, and I wished to advance the interests of the bill which I favor generally. It does seem to me that if the gentleman will read the requirments of that delegate as contained on page 2, that "a district delegate shall be at least twenty-five years of age, a citizen of the United States of America for at least five years, a citizen and inhabitant of the Commonwealth and of the senatorial district from which he or she shall be elected," that, Mr. Speaker, is sufficient, if you please.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, may I further interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. SOWERS. Is there any difference between striking out the four year provision which is now proposed in this amendment and reinstating the old provision, is not the result the same?

Mr. WHITEMAN. No, I don't think that it is exactly the same, because this provision as it would be amended requires that the delegate shall be a resident of the senatorial district.

Mr. SOWERS. Have you any objections to having a provision inserted that the delegate shall live there at least two years?

Mr. WHITEMAN. Personally, I don't. I simply desire to facilitate and expedite the passage of the bill and prevent its being subjected to subterfuge or objection.

Mr. PERRY. Mr. Speaker, I think that the gentleman talking wandered far afield as far as the motion to go into the committee of the whole is concerned. I think at the present time that the time of this House is too precious for this House to go into a committee of the whole causing unlimited debate. We want to get away on Thursday, as quickly as we possibly can, and I think that the House in its wisdom should vote down this motion to go into the committee of the whole.

I, therefore, move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members: Messrs. Haws, Lafferty, Conner, Heyburn, Dilsheimer, Howard Smith, Burns, Fields, Greeby, Philip M. Myers, Heffernan, Baldi, Sautter, Guerin, Keene, Joseph Marcus, McCann, McCaig, Mangan, Soffel, and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question.

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

So the question was determined in the affirmative, and the motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn, to preside over the Committee of the Whole House.

Mr. FLYNN IN THE CHAIR.

After some time, the committee rose and reported back to the House, House Bill No. 1505 (Senate Bill No. 763) with the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 29, by striking out the words "for at least four years"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 15, by striking out the words "except that"

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, lines 16 and 17, by striking out all of said lines

SPEAKER GOODNOUGH IN THE CHAIR.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report of the Committee of the Whole?

It was adopted.

The SPEAKER. The amendments being strikeouts the House will proceed to the consideration on third reading and final passage of this bill.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I object to the House proceeding to the third reading of this bill until the amendments are printed. I call your attention to the provision of the Constitution which says, "Every bill shall be read at length on three different days in each house; all amendments made thereto shall be printed for the use of the members before the final vote is taken on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point or order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, is not well taken, for the reason that all of the amendments are strikeouts.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Marcus.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to my colleague, Mr. Sowers.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, apparently I raised my point of order too soon. I desire to renew it at this time. I desire to call the attention of the Speaker to section 4, article 3, "Legislation", and I protest against the vote being taken on the final passage of this bill because of the amendments made thereto have not been printed for the use of the members. On my file there is no copy of the amendments, and I rise to the point of order that the bill is not properly before the House on final passage.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia is not well taken. The remarks of the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Sowers, will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if there is one thing that the American people have been taught to hold sacred it is that document known as the Constitution of the United States. It is considered the bulwark of our liberties and is revered because it is so substantial as to be able to withstand the twists and turns of public sentiment which is often miscalled public opinion.

I regard with the greatest respect the Constitution of the sovereign State of Pennsylvania and would educate our people to consider it just as sacred as the Federal Constitution. For those fundamental rules of government that have been tried and rounded into shape by years of practical use and which have withstood the strain and pressure from all directions should not be lightly cast aside in order to satisfy the whim of the seeker after change.

It is a fact that a government to endure must be a substantial and a growing thing, developing year after year greater strength, and striking its roots deeper and deeper into the intimate lives of the people, so that it shall be able to withstand the specious pleas of the doctrinaire and the theorist, and not fall before the onslaught of the unthinking, who desire to see the world's affairs fixed, changed, and generally controlled by themselves.

In discussing the advisability of passing this bill let us keep our minds free from prejudice and rancor; let us have no concern as to our own political advantage or disadvantage, but let us only have the desire uppermost, that we shall arrive at a just decision. The discussion may be divided into two natural parts or questions, which are—

1. Shall a constitutional convention be held as provided by this resolution, and the present method of making amendments temporarily laid aside?

2. Shall we still rather maintain our present method of amending the constitution instead of holding a constitutional convention as provided by this resolution?

The question, "Shall a constitutional convention be held," must be considered in the light of the fact that the people of this Commonwealth rejected most emphatically the proposal a short time ago.

Various reasons have been assigned as to why this rejection was made, but none has been proven satisfactory. It has been said by the proponents of this resolution that the people disapproved of holding a Constitutional Convention because of the manner of selecting the delegates, some by election and some by appointment by the Governor.

A statement of this character causes me to come to the conclusion that someone assumes that the people were not intelligent enough to discern the fact that they were voting mainly on the question as to whether or not they desired a constitutional convention to revise the present Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania.

They knew exactly what they were doing, for they said "no", and at the same time, being aware of the fact that their will might not prevail, deliberately selected certain candidates to sit in that convention in the event of its being held. Does that look as if they did not know what they were doing?

I have more confidence in the judgment of the people on such an important question than to believe any such specious reasoning, and because they have so recently expressed themselves in the negative on this question, it is at least untimely, if not a reflection upon their intelligence, to place it before them at this time.

It is my earnest belief that this resolution should not prevail, especially at this time or even within the next few years. While there are some who believe that we are living in times of peace, contentment, and without unrest amongst the people, there are signs upon every hand that such is not the case, and that the cry of peace is heard when there is no peace.

With the present condition prevailing on the European continent, where one nation seems to be arrayed against another; with radicalism in this nation, apparently in the minority, but strong enough to assert itself most vigorously, I fear until the minds of men shall be influenced by less emotionalism and turbulence that there is great danger of some of this radicalism finding its way into any assemblage such as this resolution contemplates.

It is needless for me to point out, as history indicates it, that the constructive work of men has always been best performed during those periods when nations were at rest from war.

I feel that we are not yet so far removed from the effects of the late world war, which shook the very foundation of civilization, as to make further experiments with our fundamental laws, with safety to our institutions.

I am not alone in voicing this fear of radicalism, for, if you will permit me, I will quote to you the opening address of Chairman William I. Schaeffer, of the Commission on Constitutional Amendment and Revision appointed by Governor Sproul under the authority of the Act of Assembly approved June 4, 1919:

> "As I construe the legislative mandate in the act creating our Commission, we are not to be iconoclasts in working out the problems which are submitted to us; but, in the light of the garnered wisdom of the ages and of modern-reasoned thought and of our own and other state's experiences, with the new conditions which are the outgrowth of the past fifty years of marvelous progress and attainments of our people before us, we are to study comprehensively and in detail the provisions of our present Constitution with a view to the necessity or advisability of changing or omitting any of its provisions which will improve it so as to secure for our people a form of government best suited to their needs and most conducive to their welfare."

You will thus see, if you read between the lines the earnest effort of the Chairman of the Commission to direct the thoughts of his colleagues along conservative lines. He realized, as all men endowed with common sense, that always there exists in bodies of this sort the menance of the inconoclast, of the irreverent, and those who love not traditions and the landmarks and who desire a chance merely for the sake of change. He believed it necessary to utter these splendid words of caution so that those who were inclined to radicalism might well hesitate before attempting to impose their half-baked views upon that body.

The second question is, "Shall we still rather maintain our present method of amending the Constitution."

As a conservative, the present method of amending our Constitution is good enough for me.

Someone, no doubt, will raise the question of cost, but this is not an economic question, but rather the one for you to decide is, shall we set aside the method which is at our hand and attempt to revise the Constitution in its entirety? During the present session of the Legislature, we have passed several resolutions for the purpose of amending the Constitution.

Upon those which I considered reasonable and necessary you will find me recorded as having voted in the affirmative. Therefore, I cannot be accused of standing out against proper and reasonable amendments.

Under the present method a resolution must pass two sessions of Legislature. At each session a thorough discussion may be had upon its merits, and its ultimate effect must also be considered if we would be fair to ourselves and to the people who entrust to us the making of their laws.

We must not be side-tracked from this through discussion by the specious plea that we are "only asking the people to vote on the question and that we should trust the people."

Under the present method they have an opportunity of voting their approval or disapproval after the resolution passes two Legislatures, therefore we are not depriving them of any of their rights. We are, in fact, giving them a better opportunity of investigating the character of the amendment proposed, without concealing it amongst a mass of proposed changes, such as would undoubtedly be submitted to them in the event of a revision of the entire Constitution.

I am opposed to this resolution because I am such a benighted creature as to believe that when the people of this Commonwealth said in a loud voice "no" to the question propounded to them by the last Legislature concerning the holding of a constitutional convention, they meant it. I am so unprogressive that I still believe that the Ten Commandments are the foundation of all law; that the Magna Charta wrested by an oppressed people from an arrogant over-lord still marks the beginning of popular interest in the science of modern government, and I am preverse enough to believe that the Constitution of the United States is still a wonderful document, although it is one hundred and thirty-six years old and contains but nineteen amendments, all made in accordance with the form of procedure laid down by our forefathers and especially made difficult to secure in order that this document should never lose its substantiality.

It seems to be impossible for the proponents of this resolution to specify any amendments that should be made to our present Constitution, but they seem bent upon changing the law merely for the sake of change, thinking perhaps how glorious it would be if the Constitution included certain provisions which they desire to have in it, but who wish them concealed amongst the general mass of changes to be proposed.

Let us decide, here and now, upon this important question, that we shall tie our faith to the present Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania, amending it as we have been doing; not departing from our present method, and not permitting it to fall into the hands of these improvers, who reason much as the atheist did about the acorn, who said—

"Methinks this world is oddly made
And everything amiss,
A dull, presuming atheist said,
As stretched he lay beneath the shade
And instanced it in this:
Behold, quoth he, that mighty thing
A pumpkin, large and round
Is held but by a little string
Which upwards cannot make it spring
Or bear it from the ground.
Whilst on this oak a fruit so small
So disproportioned grows
That who with sense surveys this all
This universal casual ball
Its ill contrivance knows.
My better judgment would have hung
That weight upon a tree
And left this mast thus slightly strung
Mongst things which on the surface sprung
And small and feeble be.
No more the caviler could say
No farther faults descry
For as he upwards gazing lay
An acorn loosened from the stay
Fell down upon his eye.
The offended part with tears ran o'er
As punished for the sin,
Fool! had that bough a pumpkin bore
Thy whimsies must have worked no more
Nor skull had kept them in.

Now, in conclusion, may I ask all those to vote against this bill who believe in maintaining the substantiality of our State Constitution, just as they do the Federal Constitution; as well as those who believe that our present method of amending the Constitution is sufficient, and that we should develop only along sane and symmetrical lines in order to preserve and strenghten our faith in the government of the people, for the people and by the people.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I do not intend to tire because it is getting late, but I merely want to call your attention to a few facts. The question before you is not whether a constitutional convention shall be held, the question is, shall you submit to the electors in November of 1924 that question?

Our present constitution was adopted in the year 1873, the previous constitution in 1838. The 1838 constitution had been on the books for thirty-five years, the present constitution has been on the books fifty years. The population in this State has increased from 1873 from approximately 4,000-000 to 19,000,000 people. From 1873 to 1901 no amendments were made to the present constitution. Since 1901 twenty-nine amendments have been made, and during this session over thirty amendments to the constitution have been offered, so I think it is apparent that there is a demand for a revision of the constitution. Now the matter of the revision of the constitution is supported by the State Chamber of Commerce, The Pennsylvania Association of all women's organizations of Pennsylvania, by a large number of civic organizations throughout the State, and by our leading statesmen, so I desire to say that it seems to me the fair question, or the question could be stated fairly in this way: Can we trust the people of Pennsylvania to submit to them the question of whether they shall have a constitutional convention? If we can trust them, then I take it our vote should be aye on this bill, but if we cannot trust them, then we should vote no.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I am going to be brief and put my argument in a very brief manner. As this bill is now amended by my friend from Allegheny, I do not see how this House can go along with it, because the bill as now amended, would permit a man in Delaware or in New Jersey or in Ohio or any other state of the Union to come over and live one day in Pennsylvania, and if he had a bankroll, elect himself as a delegate. I submit the Constitution is a greater thing than the election of members to this House, and the Constitution we are working under now provides that we must live one year in a district. Are you men and are you, the gentleman from Beaver, who talks about vices, going to allow the millionaires of Wall Street to come to Pennsylvania with their bankrolls and elect some of their puppets to a constitutional convention to put in privileges for themselves. I think not, and yet that is what this bill provides. Is this bill the ambition of a woman that lives in one district and fears that that district cannot elect her and that she must go to another district to seek her election? Are we for propaganda that will overthrow the principles that were established in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, which says that a man must live in the state from which he comes? Yet, we have deliberately wiped that all away. The only provision here for a candidate is that he must be a citizen for five years, not that he must have been an inhabitant of Pennsylvania longer than a minute. Are you going to stand for that principle? Now, my friends, on the merits of this bill, I have in my hands here Shepherd's Annotation which says that at the present time our present Constitution has been before the supreme and superior courts some thirteen hundred times. Every one of those cases ment to one of our inhabitants, one of our friends, one of our neighbors, hundreds of dollars. Are we now coming forth with an uncertain constitution, with a new idea with something that may prejudice your property rights, your personal interests and privileges, and the rights of your friends, and drive that thirteen hundred in number into your supreme court? Isn't this womans' organization a runner for lawyers looking for superior court cases?

Mr. Speaker, I want to call your attention again and show you how foolish this bill is. This bill says that the Constitutional draft that was drawn by a committee appointed by the late Governor Sproul, should be accepted as a guide, accept something that the people rejected; take that one that went to the people and they rejected it. My friend says, "Trust the people." The people refused that medicine once, is he going to try now to make them take it? All human action is promoted by motive. What motives prompt this bill? Where is the clamor from the people of your district? Is it the three or four women, is it the five or six women who run no house, who maintain no household, who live in some apartment, or is it the woman that raises her children, and cares for her home? No. When I look here to the right of me, we find that woman from Pittsburgh, that woman from Allegheny, and if you take her out of this movement, ask yourselves what is left. How can she, when several millions of women are home tending to their duties, be up here buttonholing, lobbying and intimidating? Are we men so weak that one woman from Pittsburgh can scare us, scare you to violating the constitutional provisions? Mr. Speaker let me call your attention to another thought. The Constitution of 1838 provided that all powers should rest in the Governor, and the people of Pennsylvania soon discovered their error and went and had a Constitution of 1874, and turned that power back to the people. Now, the Constitution of 1874, when it came into being did it come into being with an act like this? If you read the act that brought the Constitution of 1874 into being, the act of 1874 says that the convention shall not tamper with or change the Declaration of Rights. Do we provide a saving clause here to save our people the sacred rights of the Declaration of Rights? No, but for the sake of a woman from Pittsburgh, or a woman from some other "burg," are we to surrender those rights? Men, vote "aye" on this, go back to your homes and say that we forfeited the Declaration of Independence for the beautiful song of a woman from Pittsburgh.

Mr. SCHLEITER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to correct a statement made by the gentleman from Philadelphia, who said that if this bill was passed it would be possible for someone to come in from Ohio or a neighboring state and with one minute's residence, offer himself as a candidate and probably be elected as a delegate to that convention. Does the speaker not know that we can make no law, that this Legislature can pass no law that will be contradictory to the provisions of the Constitution? Does the Constitution not provide that one must be a resident of this State in order to vote, at least one year? Now the speaker has just said we come here, that we stand here as the bulwark of the people. Why, it seems to me that the people are the source of all power; The power, at least, that sent us here, or if we got here in any other way, it was in contradiction to that. Now, Mr. Speaker, it is but a moment ago, during an outburst of oratory on the part of the gentleman from Philadelphia that it was said that this is a government of the people, by the people and for the people. I second the motion. I agree with him heartily, and therefore it is his duty and the duty of everyone else to make true and bring into full effect that immortal declaration of Abraham Lincoln to the end that the government of the people by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth. It seems to me that the opposition to this bill is not fair. They want to prevent the free people from acting upon a question in which the people have all power, and that power should not be abridged by their so-called representatives here in this hall of the Legislature.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members: Messrs. W. P. Wood, Heffran, Rhodes, Parkinson, Brenneman, Rinn, Whiteman, D. J. Jones, F. A. Bell, Little, Goss, Haas, Kelly, Miss Gallaher, Messrs. Haws, Hollins, Irving, Wright, Griffith, Wheeler, Ludlow, Horne and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,
Shall the main question now be put?
It was agreed to.
On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1641 (Senate Bill No. 327), entitled:

An Act to provide for the personal registration of electors and their enrollment as members of political parties in cities of the second class of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and their said enrollment as members of a political party a condition of the right to vote at primary elections in said cities to provide for the appointment of Registration Commissioners by the Governor and of the registrars and other employees by the Registration Commissioners and fixing their compensation to prescribe the duties and powers of said Registration Commissioners and registrars and the days times places and methods for the registration of electors to provide for the payment of salaries and expenses including materials and supplies for the County Commissioners to provide for the assistance of keepers of hotels lodging houses boarding houses and rooming houses and municipal authorities in securing this data for and in the investigation and supervision of the registration of electors to authorize the Registration Commissioners to appoint inspectors to supervise the registration of electors to provide for the payment of witness fees for persons summoned before the Commissioners and appeals to the courts of common pleas to provide penalties for violations of its provisions and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is another bill pertaining to Allegheny County, the heading of it, personal registration of electors in cities of the second class in this Commonwealth. I believe if this bill were to become a law it would be a very dangerous piece of legislation by reason of the fact that it permits certain conditions to exist in the event that it becomes a law, and I believe that the members of this House should not approve of legislation of this character. I call to the attention of the members of this House, on page 4, one particular section which is most vital, not only to the members of Allegheny County, but I believe that in the event that this becomes a law you will find legislation of this nature going throughout the entire Commonwealth. Section 5, one provision says there that a registrar need not be a resident of the election district, and if we were to extend that, and to give an example, a registrar of the nineteenth ward of the city of Pittsburgh would be eligible to be registrar of the seventh ward of the city of Pittsburgh. I contend that a registrar who is permitted to be a registrar only in the district in which he resides is one that is familiar with the district which he has charge of, is familiar with the voters in that particular district, and fraud at no time can be perpetrated. I believe that the provision of this bill which requires a registrar to be a resident of any other district and he came into your district it would result in fraud, considerable confusion, arguments and something that would not be for the benefit of the voters of any county. On page 33 it requires hotels and boarding house keepers to give a list of their visitors, a list of those in their hotel ninety days prior to an election, and in view of the fact that under the law sixty days is sufficient, why then ninety days? It is a dangerous bill, a dangerous precedent and I would ask the members of this House to vote this bill down.

Mr. KELLEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is a personal registration act for second class cities, which includes Scranton and Pittsburgh. This bill passed the Senate by a vote of 47 to 1. After it passed the Senate it was submitted to the registration board of the city of Pittsburgh. Some few slight amendments were made at their request and they now approve of this bill. The object of the bill is to reduce the cost of registration, to make it more convenient for the voters to register and save considerable money. In this bill the spring primary in even numbered years, the registration day is eliminated. By elminating this one day Pittsburgh will save $27,000. By spending this $27,000 now we find that it costs about $12 to register each person, each voter who comes to that registration district that day. It is true, as my friend from Allegheny, Mr. Marcus, says, that the registrars can be chosen from any part of the city. I cannot see why this would be dangerous legislation. If that particular district does not have something to fear, and if they don't conduct their registration in the proper kind of form, why not put somebody else in there and let them do it correctly.

Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Marcus.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Marcus, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KELLY. I would like to know if you are opposed to this particular bill or just that part of it on which you spoke.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. I am opposed to this bill in its entirety by reason of the facts that I have stated to the members of the House that the purpose of the bill creates fraud in districts rather than destroys it.

Mr. KELLY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in Journal No. 25 of this House, you will see by referring to your Legislative Journal, page 2195, that there was a very similar bill passed for third class cities, whereby any registrar can be taken from anywhere in the city. Mr. Marcus is recorded there as voting aye on that bill. Now, I think he did right that time, that was a good bill, but I don't think he is doing right this time. Now, we figure from actual data obtained in Pittsburgh that if this bill goes into effect in the two years of registration the city of Pittsburgh alone will save $82,320. Now, there is a possibility of that saving being not quite as large as that for the reason that the present registration in each district is now four, this bill reduces that, it may be three. That gives them the privilege of cutting down to two if necessary. You might question whether it is possible to cut this board down to two in those districts. All of the third class cities of the State have two registrars in each district. I have some lists here from third class cities where they register as many as 1400 voters in one district with two registrars. I believe eventually we will get to that. Here is a letter from Allentown signed by Mr. Koontz, clerk, saying that they register from six to twelve hundred in each district with two registrars. Here is another one from Reading, Pennsylvania, saying that they register from 300 to 400 in each district. Now, if they can do that with two registrars, why cannot the city of Pittsburg and Scranton. I believe most of the members from Scranton have approved this bill and I hope you will do the same thing. However, we have granted them the privilege of having three in each district. I think it will save us somewhere in the neighborhood of ninety to one hundred thousand dollars. Why not adopt it? I would ask every member here to vote for this bill.

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1152 (Senate Bill No. 444), entitled:

An Act authorizing the county commissioners and controller in third class counties to appoint a collector of delinquent taxes and defining his powers with regard to the collection of taxes returned by county tax collector as uncollectible and for which credits have been claimed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. Speaker, in regard to Senate Bill No. 144, I would like to get some information on this bill. Is there any person in the House who can give me some information?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland desires to know whether there is any one in the House who can explain the purpose of this bill.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Westmoreland had this bill thoroughly explained to him this morning. He thoroughly understands it, but for the benefit of the other members of the House, I desire to state that this is a bill which would permit the county commissioners and the county controller in third class counties to appoint a delinquent tax collector after the duplicates are returned to the county commissioners, which would give them the right to open some investigation, that is, the exonerations asked for. Now, it does not provide that the county is compelled to accept this bill, nor does it fix a salary. It permits the salary board of each county to fix the amount which shall be paid. Luzerne County has experimented with this delinquent tax collector for the past few months, and it has worked very satisfactorily. It is optional with the counties whether or not they shall adopt it, and appoint a delinquent tax collector. The purpose of this bill is to give some authority to such an official. Under the law now, they can appoint someone if they so desire, but this will give the delinquent tax collector some authority. It is entirely optional, and applies only to third class counties. The county of Luzerne believe they would be able to recover a great deal of money which they cannot now, if this bill is enacted.

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman with regard to this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Gibbon, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GIBBON. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KUNKLE. Does this bill give any additional powers to the delinquent collector of taxes in addition to what the collectors of taxes now have?

Mr. GIBBON. No., sir.

Mr. KUNKLE. At the present time you have collectors of taxes in the various boroughs and townships of the county, have you not?

Mr. GIBBON. Yes, sir.

Mr. KUNKLE. And you have your commissioners make the exonerations from time to time of those taxes?

Mr. GIBBON. Yes, sir.

Mr. KUNKLE. These collectors have the same power that the delinquent tax collector would have?

Mr. GIBBON. Well, I don't know about that. The delinquent tax collector is satisfied to have the same power that the tax collector would now have. Whether or not the county commissioners would have the same power as the tax collector, I don't know.

Mr. KUNKLE. The gentleman misunderstands the question. I am asking you, is it not a fact that the present collectors of taxes would have the same power exactly as the delinquent tax collectors would have?

Mr. GIBBON. I believe so, yes.

Mr. KUNKLE. And is it not a fact that at the present time the taxes on unseated lands on real estate is returned and filed in the treasurer's office and becomes a lien on the real estate?

Mr. GIBBON. I believe so, yes.

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, this bill if it became a law, would not change the powers or the way of collecting taxes. The only thing that would be accomplished would be the making of a new job for somebody else to come in and all he could do would be to draw his salary, because the laws as they now stand give absolute and full power for the collection of all taxes that are returned. This bill gives no additional powers. The collectors and the commissioner and county treasurer have absolute power now and they can proceed to collect just the same after this bill is passed as before it. I would state that from my knowledge of the commissioner's office, the treasurer's office, that there is absolutely no necessity whatever for any additional machinery. The only thing that is necessary is for the present collectors and the commissioners and the treasurer to carry out the law as it stands, and if you add this additional office, it will not help matters one whit. You will just have the same law, without any advantage to the taxpayers. A delinquent tax collector could not change and collect any taxes that the present collectors cannot. The present collectors are bonded to the county, and they are bonded to make every collection that delinquent tax collector could get, and as representing one of the third class counties, I would ask the other counties of this Commonwealth to support us in rejecting this proposition, because it is absolutely unnecessary.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not personally opposed to this particular bill, but I am opposed to the principle embodied in it. This bill provides for the appoint of a delinquent tax collector in a certain class of counties, for what purpose? The bill states that it is for the purpose of collecting taxes that the local collectors do not collect. You all know, under our present system we have local tax collectors. After having the duplicates in their hands for a certain time and collecting such taxes as they see fit to collect, or do collect, then they make application and are exonerated from the collection of those uncollected. Under the provisions of this bill, a delinquent tax collector is appointed to check up and make a certificate, as it were, of the taxes that are not collected by the collectors and endeavor to locate and collect such taxes as he can. Under our laws as they are enacted at the present time, there is absolutely no excuse for losing one cent of taxes except the personal tax, for the reason that under the acts of 1913 and 1915, the tax collector is required to make a return of all unpaid taxes on or before the first Monday of February, following the year for which they are levied. Under the Act of 1901, which was reenacted in 1919, they file a lien under the provision of the act in the prothonotary's office. The principle embodied in this bill, members of the House, is an important one. If you will indulge me just a minute, I will endeavor to give my views on it and then you can vote as you please. As I stated, there is no excuse for losing taxes on real estate, because we have two lines of procedure for continuing the lien and collecting it. This House went on record last week, or the first part of this week, in favor of local collectors, why was it? The argument was set up by those opposing the bill that it provided for a centralized system of collecting. The argument was that the local collectors were in better position to collect that tax. Now, they are in better position to collect, let them collect it and not attempt now to create a position at the county seat and ask him to not only collect the general taxes but put the burden upon him to collect that which the local collectors cannot collect. If you are going to be consistent, be consistent throughout and don't create a new position and pay a man a salary for doing something which you say the local man cannot do, and which you say at the same time, are in a better position to do it. For that reason, members of the House, I think there is a bad principle embodied in this bill, and I think it would be a mistake to enact it into law.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker, I don't know whether the gentleman from Beaver understands this or not, but this makes it optional with counties of the third class to appoint such collector if they deem it wise. Now, we have such a collector in Luzerne county, and the only advantage that this bill will give us will be to give him some additional authority. In view of the fact that it affects only third-class counties, and it is entirely optional even in those third-class counties as to whether or not they wish to accept it, as to whether or not they wish to appoint such a collector, I would urge the members of the House and ask them to vote for it.

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. Speaker, just one word more. The gentleman says that they have such an officer in his county, and it works all right. If that be the fact, and there is no objection so far as we are concerned, but we don't desire an Act of Assembly to go upon the statute books to add something to what they already have. They have it now, and I want to state to you that the only taxes that this delinquent tax collector could possibly make any more secure or collect is the personal tax of each voter, which would amount to a very small sum, and that it could not possibly be justifiable for a collector to travel over the county and collect this small personal tax. And the reason why the other tax says on real estate are secure is, they are filed as a lien and a sale follows that lien and the delinquent tax collector could not do anything else except to enforce that lien by sale. We have that authority now, so that I repeat again, we have no use, no necessity, for this additional machinery.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there is one more question that has not been touched upon by the gentlemen who have spoken on this bill. When a tax collector is appointed and gets his duplicate he gives his bond for the collection of every dollar on that duplicate. Now, suppose that before this delinquent tax collector is appointed, by some negligence on his part he does not collect some of the taxes on his duplicate, and the county comes in under this bill and appoints a delinquent tax collector. It is a question in my mind whether it does not relieve the former collector from his bond. Why should you have a delinquent tax collector? The tax collector is absolutely responsible for the collection of all taxes on his bond, and if he does not collect them, all the commissioners have to do is to foreclose his bond and collect every sort of tax on his duplicate that have not been exonerated. What is the use of this, especially when there is a liability of relieving the tax collector of some negligence on his part, some neglect of duty, before the delinquent tax collector is appointed? It seems to me there is no use for this bill whatever, and that it does not do any good.

Mr. GUERIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, never having lived in a county of the third class, I don't know just how the question of delinquent taxes may affect such a county, but I know that in the city of Philadelphia, there are hundreds of thousands of dollars collected by the delinquent tax collector, and while it is true, what has been said, that if the taxpayer does not pay his taxes, a lien may be placed against his property, there is a question in my mind whether it would not be cheaper to make an effort through the appointment of a delinquent tax collector to collect the taxes, rather than go to the expensive method of a lien and wait until the court decides, and afterwards orders a sale. I think if it is a good thing in the city of the first class, it would also be good in a city of the third class.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Guerin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Guerin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GUERIN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. I would like to ask the gentleman if he ever held the position of delinquent tax collector in Philadelphia.

Mr. GUERIN. Yes, sir, fourteen years, and collected hundreds of thousands of dollars, and paid it all into the treasury.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1542 (Senate Bill No. 1018), entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section seven of article three of the Constitution of Pennsylvania

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, you will recall on April 17, of this session, a resolution was presented by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Vickerman giving the people of Pennsylvania the right to vote as to whether or not they wanted to vote on a voting machine. This bill was defeated and a similar one was then introduced in the Senate but which applies to Allegheny County alone. Despite the fact that there are 67 counties in this commonwealth, the Senator from Allegheny saw fit to make this a resolution applicable to Allegheny county. If you will recall during the course of any arguments against the right of the people to have voting machines in Pennsylvania, I said that similar states had adopted it but that it was not practical. I cited a number of instances and since then I have learned that New Jersey has made a failure of it. If the voting machine is not good for the state of Pennsylvania, why would it be good for Allegheny rounty? Why should Allegheny aounty experiment with it and spend from forty to fifty thousand dollars in line with this amendment in order to satisfy the lobbyists who have been lobbying for this bill on the floor of this House. Whom do they represent? Who pays them? Whether they represent voting machine companies or not, I do not know. The facts are from the information I have gathered that a voting machine costs approximately one thousand dollars and since there are no less than 1300 voting precincts in Allegheny county, it would not cost any less than $1,300,000. If the time comes when the people of Pennsylvania want voting machines let the state of Pennsylvania adopt it, and not make Allegheny county the dumping ground for all reform legislation. That is all the legislation we have had during this session and I ask you to be consistent and vote this measure down.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is true that this bill in a different form was before this House some weeks ago and lacked a few votes of a constitutional majority in passing it. Since that time others in Allegheny county felt that they had the right to ask this House to pass a bill to give them the right to use voting machines. Now, as has been said this bill provides for voting machines in Allegheny county only. It is entirely optional as to whether the voting machines are put in in that county; it is also left to the common pleas court of that county. This is not a revolutionary measure at all. It is up to the authorities of our own county. When this bill was before the Senate, out of 6 senators from Allegheny county five voted for this bill and one against it, and I think I am safe in saying to you tonight that when this vote is finally taken a majority of the members of this House from Allegheny county will vote in favor of this bill for Allegheny county. Now, in view of this fact we feel that we are entitled to this legislation notwithstanding the fact that my friend, Mr. Marcus says that all these measures come from this county, may I say to you there are some special reasons why all the reform election laws are needed in Allegheny county. Nobody knows these reasons better than my friend Mr. Marcus, my colleague here tonight. We have a condition there that is practically intolerable. I want to say to you that this bill before us tonight has the endorsement of the very best people of our county, including the judges and public officials over there. I say, Mr. Speaker, that the demand for this bill in Allegheny county is proven by the fact that the majority of the members are for this measure and also the majority of the members of the Senate who voted for it last week. Our friend speaks about expenses in Allegheny county. I am just a little bit surprised that my friend Mr. Marcus is the watchdog for the treasury of Allegheny county. I am glad to know that he is reformed and is now for economy. I had not heard it before tonight in this speech. I want to say to you that in six years, if these machines are installed in Allegheny county, they will pay for themselves and leave a balance of $75,000 in the treasury, so the matter of economy does not count. The last thing I am going to say here is this this being a constitutional amendment, I think, and I think you will agree with me that the tax payers of Allegheny county have a right to vote on this matter and say whether they want it or not. We are putting it up to the people, therefore I ask you to support this measure.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I have no brief for the trouble they have in Allegheny county in regard to their election difficulties. When they first came down here in January they presented a book to us, about 7 changes of the amendments to the Constitution, and about 10 or 12 changes to the election laws, simply because there has been a factional fight in Allegheny county. Now, we have had these things in Philadelphia county and we have settled these things among ourselves. Today we are in harmony and sympathy with the election laws of the State, but if Allegheny county wants to go into debt, let them pay the debt but don't let them burden the state of Pennsylvania with a debt simply because it is an amendment to the Constitution for Allegheny county. I have it on very good authority that they have amended the wrong section of the constitution because the section they amended in article 7 in regard to special local legislation, and let me add I have it on very excellent authority that the section which they should amend is section 8 of article 4 which reads as follows: "All elections by the citizens shall be by ballot or by such other method as may be prescribed by law: provided that secrecy in voting be preserved." Now, if they had done that, my friends, amended that portion of the constitution, the small amendment that they would offer to us to vote on would only cost the state for advertising purposes $5000, but the amendment which they submit to us, that the people of the state must pay for, for the troubles in Allegheny county, it will cost the first time $35,955, and the second time, after it passes the next session of the legislature it will cost over $71,000. Why should this Commonwealth and the people of this Commonwealth be taxed to pay for the advertising of this amendment in the press throughout the Commonwealth, $75,000 to amend the constitution for a little factional fight in Allegheny county.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in regard to the use of voting machines, I desire to say that this is not a new matter. I have a little pamphlet in my hand which shows that voting machines are used in three hundred places in the state of New York. They have been used in Rochester 25 years, in Tioga and Jamestown 24 years, Buffalo 23 years, and in a large number of other cities which I could name. In the state of Connecticut they are in use for 65% of the voters, and have been used in the city of Hartford 20 years. In the state of Indiana they have been used in one county 19 years, in Iowa 17 years, in Washington 9 years, and in Michigan 13 years.

Now let us ask just what the question is before this House tonight. The only question before you is a proposition to amend the Constitution of our state so that voting machines may be used in Allegheny county or some part thereof. If this session of the Assembly votes in favor of this proposed amendment, it must be adopted at the session of 1925. It must then be approved by the electors of Pennsylvania at an election following the session of 1925, and then there must be an enabling act passed subsequent to the approval of the people. Since this applies only to Allegheny County, I take it you ought to know who it is in Allegheny county that wants this legislation. I have a letter in my hand written by Senator Wm. Flinn, which I think gives some interesting facts concerning this matter. It shows that this legislation is approved by 5 of the 6 senators of Allegheny county, that it is endorsed by 18 of the 27 Allegheny county members in this House, that it is approved by practically all the county officials of Allegheny county, also by the officials of the city of Pittsburgh, including the Mayor. It has been approved by the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, and also by the newspapers of the city of Pittsburgh: Now this proposition to you is based upon three reasons, honesty, economy, and a saving of time in the counting of the vote. Whether any of these reasons be good or not is not the question for you to decide tonight, but I do submit that with the long use of voting machines in various parts of the United States and with the fact that this applies only to Allegheny county and in view of the fact that it is supported by practically all of the representatives of that county, and that this is only the first step and must be approved in 1925 and by the voters following that, and then by subsequent act of Assembly, I ask you if it is not a fair proposition to vote in favor of this resolution.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. EDMONDS.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 204 entitled

An Act directing the Governor with the assistance of a budget director and assistaints to prepare and transmit to each General Assembly a budget for each of the two fiscal years next succeding and to submit therewith a general and other appropriation and revenue bills providing for the consideration thereof by the General Assembly requiring spending agencies of the Commonwealth and the fiscal officers thereof to furnish certain information and providing for uniform systems of accounting and financial reports for control and supervision over the expenditures of the Commonwealth and for the lapsing of appropriations

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL DROPPED FROM THE CALENDAR.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I say to the members of the House that in the administration Code which was passed last week, there is a provision for a budget system. Consequently, this bill becomes unnecessary, and I move that the bill be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. CONRAD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED SENATE BILL CONCURRED IN BY SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendment made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 763.

An Act relating to the preparation of a new Constitution of the Commonwealth by a convention and its adoption or rejection by the people

BILL SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 763.

An Act relating to the preparation of a new Constitution of the Commonwealth by a convention and its adoption or rejection by the people

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. HORNE

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 254, entitled

An Act to carry into effect section one of article fifteen of the Constitution giving cities the right and power to frame adopt and amend their own charters and to exercise the powers and authority of local selfgovernment and providing the procedure therefor imposing certain restrictions limitations and regulations imposing duties upon city councils city officers county commissioners and prothonotaries and providing for the payment of certain expenses by cities

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, due to the fact that this bill has been on the calendar and a lot of the citizens of the state are anxious to know what this measure means. As you know, the state voted on this measure and approved such report that the cities should have the right to apply home rule and establish a government in keeping with the desires of that community. It seems to me that no proposition would be fairer than for you to go back and say to your community, that you have given them the right to govern themselves. A great deal has been said on this subject and now you will have the opportunity to redeem what you have said. If you really believe in the people at home, really believe that they are fit to formulate for themselves a government, this will give them that chance. If you think they are not so fitted then by all means you should vote no. At least you will show to them whether you are sincere or insincere in your vote when you propose home rule. You said to them that you believed in home rule. I would like very much to see this measure pass. Personally, I have no fear of the people not governing themselves, I think they can always be trusted. I believe that, and believing that you ought to vote for this measure, it seems to me and I call on you to support this measure.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Horne.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HORNE. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SPANGLER. I desire to ask the gentleman from Cambria whether under the provisions of this bill the state reserves to itself any limitation in the character of the charter that the third class city may prescribe for itself?

Mr. HORNE. In answer to that I will say it is merely an enabling act to allow to provide for themselves a charter. Of course there are limitations. The state legislature has the right at any time to pass acts governing the control, of cities and limiting their powers.

Mr. SPANGLER. In the event this should pass the House, does the gentleman realize that it is utterly impossible for this bill to become a law?

Mr. HORNE. I don't realize that.

Mr. SPANGLER. If the bill passes this session it is utterly impossible, as I understand it for this bill to pass through the Senate. Tomorrow is next to the last day and it requires three separate days for the bill to pass the Senate.

Mr. HORNE. If you have such information and you are absolutely sure about it, you know more than most of us do.

Mr. SPANGLER. I believe that that is correct.

Mr. HORNE. Believing that and knowing it are two different things.

Mr. SPANGLER. Can the gentleman correct me in my assumption?

Mr. HORNE. I cannot speak for either the House or the Senate.

Mr. SPANGLER. I will ask the gentleman how is it possible for this bill to be read the third time in the Senate before Thursday at noon?

Mr. HORNE. If it happens to go through tonight by unanimous consent of the Senate it could be read the first time tonight.

Mr. SPANGLER. Would not the bill have to be referred to a Committee of the Senate?

Mr. HORNE. It could be and they often recess in order to have a meeting.

Mr. SPANGLER. That would mean that it would come up for first reading in the Senate tomorrow morning?

Mr. HORNE. It could be read for the first time tonight.

Mr. SPANGLER. It could not possibly be read for the first time tonight.

MOTION TO DROP BILL FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that it is absolutely impossibly for this bill to go through the Senate, it is only wasting time and I move that the bill be dropped for the calendar.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, due to the fact that my good friend Mr. Sowers wished to drop this bill from the calendar last week, I feel that this motion is very much out of place and in bad faith. I would like to see this bill voted on, I think it is nothing more than right and I, therefore call for a roll call.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker I second the call for a roll call.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified as follows:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative, and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1391 (Senate Bill No. 599), entitled:

An Act to amend section fourteen of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and three) entitled "An act creating the office of county controller in counties of this Commonwealth containing two hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants" prescribing the appointments of said office fixing the salaries thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I desire to call the members attention to this bill which amends the controller act in this particular, section 14, "the controller shall appoint a deputy controller, counsel and such other employees as may be necessary for the work of his office, and the proper auditing of accounts in it." The amendment of the old act is the insertion of the word counsel, and the insertion of the word "employees" instead of "clerks," and the addition of the words "for the work of his office and the proper auditing of accounts." Now, a controller takes the place of the auditors and his duties, as I understand them, are primarily the auditing of accounts. I don't know what this bill intends when it says, first, appoints a deputy controller and then says, counsel. Now, whether that means legal counsel I don't know, but it does seem to me that that is unnecessary. There is absolutely in my mind no necessity for any counsel in the office of a controller. This contemplates, as I understand it the employment of legal counsel in the office continually. I don't have any objection and I don't think anyone would have. If the controller would when a legal question arises consult counsel, I think that has been the practice, but to employ counsel and pay them regularly on the payroll, it does seem to me that that is uncalled for and unnecessary and I think that this bill in that situation ought to be defeated. While, I am an attorney myself, I don't think it necessary in a case of this kind to add an attorney or legal counsel to the payroll of the controller, and I would therefore ask the members of the House to vote against this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, you will notice in this bill it provides that the controller of counties shall appoint counsel, a deputy controller and so forth. Now that part of it absolutely is bad. This is absolutely mandatory, "he shall appoint." I want to call your attention to another fact, that they have a county solicitor in every county whose duty it is to advise the county commissioners and all of the county officers. Now, why is it necessary therefore to spend $1,500 for additional counsel for the county controller? There is no reason under the sun for it, and if that were not mandatory, there is not one county controller out of 100 who would employ him, but it is absolutely mandatory and compels him to employ counsel for himself. Therefore, I think this is a very bad bill and should be defeated.

Mr. LORENZO D. THOMAS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would just like to direct the attention of the members of the House to this part of section 14 to which exception has been taken. It seems to us, from our experience in Luzerne county, at least, that the county controller has put to a great deal of inconvenience and to a great deal of unnecessary expense, because of the fact that they were not privileged by law to employ the additional help that this bill asks for. We have every confidence in the integrity and n the honesty of the controller of our county, and not only he one who is the present incumbent but also in those who have gone before him, and the fact that we have men in our county who are willing to be governed by the law and willing to do the busines of the office of controller in such a manner as to bring credit to the county. We have saved many hundreds of thousands of dollars within the last ten years. Our controller would not employ one man for one day without specific order from the court to tell him whether or not he is within his rights. We have, of course, ur county solicitor but in the county where they do things as we do them, we need this additional counsel, and we need he right and we are asking for the right in this our bill. We are asking for the right to appoint men to do the necessary work that cannot be done by the office force, as he law constitutes that force. I ask you men and women o support this bill because of the fact that in our experience, t is worthy of your consideration. I am going to support it, nd that in itself is a guarantee that it is worth while.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a uestion of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question f personal privilege.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, in all legislation which I have opposed or fought for on the floor of this House, I have always been willing to take my roll calls, letting the roll call decide the question, and I strenuously object to the woman lobbyist on the floor of this House soliciting votes on matters pertaining to Allegheny county. I respectfully ask Mr. Speaker that the lady be removed from the floor of the House. I resent the activities of a lady lobbyist, soliciting votes on a measure pertaining to Allegheny County. I respectfully request of the Speaker that he request the lady to leave the floor of the House.

Mr. KELLY. Mr. Speaker, in case this request is carried out, I respectfully request that you include in that any person who is not privileged to the floor of the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules at this time that there is nothing in order save the calling of the roll.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker the present bill, Senate Bill No. 1005 is a bill that will bear careful study. During the time I have been a member of this House it seems to be one of the annual customs to have a bill which relates to the municipal court of Philadelphia, and I fancy that the time for that discussion has come. This court was created ten years ago as the result of a strong demand from the city not having any tribunal where cases of minor violation could be speedily and cheaply tried. I think today no one in the city of Philadelphia wants to repeal the act. By the terms of the act of 1913 it was provided that from among the judges elected by the people, the Governor should appoint one to be the president judge, and that president judge became a sort of business manager of the court, having the power to appoint all the officers connected with the courts. Now if this bill which amends the act of 1911; if this bill really provided that instead of the Governor appointing the president judge he should be elected by the other judges, it might perhaps be a commendable change. I think such a proposition was in the last session of the Legislature, and if my recollection serves me right, I voted for it at that time. If the bill goes further than that, if it proposed that the individual judges should appoint their clerks, their stenographers and tipstaves, personally I would have no objection to that because I can conceive that it is to the advantage of the judge to be able to control the personnel of his own court. If this were merely a matter relating to the president judge, a matter relating to the selection of stenographers and tipstaves, I probably should not take the floor to oppose this bill, but when it comes to the business administrative work that is built up in the municipal court under the direction of the president judge, and when it is proposed that these appointments shall be divided among the ten judges and that the entire board of judges shall function as an administrative body, it seems to me that what is being proposed is seriously detrimental to the good work of the court. The vital clause of this bill is the last section. The last section provides that the president judge shall appoint the probation officers. I do not know how many there are, but I do know there has been built up there a large species of welfare work that is doing great good in the city of Philadelphia and in which the people of Philadelphia have a just pride, and it seems to me it is silly to propose that that kind of work should be administered by a board of ten judges, dividing the responsibility among them. I have a personal pride in this municipal court, which arises out of certain circumstances of my own relationship, which, if you will pardon, I will relate. I think I am fair in saying that my father-in-law, ex-Judge Bitler was a pioneer advocate of the municipal court in Philadelphia. I remember very distinctly, before I was a member of his family or expected or even hoped to be, I remember in those days of talking with Judge Ralston, of Chicago, who was President Judge of the first municipal court, a man of fine accomplishments, and he said, "If you are going to run this as a business court to get done with the work quickly, you must concentrate the business responsibility in one man's hands, otherwise in placing it so that you will have a widely diffused responsibility, the work is not well done". Now that is the objection to the bill as it stands at the present time. Now I am going to go further than that. I think there is another objection to this bill which does not express itself in the terms of the statute itself, and that is, frankly, the motives back of it. Let us be perfectly frank in the matter, because the newspapers of Philadelphia have acquainted Philadelphians with the situation. We are face to face with a mayorality election, and in the manipulation and in the strategy that takes place in the opening days, there is always a good deal of manipulation between political leaders and so-called leaders and would-be leaders and ex-leaders and next leaders, and all those who are active in the political game. I look upon this bill as an attempt to punish Judge Brown because of his political activity, because he has shown political independence, and I want to say emphatically to the members of this House, both to my friends from Philadelphia and to those outside of the city, that what Philadelphia needs at the present time is more political independence and not less political independence. I object emphatically to the members coming here with an act of assembly for the purpose of punishing a man because he is thinking his own mind. I object emphatically to the members of the Assembly of Pennsylvania passing a law that will trifle with the business of the court in order that by so doing one political faction may reek its vengeance upon another. It seems to me it is bad in legislation, and bad in morals, and it is the kind of political leadership which is bound to call from the people of Philadelphia a stern rebuke. It is the kind of leadership which brings a community into disrepute. I am a lawyer and live by practicing in the courts of Philadelphia. I am proud of my profession, and of all things on earth, I dislike most the idea of seeing those who administer justice in its temples take part in what you may call political manipulation, but when you propose to put ten judges into politics in order to get one judge out, you are attempting a remedy which is far worse than the original trouble, and when you are doing it because the one judge has shown independence, political independence, it is trying to eliminate him in another way, and it seems to me you are working along wrong lines and from a wrong motive. Therefore, it seems to me that this is the kind of a bill that ought not to commend itself to the Legislature of Pennsylvania; it is the kind of bill that if it should pass and eventually be signed by the Governor, it is the kind of a bill that in the first place will administer harm to a most important work, and in the second place it will put into politics this entire court with such consequences as are bound to result in a diminution in the respect for its judgments. Therefore I ask the members of the House to concur with me and vote against this bill.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Edmonds, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. With pleasure, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker I would like to ask the gentleman of what session this bill came before the House.

Mr. EDMONDS. In the session of 1921, pages 2365,66, 67, and 68 of last session's Journal.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Did you vote for this bill at that time?

Mr. EDMONDS. This bill did not come before the House at that time. I voted for an amendment at that time to section 2, which allowed the board of Judges to elect the president judge. But it was never proposed in this bill to take the probation officers entirely from the judges to select.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Is it not a fact that you are now giving great praise to the man who is at the head of the municipal court of Philadelphia?

Mr. EDMONDS. I don't think I have said anything about him except that his work is a great work.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. I am going to read from the Journal of 1921 what you said on the floor of this House:

"There is however, criticism, Mr. Speaker, of the political activities of certain judges, of a certain judge, and in that criticism I share most strongly. As a member of the bar, I have a very clear conception as to the duty of a judge when he goes upon the bench. He should remove himself from all political associations; he should not serve upon political committees, and he should not make his office a means for trying to develop one political faction or another." Now Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. The gentlemen will proceed.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. I am not a lawyer and you are, and I am now going to ask you for some information. What is the custom in the United States Supreme Court at Washington in naming the president judge of that tribunal body?

Mr. EDMONDS. He is named by the President of the United States.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. What are the customs of the respective judges as refers to their course in the appointment of their clerks?

Mr. EDMONDS. In the United States Supreme Court I am not familiar with the practice, but I have no doubt but that the chief justice names them all.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Now coming down to the State of Pennsylvania, in the Supreme Court, who elects the president judge of the Supreme Court?

Mr. EDMONDS. He is the senior judge in point of service.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Does he have a mandate from his court in the appointment of the clerks?

Mr. EDMONDS. I do not know as a matter of fact whether the chief justice names them all or whether they are appointed by the individual judges.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. As a lawyer you don't know that?

Mr. EDMONDS. I don't know that.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. What is the action in the superior court in the State of Pennsylvania?

Mr. EDMONDS. In the superior court the president judge is the senior judge in point of service.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. What is the method in the quarter sessions or the common pleas court in the respective counties?

Mr. EDMONDS. In the common pleas the court officers are named by the judges.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Who elects the president judge?

Mr. EDMONDS. He is the senior judge in point of the service.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Don't the judges elect a president judge? Is that not the way?

Mr. EDMONDS. No, he is the senior judge in point of service, always the senior in point of service.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. And the employees are appointed by the court.

Mr. EDMONDS. Why not ask Senator Vare?

Mr. HEFFERNAN. No, I am asking myself, I do not need Senator Vare. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we have in Philadelphia what is called a municipal court. There are ten judges. This one judge who is now the president judge of the court has thorough control and power over all these courts. There isn't anyone of these judges who can say one word against him when he makes up his mind to add to or take from the officers or officials of the respective courts under his dominion. We are only asking at this time that we be given the same right as you men from the respective counties of the State now have, the right of the judges to elect their own president judge. The judges that are now serving there we feel should have the right to elect the president judge, and for that reason and that reason alone this bill is placed before you. There is no use of bringing any mayoralty talk here. It is all nonsense, it is only done to blindfold you. There is no politics in this, it is only right, and just my good friends, that the judges in the respective courts, of the municipal department of our city should have the right to elect their own president judge. That is common sense, they do it in your counties and why should not we have the right to do it in our county, and now in conclusion I asked you to vote for this bill because it will be a very good thing for Philadelphia.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, tomorrow afternoon, over on the Island, the ball game will take place. We have all our arrangements completed, and I assure you, you will have a good time if you will go over. The ball game will begin about 4:00 o'clock. I would like to state, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, that we will have a very attractive attraction there tomorrow afternoon. It will be the first appearance of the "Legislative Lilacs." It is a team composed of the lady members of this House, which challenges the winner. They will appear for the first time, and we would like a good crowd over there for the reason that it is for a charity here in Harrisburg.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1763, (Senate Bill No. 990), entitled:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1643, (Senate Bill No. 585), entitled:

An Act authorizing and empowering local boards of health of the Commonwealth to organize district health associations for the purpose of holding annual meetings providing for the representation of each board of health in said district associations and providing for the payment of the expenses thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is the creation of a convention or association of local health boards to convene annually at the exense of the boroughs, and their only prerogative is to carry out the orders of the state board of health, therefore, I can see no necessity of this convention and this bill should be defeated.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, in behalf of Senator Smith, who introduced this bill in the Senate, I feel as though I ought to say a word about it. It applies to boards of health of the various first class townships. It simply provides that the local health boards of these municipalities may, if they so desire, gather together into an organization where they may discuss the various questions of health that might arise in these various municipalities. They don't have to join that association, but if they do, they shall elect two representatives and the expenses to each borough or first class township shall be only $5.00. That is the extent of the expense for the organization. I simply want to explain this for Senator Smith.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, there are other provisions there. They will have to pay their hotel expenses and carfare, they have no discretionary powers in carrying out the orders of the State Board of Health and therefore, I see no occasion for this expense.

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to read the last sentence of the bill, if I may: "The expenses of the convention shall not be more than $5.00 to any borough or first class township per annum."

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, the member from Dauphin has not read far enough——

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. EARLY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. EARLY. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman has already spoken twice on the bill.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. ORR.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1421 (Senate Bill No. 268), entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania prohibiting after adjournment the appointment to office of any person whose nomination the Senate failed to confirm

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

BILL CONTINUED.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, there is such a small House present and we are so nearly through with our program for tonight, and I want to oppose this joint resolution and I want to be perfectly fair to the sponsor, and if it is possible to do so, I would like to move that further consideration of this bill be postponed until tomorrow, but since we cannot have any postponed calendar, and so under the rule of the Rules Committee that postponed bills can only be called up on Tuesday and there is no succeeding Tuesday, I move that consideration be continued until tomorrow.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the consideration of House Bill 1421, (Senate Bill 268) on page 17 of today's calendar will be continued until tomorrow. Are there objections? The Chair hears none and further consideration of the bill will be continued until tomorrow.

BILL CONTINUED.

Mr. JOHN G. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, a few minutes ago I asked permission to have passed over for the present House Bill 1544 (Senate Bill 316) at the top of page 13 of the calendar. The question that arose was in the wording of this bill. An effort has been made to meet the objection, but be find we are unable to get the amendment in shape this evening. For that reason, I would ask that further action be continued until tomorrow when we can put the amendments in proper shape.

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the further consideration of House Bill 1544 (Senate Bill 316) will be continued until tomorrow. Are there objection? The Chair hears none and further consideration is continued until tomorrow.

BILLS SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER.

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 101.

NAYS—1.

Lanius,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of th House is requested.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 899, (House Bill No. 1360), as follows:

An Act to amend section six of the act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred anl eleven (Pamphlet Laws one thousand fifty-five) entitled "An act authorizing the release on probation of certain convits instead of imposing sentences the appointment of probation and parole officers and the payment of their salaries and expenses regulating the manner of sentencing convicts in certain cases and providing for their release on parole their conviction of crime during parole and their rearrest and reconviction for breach of parole and extending the powers and duties of boards of prison inspectors of penitentiaries"

Section 6 Whenever any person convicted in any court of this Commonwealth of any crime punishable by imprisonment in a State penitentiary shall be sentenced to imprisonment therefor in any penitentiary or other institution of (the) this State or in any county or municipal institution the court instead of pronouncing upon such convict a definite or fixed term of imprisonment shall pronounce upon such convict a sentence of imprisonment for an indefinite term stating in such sentence the miuimum and maximum limits thereof and the maximum limit shall never exceed the maximum time now or hereafter prescribed as a penalty for such offense and the minimum limit shall never exceed (one-fourth) one half of the maximum sentence prescribed by any court

Provided That nothing herein contained shall be construed to derogate from the power of the judges of the courts of quarter sessions and of the courts of oyer and terminer or other court of record having jurisdiction of the several judicial districts of the Commonwealth after due inquiry to release on parole any convict confined in the county jail or workhouse or their respective districts as provided in section one of an act approved the nineteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws one thousand fifty-nine) entitled "An act extending the powers of judges of courts of quarter sessions and of oyer and terminer in relation to releasing prisoners in jails and workhouses on parole" its amendments and supplements and

"And Provided further That before any parole shall be granted pursuant to the terms hereof notice of an intention so to do shall be given at least ten days prior thereto by the board of prison inspectors to the judge of the court who imposed the sentence if he be still in office but otherwise to the judge or judges of the court of oyer and terminer or the court of quarter sessions then in session or if there be no current term then to the next ensuing term thereof and having jurisdiction of cases of the like character Similar notice shall also be given to the district attorney then in office in said county"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Bucks if he is prepared to explain this bill.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I think I am. This bill has been very greatly amended since it was sent to the Senate from the House. As introduced and passed by the House it provided for parole of prisoners in the two penitentiaries of the State upon the expiration of their minimum sentence, and provided further that no prisoner could be sentenced for a greater period as a minimum sentence, than one fourth of the maximum sentence; in other words, if a prisoner were convicted of murder in the second degree and were given the maximum penalty for that crime he would be sentenced to not less than five years or more than twenty years, and under that provision of the bill as it was messaged from the House to the Senate it would then be within the power of the Board of Prison Inspectors to parole that prisoner after the expiration of his minimum sentence of five years. This bill has been amended by the Senate Committee on Judiciary General to raise that minimum sentence from one quarter of the maximum to one half of the maximum sentence, so that under this bill, if it becomes a law, any prisoner being sentenced cannot be sentenced for a greater period than one half of the minimum as compared with the maximum sentence. As introduced and passed by the House it also applies to prisoners now serving sentences. That feature has been entirely eliminated from the bill, so that as it comes before the Senate to-day it applies only to prisoners who shall be sentenced after the passage of this act.

We have also added an amendment to the bill providing that the Board of Prison Inspectors may parole the prisoner after the expiration of his minimum sentence; that notice of intention so to do, or at least a hearing upon application to that effect shall be given to the Judge who tried the case and the District Attorney of the county from which the prisoner came. So that to-day the only change in the present law is a Judge may not impose a minimum sentence greater than one-half of the maximum and notice must be given before a prisoner is paroled by the Board of Prison Inspectors.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I doubt very much whether there has been any time in the history of this great Commonwealth when it was more important that every possible safeguard be placed about the sentences that are imposed in these criminal offences, and in the very time when crime is as rampant in our Commonwealth, it is almost a daily occurrence to pick up a newspaper in any part of the state when you find a crime of one kind or another has been committed. It seems to me it would be a very serious matter to consider the lessening of the safeguards around the penitentiaries. I am one of those who believe that in the feeling of being kind and courteous and providing extraordinary comforts in connection with prison service the mark has probably been overstepped. I really believe that a prison sentence ought to be real punishment, if it is to be effective on those who violate the law, and I for one regret very much that I cannot subscribe to legislation tending to lower the bars and tending to what might be called to a slight degree, a general jail delivery. I hope the bill will not pass.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I am suprised to see this bill on the calendar. I recall upon two occasions when I was present at meetings of the Judiciary General Committee having this bill in charge, when further consideration of it by that committee was indefinitely postponed. The first time that it was reconsidered a full committee was gotten into attendance to further consider the bill and on the second occasion a majority of the Committee agreed to indefinitely postpone further action on the bill.

I have been appealed to by many of the attorney's and judges of the district that I represent in opposition to this bill and it occurs to me of all times in the history of the State of Pennsylvania this is the worst time to pass legislation of this character, when this tremendous wave of crime is passing over the state in every direction. I believe that the judges are the best qualified to know what punishment should be meted out to the criminals who are brought before them for sentence and for the legislature to say that a man who has been convicted of manslaughter, with a maximum sentence of twenty years, all that can be given to him, shall be liberated in ten years, is a mistake and calculated to increase the crime in this Commonwealth. If I had it within my power I would make the sentence longer. You take the dope fiend and the dispenser of dope in the City of Philadelphia, where heavy sentences have been imposed, this bill, if enacted into law will encourage that class of criminals to continue their nefarious practice, on the theory that their sentences will be much lighter. I sincerely hope that this Senate will not place itself on record at this time as favoring legislation of this kind.

Mr. SCHANTZ. I want to say so far as the amendment of the bill is concerned as to notice to District Attorney and the Judges, who tried the case, in many instances when the minimum terms expire the Judge who tried the case and the district attorney who tried the case are no longer in office and the notice sent to the then District Attorney and the then Judge is absolutely futile. They did not try the case and they do not know anything about the facts and are not concerned about the matter.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, I feel that under the circumstances I should speak on this bill, tending to support it and give my fellow Senators the information that I have.

Prehaps you do not realize that you have already passed at this session a parole bill relating to county prisoners, and it has been signed by the Governor, and in that act a petition would have to be presented to the court, not to a Judge in Chambers, and notice to attend be given to the District Attorney who prosecuted the case and a hearing conducted in open court and it then would be up to the court to decide as to whether a prisoner may be paroled or not. Now that relates to county prisoners. In my experience in the District Attorney's office perhaps no one was more hard boiled than I was as far as having punishment meted out to those who were convicted and perhaps it is a misconception sometimes of a District Attorney in the way that he prosecutes the case. There are many who think that he is not human at all and has not any human sympathy for human kind, but at the same item he is performing a duty and I want to say that when a man is sentenced to a maximum sentence of twenty years and a minimum of ten years, and he knows that he is to be confined within the walls of the penitentiary for ten years he has ten years to contemplate, he has ten years to repine and to regret and what hope is there for a man who is sentenced to the penitentiary if he is given by a Judge nineteen years and three hundred and sixty-four days as a punishment when the maximum is twenty years? Now what are we going to do in our penitentiaries? Are we trying to consign these defendents to hell? Is there no hope for the unfortunate fellows? You will appropriate money to these penal institutions to support them and to maintain them and on the other hand you will condemn some poor unfortunate fellow who has had an opportunity to repine. The Scriptural injunction is, that even so far as the vilest sinner is concerned the light holds out to burn that he may return, that he may be forgiven his sins.

This bill hardly alters the present law in any respect at all. The warden has a perfect right when a man has been incarcerated for a period of the minimum punishment, to recommend a parole to the Board of Prison Inspectors, then if they feel that that recommendation is proper, to recommend the parole of the prisoner to the Governor and he has the approval of the parole. This bill does not propose to change that at all. All there is to it is that as far as the minimum punishment is concerned it shall not exceed one half of the maximum punishment and I do not think that I am divulging any secrets or violating the confidence of Judge Monaghan. I have known him many years; he was in my class at the University of Pennsylvania. I consulted him about this bill last evening and with Mrs. Martin, the wife of the President Judge of Philadelphia, and they both agree, that so far as the bill is concerned that they would support it. So far as Judge Monaghan is concerned, he has been sending a number of defendants to prison, he knows the situation and he believes in giving the fellows a chance at the expiration of ten years. The minimum punishment should be ten, and the maximum twenty, and it strikes my mind that that is the way of meeting the situation as we have had it described in the newspapers and the report of the grand jury. Mrs. Martin was forewoman of the grand jury that investigated the Eastern Penitentiary and those people ought to know something about the conditions there, they ought to know something about the prisoners, when they devote their lives to this welfare work. I am in no way in sympathy with those criminologists who think when a person is sentenced to jail that the next day they should be paroled. I believe that they should serve a sufficient length of time so that they may realize in solitude the seriousness of the offence which they have committed. But I do believe so far as the defendants are concerned they ought to be given a chance to reform. Because a man has made a mistake in life should he be condemned forever? It seems to me it is a mistaken attitude that you gentlemen have taken so far as this bill is concerned. Notice is given to the Judge who sentenced the prisoner; notice is given to the District Attorney and the thought that the Judge and District Attorney may be out of office, I call attention to the fact that notice is given to the Judge of the court then sitting and the District Attorney. I have only had one experience where a man was sentenced to the Eastern Penitentiary and I have gone out of office as District Attorney and my successor came to my office and asked what I knew about this man. So then perhaps you forget about it and a man may be paroled when he ought not to be paroled, he may not be paroled under this act unless the Governor consents upon recommendation of the Board of Prison Inspectors, after recommendation by the Warden who is in daily contact with the prisoner. On the other hand you know that the old law allowed commutation for good behavior. If you sentenced a man to twenty years and he behaved himself perhaps he will only serve fourteen or fifteen years under the old law but now he must serve, under this Act, not less than half the punishment. There is a misconception about this bill and I hope the Senators will support this bill because it is meritorious in every respect.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I will not yield in the quality or quantity of the milk of human kindness of my distinguished friend, the Senator from Delaware. I think I possess it to as great a degree as he does and I have sympathy for any man who is unfortunate but we have a condition confronting the State of Pennsylvania to-day in the Eastern Penitentiary, that in my judgment has been brought about largely through this much talked of milk of human kindness in the person of the warden who determined that he would inaugurate an honor system among the criminals in that Institution and it is giving to that class of people too much sympathy. That is most unfortunate, as it leads to increasing this crime wave that is passing over the country to-day and I can not help but feel that the prisoners who know all that is going on in the outside world, by some mysterious method, would only be influence to believe that they should have greater consideration shown by those in charge of the penal institutions by the enactement of this charter of legislation at this particular time and I cannot say that my views have changed in the least by the explanation made by the distinguished Senator from Delaware, and I am still of the opinion that this tremendously bad legislation and I hope the Senate will not subscribe to it.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President and fellow Senators, I have a feeling that for me to attempt to add anything in support of this bill after listening to the eloquent and forcible speech of the Senator from Delaware is almost like painting the lily, or gilding the sunset, and yet it may be that I can add something in support of the bill as it impresses me and I feel I should convey that thought to my fellow Senators. I have the greatest respect for the fine judgment and public spirit of the Senator from Chester and the Senator from Philadelphia, and I know that their desire always is to do those things which shall be for the best possible interest of the Commonwealth, but there are some things we forget in connection with this parole system. Let us assume for the sake of argument, that at the present time there is a crime wave going over the State and that we are shocked every day to learn of increased offenses, but I am wondering whether even the Senator from Chester or the Senator from Philadelphia would be willing to go to the additional length and say that the present time every man sentenced to the penitentiary ought to remain there the full length of his sentence. Does it occur to you and me that a man who has been in prison ten or twelve or fifteen years and who has been sentenced to twenty years may be deserving of the consideration of thoughtful men and ought to be released because of conditions that often arise. Many years ago Tennyson wrote this:

> "I hold it truth, with him who sings
> To one clear harp in divers tongues,
> That men may rise on stepping stones,
> Of their dead selves to higher things"

There came to my office in Philadelphia last week a woman whose son is in the Eastern Penitentiary. He has been there a year and a half. In a moment of thoughtlessness, induced by drink, he committed an offence against the laws of this Commonwealth. He is about eighteen years of age. He is sentenced for five years. The mother pointed out to me that he had no father, that she had brought him up and she had been obliged to work in a department store, she had not given the consideration to him that you and I give to our sons and daughters and the boy has temporarily gone wrong but his heart is not bad, he has realized the error of his ways. There are thousands of men now incarcerated in Penitentiaries who have been there a sufficient length of time to meet the demands of society and who ought to be released. I remember that story of the martyred President Lincoln of a boy who had fallen asleep on duty and he had been sentenced by court martial to be shot. His mother came to the President, she pointed out to the President that it was true the boy had violated the law of war, but that consideration was due him. Mr. Lincoln left his post at the Executive seat at Washington and went down to the front where General Grant was then leading the Army of the Potomac. He interviewed the boy and found out that that boy had been on continuous duty for four nights. With tears streaming down his face the Great President of the United States sat down and wrote a pardon for that boy. Time after time things come up where men are incarcerated in prison that lead you and me to the conclusion that they have served enough in the way of punishment and, consistent with the laws of the Commonwealth and the demands of society, those men have reached the point where they are to be released. Now under this bill what happens? A man cannot be released on his application for pardon until he has served one-half of his time. He goes to the Board of Prison Inspectors, the men who are in close touch with the penitentiary, who consider the facts of his particular case. The District Attorney is notified, the Judge who sentenced him is notified, and after all those things have gone through with, if they consider that he is a worthy case for commutation of his sentence, then he goes with the report of the prison inspectors to the Governor of the Commonwealth and he further considers the case. And all those safeguards are thrown around this matter of commutation of the sentence of prisoners.

I was tremenduously impressed last week in conversation with the Senator from Westmoreland, who outlined to us the story of two boys who had committed murder some years ago. He refused to present a petition for the parole of those prisoners for their pardon until several years had gone by, and when that time had expired it seemed to him that those young men had served long enough, that the door of hope ought not to be closed upon them, but the great wide world held out to them opportunities for citizenship, opportunities for making men out of the poor things they previously had been. He presented a petition and the Board of Pardons pardoned those men, and gave them a chance to go forth and make a place for themselves. This bill cannot de harm and it may do tremendous good and it seems to me that thoughtflly considered we ought to support the bill.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Stites, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, may I ask further whether I understood the Senator from Montgomery to say that a pardon application could not be made until a prisoner had served half of his sentence?

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, no I did not mean to convey that impression.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, then I would ask the Senator from Montgomery further whether or not the Pardon Board was not created for the very purpose of making application for young men such as he has cited, as referred to by the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Weaver?

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I think that is true.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I desire to ask whether the Pardon Board is not the proper place to take under consideration any prisoner who may have been too severely sentenced by the Court.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I would answer that question by saying that I think the Board of Prison Inspectors in the penitentiary, men who are directly on the ground and are in a better position, together with the judge who sentenced him, to pass upon the question whether or not he ought to be paroled.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, then I ask the Senator from Montgomery further whether or not in his judgment this law should be enacted, and a law enacted wiping out the Board of Pardons?

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I would hesitate to go to the length of saying to the Senator from Chester that the Board of Pardons should be wiped out, I think it serves a very useful function in the Commonwealth.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, just one word in reference to this bill. There is at present a parole law and the argument made by the Senator from Delaware and the Senator from Montgomery is applicable to the present law. The bill before the Senate has but one effect, it limits the right of a judge to sentence prisoners. If a defendant is guilty of murder in the second degree the law says he shall receive a maximum of twenty years and the Court at the present time is allowed to use some discretion as to whether he shall receive twenty years or less. This bill limits the Court in this respect that the minimum sentence may not be more than ten years, carrying out the effect of limiting that Court's discretion to a ten year period rather than a twenty year period, because it was the intention of the framers of this bill to put in the hands of the inspectors of the prison the discretion that now is vested in the Court. It was intended as a jail delivery bill. That particular feature has now been eliminated, and we are advised to this effect, that a man who commits murder in the second degree at the present time, if this bill becomes a law, is very probably going to serve a ten year period instead of a twenty year period.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I am going to take up just a minute of time. It seems that those who are opposed to this bill are continually talking about murder in the second degree. Is it their idea that this bill would not apply to all other offenses? I wonder if we realize that the men and women who are sent to penitentiaries are mere boys or girls, men from seventeen to twenty-three or twenty-four or twenty-five years and that this applies not only to a question of murder in the second degree, but it applies to sentences in all cases where they are sent there for a few years or for a long period of time. The emphasis has been placed on this matter of second degree murder in cases where a jury made a mistake and convicted a man of second degree murder when he should have been convicted of first degree murder. That is an isolated case gentlemen, and ought not to be controlling this matter. This bill applies to all crimes. We get the idea sometimes that because a boy has been convicted of theft, perhaps, then he is a thief, that he ceases to be a human being. We want to remember that he still is a human being, he has the same loves and habits and aspirations that those men who were not convicted have and ought to have an opportunity in life. This bill will hasten the time when he may be given an opportunity. You do not prevent crimes by harsh punishment. I have had several years experience as a District Attorney, and I have had occasion to try men for murder. I am sorry in a way to say that I convicted a man of murder and capital punishment was inflicted upon him. I have always thought that there was sort of a feeling against the defendant, which ought not to exist, with the idea that he ceases to be human. How many of us are there in this Senate who perhaps may have done something for which we might have been imprisoned? It seems to me that we ought to think about that. We cannot tell when some young man or boy, under certain circumstances, has committed a crime, and he certainly ought not to be branded for his entire life. He may have good in him, and if he is given a chance may make a good citizen. This bill, while it insists upon him being punished somewhat, yet it gives him an opportunity to get out in a reasonable time and still make a splendid citizen.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I hope the Senate will indulge me for a few moments. In looking over the Philadelphia papers this morning I find a whole column of cases which occurred yesterday. It should not go out through the Commonwealth and through the country that this great State of Pennsylvania lets down the bars to criminals of all classes. Here in Philadelphia we have one of the most energetic judges, I believe, who ever sat upon the bench, and for more than two months he sat there making investigations as to the extent of the drug traffic; many heavy sentences were imposed, in order that there would be due notice served on the crooks of the Commonwealth. My distinguished colleague from Delaware, a few moments ago used the name of this distinguished jurist and he quoted him as saying he was for this bill. I want the Senator to know that within the last fifteen minutes Judge Monaghan of Philadelphia, has said he was against this bill, Senate Bill No. 899, and I hope the Senate will defeat this bill.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, in order that there may be no misunderstanding in this matter, as I undertsand it, if a man is released he is still under parole and he is still in charge of the prison inspectors. He is not turned loose. If he violates any of the provisions of his parole he is immediately brought back into prison, so that he is not turned loose in the community without having at least a string on him. He must behave himself properly or go back to jail.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I just want to say that within the last ten days I heard Judge Monaghan make a public declaration in the Governor's reception room, in the presence of the heads of the Committees on Appropriation, to Mrs. Martin and the Governor, that he very much questioned the wisdom of the parole proposition as it was there advocated by Dr. Potter, and along the lines indicated in this bill, and said he very much questioned the wisdom of the program.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, unfortunately the name of Judge Monaghan has been drawn into this contest and ought not to have been drawn in in the way it now appears to be. Judge Monaghan made a statement prior to the amendment of the bill. I understand just exactly how Judge Monaghan feels about it. Last night in my presence and in the presence of Senator Buckman and Mrs. Martin he told me that he would not have any objection to this bill as amended, provided notice would be given to the judges and to the district attorneys, and I reiterate what I said that Judge Monaghan told me he was not opposing this bill. I would like also to ask, gentlemen of the Senate, if you think the parole system is defective and should be condemned when immediately after the great world war was started, in which we participated, there were nearly three hundred of the boys in the Eastern Penitentiary paroled who entered the service, in the army or the navy, and the blood of some of those boys saturated the fields of France so that the blood in their hearts might make democracy safe again. Was anything wrong with the parole system when that thing transpired and they were recommended for parole by the Board of Prison Inspectors, when three hundred of those boys were willing to sacrifice their lives for their country? They were confined within the walls of the Eastern Penitentiary and yet they were willing to stand up along side of the other boys to do their bit. Can you condemn the parole system and thus defeat this bill today?

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, this is the bill known as the Boxing Bill. Now I am not opposed to boxing, nor boxing exhibitions, when they are conducted properly, but this bill commercializes boxing, provides for paid admissions, and it is my firm contention that it is one of those things that cannot be regulated properly. I believe that if this bill becomes an Act of Assembly that it will lead to conditions that will be brutalizing, lead to such a condition of things that we will be compelled to repeal it. At the hearing on this bill one of the speakers who opposed it told that three Governors of New York, at three different times, were compelled to have a bill passed repealing the boxing bill.

I do not intend to indulge in a long speech, but I want to bring to your attention and to your ears the voice of one that has passed away, one for whom we all had great respect, I want to quote from Theodore Roosevelt on the boxing bill that they had in New York state. No one enjoyed wholesome manual sport more than Theodore Roosevelt, and it has been said that he encouraged boxing and he encouraged that sort of sport. But this is what he says: "When I was Police Commissioner I heartily approved the efforts to get boxing in New York on a humane basis. Later I was reluctantly obliged to come to the conclusion that the prize ring had become hopelessly debased and demoralized and as Governor I aided in the passage of and signed a bill that put a stop to professional boxing for money."

Mr. President, and Gentlemen of the Senate, I dislike to see such a measure as this placed upon our statute books. I believe you will all regret it, because when you have exhibitions for money you cannot control them and it will bring disgrace upon our great state. It will not serve a good purpose, and if this bill is passed, and becomes a law, I take it, that in a very short time you will be compelled to repeal it, but you will not be able to remove the stain caused by placing this bill on the statute books.

Mr. MacDADE. Mr. President, and fellow-Senators, it is my intention to support this bill but I would like to get myself on record as to why I am going to support it, and I think it will be of interest to you gentlemen. I do not like to inflict upon you all the time that I served Delaware County as District Attorney, but I received information that a prize fight was about to take place in our county. It was so advertised and it was my desire to prohibit it. Unfortunately I did not have the cooperation of some of the other authorities that I thought ought to have had and I came to Harrisburg and interviewed Governor Pennypacker, and he and I entered into a pledge that we would not discuss the matter publicly or give information to the newspapers, because the Governor did not seem to be getting along very well with the editorial writers in the newspapers and we waited until the psychological moment, until those managers had sold the house out, the night before, and then the Governor issued the orders to the state constabulary superintendent to go to Downingtown and close the joint, which was done. The fight did not take place and the good name of Pennsylvania was redeemed, Senator Snyder, but nevertheless they were giving contests there, twenty rounds, fifteen and ten, and with all the main sports of the country congregating in Delaware County without police protection, with the exception of a constable who had only one eye. They came in from New York on special trains, and men were robbed, had stick pins taken from them, pocket books gone, some of them assaulted, boys congregated there under sixteen and eighteen years of age, a disorderly place with no protection, no police regulation at all, and at that time I asked some gentlemen who were then leaders in this Senate, leaders in the State of Pennsylvania, if you want to have boxing in Pennsylvania and put it on a high standard, then have a commission in the State of Pennsylvania, and I asked Senator McNichol at that time to put such a bill through, I asked Senator Durham, but unfortunately it was late in the session and it was not done. So, therefore, having advocated at one time that there should be a commission, because I believe a commission can better regulate this work than the way it is going now and particularly with the amendment in this bill, that as far as any city, borough or other municipality may be concerned that they do not have to have these contests if they will pass an ordinance or resolution prohibiting the same in their local district, so therefore it is local option and I am strongly for local option.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1162, (House Bill No. 81), on third reading, entitled:

An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive judicial and legislative departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I hope this motion will not prevail until I have at least had an opportunity to submit an amendment that I desire to have put in this bill, and I am going to ask that the motion be defeated until I have had a chance to move that the Senate do now go into Committee of the Whole to consider the amendment.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I hope that the motion that I made will prevail, and that the bill will be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for further amendment, and after we are finally through with it if there are any further attempts to amend that is the pleasure of the Senate.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, then I shall speak upon the motion to recommit. As the Senate very well knows, the time for the consideration of motions of any kind, or any bills, is rapidly drawing to a close. This bill does not carry with it the appropriation of $250,000 desired for the enforcement of the laws of the Commonwealth.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, will state his point of order.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I object to a discussion of any matter except germane to the motion to recommit.

The PRESIDENT. The point is well taken. The Senator will confine his remarks to the motion to recommit.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, in view of the fact that the bill as reported from the Committee on Appropriations does not give any consideration to that item, it seems to me, therefore, that this bill should not be referred to the Committee on Appropriations until the Senators have had an opportunity on the floor at this time to submit such amendments as will be necessary to probably carry out the business of the Commonwealth during the next two years. If this bill is now referred again to the Committee on Appropriations we shall have no opportunity between now and the session tomorrow to offer the necessary amendments to carry out the desires of the Chief Executive in the enforcement of the laws during the next two years. Therefore I shall ask the Senators to vote against the motion in order that the Senate may now have an opportunity to submit such amendments as may be necessary and in order that we shall not be pressed for time. It is an important bill, the general appropriation bill, and such amendments as we deem necessary for our particular constituents and for the people of the Commonwealth should be considered.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, so far as the item of time is concerned it is all one. This bill was reported out of committee on Monday night, waited a day to get it from the printer, and we got it last midnight. We have been working on it, we went over it carefully and discovered a number of errors which have to be corrected, and it is for the purpose of making those corrections that we desire to have the bill recommitted, after whic hit will come back and it will then be the pleasure of the Senate to do with it what they please.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, may I ask whether or not the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, has any idea that this bill will come back from the Committee on Appropriations at today's session?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I certainly do.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I am entirely satisfied that the motion shall go through.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I want to say in answer to the question of the Senator from Montgomery that I would not do such a contemptible thing as to hold back the general appropriation bill until tomorrow, the day on which no bills can be passed. This bill will come back to the Senate just as speedily as possible.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I just want to say to the Senator from Lehigh, who is very jealous of personal prerogatives and always very anxious to put himself in the proper light and the light that he should be on the floor of this Senate, that I accord him every courtesy and I think the Senator from Lehigh ought to understand that there was no intention on my part of charging him with any attempt to delay the bill, or anything of the sort. I simply desire that this Senate shall have the opportunity to present to that bill, a very important bill, such amendments as are desired. I make this statement because the Senator from Lehigh has suggested that some personal offense was intended by the Senator from Montgomery. It certainly was not.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to,

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1097, (House Bill No. 936), entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. LONG. Mr. President. I ask unanimous consent to amend Section 2, page 4, line 4, by striking out the word "one-half" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "three-fourths"; also line 5, by striking out the figures "(½%)" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "(¾%)"

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I wish very much, as this is one of the revenue measures and the bill will have to go to a conference with the house and these are some typographical errors that will necessarily have to be made that will be made by conference committee, it seems to me it would be better, if you are going to pass this bill, to pass it now and have the amendments made in conference committee.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I presume the Chair will permit me to answer. This amendment which I propose, gentlemen, is to change the one half per cent to three quarters of one per cent. This purports to be an emergency bill. If it is an emergency bill this one-half per cent will not cover the emergency. If it goes through as a half percent it means that the appropriations to your charitable institutions and your educational institutions, all those things practically will be cut to the core. This bill will not provide sufficient money to apply to the budget as the Governor proposed. I would be perfectly satisfied, of course, if it would be possible to make this amendment in conference committee but it seems to me that the conference committee would be a poor place to insist on such an amendment. I just want to throw that idea out and see what you think about it in that light.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, of course I made objection to unanimous consent for amendment at this time, yet we want to be entirely liberal in this matter. I think if a matter of the raising the amount of revenue, if that question was to have been raised, it ought to have been thrashed out in the Finance Committee, but if this is a question of a higher rate of revenue that is going to be raised, if that is the amendment I would withdraw my objections and allow the Senate to determine.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I sincerely hope that this amendment will not prevail. The Finance Committee of the Senate spent practically all day yesterday with representatives of the Attorney General's Department and with Mr. Fertig, of the Legislative Reference Bureau, getting this bill in shape, and they believe that the bill is now in the shape that will yield twenty million dollars, approximately, the amount that has been requested, under which the state can properly function. I am authorized by the Secretary of His Execllency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, to say that this is not in conformity with his views, to raise the millage in this bill, and that, in conjunction with the views of the Finance Committee, I sincerely hope the Senate will vote down this amendment and pass the bill in the form in which it now stands.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I just want to call the Senate's attention to this matter. I have consulted the same people apparently that the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, has and we all know that the Governor will sign the appropriation bill within thirty days after the adjournment of this Senate. The figures that we have, the figures that he is depending upon, are such as will cause him to cut down the appropriations to the hospitals and higher institutions of learning to the core, and this bill will only provide for the things that we spoke of in the budget which we know and to which we all apparently agreed, that the appropriation for many of these things ought to be increased. If he cuts down the appropriation you cannot raise the amount. That is the situation. If this bill does not raise more revenue according to the figures that they have and the appropriations will be cut down, the tendency will be, of course, against the number of new roads and all of those things will be serious. It seems to me, if this amendment is passed, you have to have a conference committee at any rate, then perhaps there may be some agreement, there may be some change. It certainly will not hurt the bill at all to have this amendment written into it and then we will be in shape at least to take care of the situation. I feel very confident of my position in this matter, gentlemen, and I am sure that all of us want to provide for the Commonwealth sufficient revenue for the emergencies that have arisen and supply sufficient revenue to carry along the activities of the State government. The present revenue bills that are proposed will not do it and it is wisdom, it seems to me, as the Board of Directors of this great Commonwealth, to make provisions for the Executive of the Commonwealth. This provision will do that. Anything substantially less will not do it.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

Mr. LONG. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the question?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I hope the motion of the Senator from Franklin, Mr. Long, will not prevail. This bill has been well studied by the Senator from Chester, was carefully considered as it came from the House, my recollection is that the bill now contains approximately one million six hundred thousand dollars more than it did originally, and therefore, the few amendments we have placed in the bill by the Senate in no wise impairs the usefullness of the bill The sum total, as I understand was one million six hundred thousand dollars more, approximately, more than were in the bill when it came from the House and we did desire to see that the administration had sufficient funds to carry out his unexpected expenses. I believe this bill is in its very best shape at present and I hope the motion of the Senator will not prevail.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was not agred to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time and agreed to

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STINEMAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I have the honor of representing one of the largest industrial districts in the State of Pennsylvania. Ninety per cent of my people oppose any increase in taxation. Should I vote for this increase it would be misrepresenting my constitutents. I feel the revenues now coming in under present taxes are abundent if prudently employed.

All the essential obligations of the State could be met were its resources honestly conserved and wisely applied. New and higher taxes are merely a confession of the extravagence and recklessness which are being continued under the present administration. I trust the Senate will defeat this bill.

Mr. STINEMAN. Mr. President and Members of the good friend, Senator Stineman's constituency, so far as the rank and file of his constituency are concerned, are going to be hurt very much by the passage of this bill. This bill is a tax of five mills on the net profits of corporations and the individual is only going to be affected in a very indirect way, and it is an emergency tax only extending over a period of two years. I think that every member of this Senate, as well as the House, is interested enough to realize that some more revenue is necessary and when we adopted this program, as we have, of this net profit tax and the gasoline tax, and some other revenue measures, to take care of the situation, we believe that we are fully doing our duty, and yet at the same time are going to take care of the situation in Pennsylvania. I know that the Senators realize the situation and I trust that this bill will have unanimous support.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. T. L. Eyre) in the Chair.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1551, (House Bill No. 710), entitled:

An Act to provide for the selection and purchase of a tract of land and the erection thereon of buildings for an Eastern State Penitentiary making an appropriation therefor and directing the sale of the site now occupied by the State Penitentiary and the buildings and materials thereon

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, in 1915 the Legislature of Pennsylvania enacted this law:

Whereas, By authority of law, a large tract of land in Centre County has been acquired by the Commonwealth, for the purpose of establishing thereon the Western Penitentiary, with a view of giving the inmates thereof abundant employment in healthful outdoor occupations, and rendering the institution largely self-supporting; and

Whereas, The said tract of land is situated near to the center of the State, and is of ample area to justify the establishment thereon of a penitentiary of sufficient capacity to provide for the inmates of the Eastern Penitentiary as well as the said Western Penitentiary; and

Whereas, The Eastern Penitentiary is located in a district which has become closely built up, so that the inmates thereof have no opportunity for farming or other useful or healthful outdoor employment, but must of necessity be kept largely in idleness to their own physical and moral injury; and

Whereas, The combination of the said Eastern Penitentiary and the Western Penitentiary in one institution, under one management, would tend to uniformity and efficiency as well as to great economy in administration; therefore—

Section 1. Be it enacted, &c., That the plans for the buildings of the new Western Penitentiary in Centre County be so modified as to provide larger or additional buildings, or both, as the board in charge thereof and the Governor may approve, of sufficient capacity for the accomodation of the present and the future inmates of the Eastern Penitentiary as well as of the Western Penitentiary; and that all provisions, in erecting and constructing the buildings upon said tract of land in Centre County, be made with a view of the future accommodation therein of all inmates of both said penitentiaries and the future operation thereof as one institution.

Section 2. Upon the completion of the said buildings, the inmates of the said Eastern Penitentiary as well as the inmates of the said Western Penitentiary shall be transferred to the said institution, whereupon the said institution shall become and be known as the Pennsylvania State Penitentiary. The said consolidation shall take effect when the said buildings shall be completed, which shall be ascertained by the Governor and announced by proclamation. Thereupon, and until further provision shall be made by law, the inspectors of said Eastern Penitentiary and the inspectors of said Western Penitentiary shall together constitute the board of inspectors of said Pennsylvania State Penitentiary, and shall manage the said institution under such regulations, consistent with law, as they, with the approval of the Governor, may adopt.

Section 3. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

Mr. President, by virtue of that legislation as well as prior legislation, the State of Pennsylvania to day owns in Centre county six thousand acres of land, the finest spot in the State of Pennsylvania, for the purpose of housing and accommodating penitentiary inmates. There is all the fresh water, the good air, tillable land and the stone quarries, and everything else necessary, or that can be found anywhere for the location, and construction and maintenance of penitentiaries. Under this plan since 1915 we have been progressive and moving. At the present time we are erecting there a large building. It is true that trouble exists in the Eastern Penitentiary. This bill will provide going outside of the city of Philadelphia and buying a new tract of land and instituting and organizing a new penitentiary. I say that this bill affords absolutely no relief for the conditions now existing in the Eastern Penitentiary. Until the land is bought, until the site is found, and the contract made and the purchase consummated, and until you have there constructed a penitentiary and housing conditions to empty the congested condition now existing in the Eastern Penitentiary, and all trouble will have evaporated. There is not a better plan can be proposed by any one than the continuation and carrying out of this plan under which the State has been working ever since the passage of the act of 1915. The State of Pennsylvania cannot afford every few years to change its penitentiary plans. This bill makes an immediate appropriation of three hundred thousand dollars to go out and select a site and start operations. The bill says that ultimately the cost of this Eastern Penitentiary will be a million and a quarter dollars. I say to you until that Eastern Penitentiary is completed it will cost the State two million and a quarter dollars, if that is adequate. We have made all the appropriations that we can make for the immediate relief of the congested condition of the Eastern Penitentiary. We have passed laws permitting and authorizing the transfer of the present inmates of the Eastern Penitentiary to other institutions, even so far as to county prisons, I have told the Department and they fully understand it,—and this is only an illustration, because there are many other counties in the State of Pennsylvania similarly situated;—only a few years ago Lehigh County erected a magnificent and commodious addition to the Lehigh County prison and there is not an inmate in it, all the prisoners are in the old part of the prison and there is room for more. A few years ago the State of Pennsylvania launched on a similar wild goose chase. We went down here and purchased five or six hundred acres of land for the erection of a certain institution. The farm land is rented away and it is doing us no good, I do not think the State realizes a cent. We went over there with the people understood all the conditions of the Eastern Penitentiary and we looked over the farm and everybody agreed that this site would be inadequate and not a suitable site for an Eastern Penitentiary. There is tied up an appropriation of one hundred and seven thousand dollars in connection with this tract. We passed two bills, transferring that one hundred and seven thousand dollars for the immediate relief of the situation. The Governor said to me "Pass no laws and I will use my best judgment." The first bill transferred one hundred and seven thousand dollars, which is the Centre county institution, for the erection of temporary buildings there to furnish accomodations to send more inmates to Rockview; and the second transferred one hundred and seven thousand dollars for the purpose of permitting the erection of stockades in Philadelphia on the property of the House of Correction. So there is one hundred and seven thousand dollars available to the administration for either of the two purposes that may be found to be most feasible. With the laws that we have passed for the immediate relief for the transfer of prisoners and everything else, we have done everything we can to alleviate conditions in the Eastern Penitentiary to-day. It is not a bill that will help one iota the present congested condition. It simply means that you will disrupt and set aside the plans which were adopted in 1915 and under which we have been proceeding ever since, and that you will see we will have two penitentiaries, one in Centre county and one in the Eastern part of Pennsylvania.

I have attended many hearings on this proposition and have had many private interviews and the only argument that they can produce why we should not continue with the plan in Centre county is that it is too far removed from Philadelphia and too inconvenient for relatives of the inmates to visit them. I am not much of a sentimentalist and I do not think it is the duty of the State to erect Penitentiaries near the homes of the relatives of the inmates and supply them with all the luxuries which they do not have and never enjoyed in their private life; and, therefore, to me that argument counts for nought, that it is far removed. I say these criminals should be far removed from all metropolies, that they should be far away from the city of Philadelphia and the city of Pittsburgh, and there, on those six thousand acres, is the solution for the State of Pennsylvania. I trust the Senators will vote down this bill and so will continue the plan outlined in 1915, and then erect in Centre county a complete building, one Penitentiary, which shall be known as the "Pennsylvania Penitentiary" where all penitentiary inmates shall be housed.

Mr. DAIX. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate: I well recall when this bill came up for passage that we established in Centre County a penitentiary which would relieve the Eastern and the Western Penitentiaries and I recall my esteemed friend from Lehigh County discussed the matter at that time. When the bill that passed at that time was before the Senate there was a bitter and hot debate and the question at that time came up to place the penitentiary in Centre County and why not have it nearer either the Eastern or Western. True enough it may be irrelevant to speak about those times now, because it did pass, but there was a sentiment then, even as sentiment exists today, that we did not want the penitentiary to far removed from the ends of the state. While sentiment may not play any part, sentiment upon the floor of the Senate has played a great part today. We have heard the Senator from Delaware speak about the milk of human kindness and we have heard from the Senator from Montgomery County the beautiful story about Abraham Lincoln. But for my part I believe the touch of human nature goes too far in this discussion. Mr. President, I do not care where you place the penitentiary, how long you may keep the man in it or what parole you may plan. It is not that that makes the better man, it is the human touch, the brotherhood of mankind that makes the better man and we are wrong in thinking that not far away from the Eastern Penitentiary that we establish this place for the purpose of giving access as a rule it is generally those who do not have a chance to give them an opportunity that they have there in so doing. True enough my friend has brought up, from a practical point of view, why spend all this money? Undoubtedly he has read this bill, and on the last page of the bill it states that where the present Eastern Penitentiary is located they are going to sell the present site and the money obtained from that, located in one of the central sections of the City of Philadelphia, will come funds to help to pay for this new ground. It likewise states here in the bill that, as far as practical, the inmates of the Eastern Penitentiary are to be allowed to help build this new state home. Probably under the former administration of the Eastern Penitentiary they did not have the same trouble if the warden there had not been compelled to erect wards, erect passage ways, erect different matters pertaining to mechanical lines, and it was done for the purpose of giving these men something to do. Idle hands and idle minds do only one thing, they support mischief every time, and, therefore, I cannot see, from a monetary point of view, where the State of Pennsylvania will be at a loss if the money is taken that is realized from the present site of the Eastern Penitentiary and applied to the new site.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair desires to inform the members of the Senate that this motion to go into Committee of the Whole, if agreed to, carries the amendment with it.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, do I understand the Chair to say that adopting the motion to go into the Committee of the Whole is also adoting the amendment?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Lehigh that agreeing to the motion also carries with it the special amendment.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, that is a two-fold proposition, acting as a Committee of the Whole in itself and acting on the resolution. In view of the ruling of the Chair I move that the Senator from Bucks, Mr. Buckman, be elected to preside over the Committee of the Whole.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, that the motion to go into Committee of the Whole has not yet been agreed to.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, no; you ruled that the adoption of the motion is at the same time the adoption of the question to be considered by the Committee of the Whole. I move that the motion be laid on the table.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I withdraw the motion I made, with the consent of the seconder, that we go into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment, in view of the fact that it is desired by other Senators to offer amendments to correct this bill. The bill is a very important one and I, therefore, withdraw that motion, with the consent of the seconder.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I agree to the withdrawal of the motion.

The PRESIDENT. The motion that the Senate resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment is withdrawn.

Mr. STITES. Mr. President, I now move that the Senate resolve itself into Committee of the Whole for the purpose of general amendment.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Bucks Mr. Buckman, will take the Chair.

Mr. BUCKMAN in the Chair.

Mr. BUCKMAN. The Committee of the Whole has before it for general amendment Senate Bill No. 1162, House Bill No. 81, entitled:

An Act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the executive judicial and legislative departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close o the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three

Mr. STITES. Mr. Chairman, I move to amend the bill as follows: Amend Section 2, page 3, by adding after line 8, the folowing paragraph: "for the payment of expenses incurred by and under the direction of the Governor for the enforcement of the laws of this Commonwealth two years, the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Chairman, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. Chairman, I trust that this amendment will not prevail. The hour of final adjournment of the General Assembly has been fixed for twelve o'clock noon tomorrow. This bill was reported out of Committee on Monday night. It came up from the printer last night about midnight. This morning it was recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations for amendment, within fifteen minutes re-reported to the Senate and again sent to the printer for those corrections. We have just now received it again full of errors. The question involved in the motion made by the Senator from Montgomery was thoroughly threshed out in the House, both in Committee on Appropriations and in the Committee of the Whole of the House and was decisively defeated. I have gone far beyond the pleasure of the House in making additions to this bill. This bill, as it came from the House to the Senate, carried eighty-one million, six hundred and sixty-eight thousand six hundred and ninety-three dollars in appropriations. We have added thereto already one million two hundred and fifty-six thousand dollars, making the bill now, approximately, amounting to eighty-three million dollars, in round figures eighty-two million nine hundred and twenty-four dollars and sixty-nine cents. I have yielded to the request of the administration and inserted in this bill an item of seventy-five thousand dollars additional for the Department of Public Welfare, which was more decisively defeated in the House than the question embodied in the motion. I yielded to the request of the administration and inserted in this bill an item of eighty thousand dollars for expenditures of the teachers retirement fund, another item which was decisively defeated in the House. The Governor in his Budget recommended to the Attorney General the sum of one hundred and eighty thousand dolars. We did give the one hundred and eighty thousand dollars and of the two hundred and fifty thousand dollars now requested the sum of sixty-nine thousand six hundred dollars, so that the appropriation now carried in this bill to the Attorney General is sixty-nine thousand six hundred dollars beyond the amount requested by the Governor in his Budget outside of the two hundred and fifty thousand dollar item. The appropriation now in the bill for the Attorney General, instead of being one hundred and eighty thousand dollars, as recommended by the Governor, is two hundred and forty-nine thousand six hundred dollars. Therefore, if you adopt this motion you will pyramid upon the sixty-nine thousand six hundred dollars an additional quarter million dollars. We contend that it is absolutely unnecessary, that ample provision has been made in this bill for all legitimate purposes and that we have already gone far beyond what the House will agree to and that if you adopt this resolution and add this two hundred and fifty thousand dollars, gentlemen, let me say to you that beyond the shadow of a doubt you will get into a jam with this bill that we do not know where we are going to get off. Now I respectfully submit, in all sincerity, that in view of the concessions that were made, going far beyond the consent of the House in inserting items into this bill to the amount of one million two hundred fifty-six thousand dollars, everybody should be satisfied, in order that this bill may not be jammed in a mess where we cannot get out, and let the bill stand as it is. We are going to have enough trouble with it then. If there is any good faith in this request it certainly should be only for the difference between two hundred and fifty thousand dollars and sixty-nine thousand six hundred dollars, because that is in it already. I sincerely ask the Senate to vote down the resolution and to be content with what the Committee on Appropriations has already done by yielding sixty-nine thousand six hundred dollars on the same proposition, and send the bill back to the House as it now is before you.

Mr. STITES. Mr. Chairman and fellow Senators: A few weeks ago the Senate of Pennsylvania put itself upon record on a very important question. That question involved the fundamental subject of whether or not the State of Pennsylvania would array itself on the side of the Constitution of the United States and join with the Federal Government in enforcing the laws of the United States. The voice of the Senate was uttered in not uncertain tones by an overwhelming majority deciding that the Eighteenth Amendment in the State of Pennsylvania meant something, that it meant something not only because it was on the statute books but that the Senate of Pennsylvania was determined that every agency that the State could give to the Federal Government in enforcing that law should be employed. It follows as a matter of course that you cannot make an omelet without breaking the eggs. If this law is to be enforced the government of Pennsylvania and the proper officers of the Commonwealth need funds for the enforcement of that law. The bootlegger to-day in the State of Pennsylvania is a common scandal on everybody's tongue. The Federal enforcement officers are unable to meet the situation. It is a matter of further common knowledge that almost every day enforcement officers are approached with all sorts of bribes to wink at the law and to enable the bootlegger, who now rides around in his expensive limousine, to ply his trade irrespective of the laws of the Commonwealth and the laws of the United States. The average common citizen who works at his daily task is satisfied to go home to his wife and children on Saturday night, having earned a legitmate pay for honest work of a constructive character. The bootlegger plies his trade in tearing down the laws of the Commonwealth and the laws of the United States and grows independently wealthy within the confines of this Commonwealth when he plies his devious and nefarious trade. The Governor of Pennsylvania, with high-minded purpose, has gone on record to the effect that in enforcing the law he proposes, if he is able to do it, to employ every agency of the Commonwealth in the enforcement of the laws of the United States. Now we are confronted to-night with that situation. The Senate of Pennsylvania said to the people of the United States that Pennsylvania has allied herself with the federal government in an effort to enforce the laws of the United States. President Harding only reecntly called a Congress of Governors to aid him in the enforcement of the law. We are now confronted with the proposition of whether or not we propose to join hands with the President of the United States and the Governor of Pennsylvania in providing the funds necessary to enforce that law. Great bootlegger organizations are shaping themselves for the next national election. The question is going to be seriously before the people of the United States whether they propose at the next election to support a President who will commit himself to the carrying out of the provisions of the Constitution, or vote for a President offered by some bootlegger party who, either openly or covertly, takes the position that the Constitution of the United States does not mean all that we have said it did in the days gone by, and carry the United States into a new course of adventure. I sometimes wonder whether the most important thing confronting the American People to-day is not respect for old traditions and old customs and respect for law. It seems that in material things we have everything the world needs, we have three quarters of the gold of the world in the United States, when we desire efficiency in business affairs we lead the whole world, no other nation no combination of nations could defeat the United States mechanically in any kind of contest and the United States of America—

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order.

The CHAIRMAN. The Senator from Lehigh, Mr. Schantz, will state his point of order.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. Chairman, the question before the Committee of the Whole is an amendment providing for the payment of expenses incurred by and under the direction of the Governor for the enforcement of the laws of this Commonwealth, for two years, the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. There is not a word in it about traditions or any foreign country, and I respectfully submit that the Senator is not debating the question before the house.

The CHAIRMAN. The Senator from Montgomery will confine himself to the amendment under consideration.

Mr. STITES. Mr. Chairman, I have found the Senator from Lehigh so fair in matters of debate that it has not been his custom to interrupt. The Senator from Montgomery, if the Chair please, was speaking strictly upon the question involved in this case, which is the enforcement of the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and one of those laws, if the Chair please, is the law passed by the Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania having to do with the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, and the Senator from Montgomery is speaking directly upon that point, the Senator from Lehigh to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. Chairman, I said one of the very serious questions confronting the people of the United States was whether or not we intend to observe that respect for law and order which has always distinguished the American people. We cannot be beaten by anybody from the outside. If we are ever beaten we will beat ourselves from the inside and we will do it by tearing down the laws that officers are sworn to defend. The great better judgment of the people in the United States is that law should be enforced, and the great judgement of the people of Pennsylvania is that law should be enforced. I have no quarrel with people who differ on the wisdom, or lack of wisdom, of the liquor business. I am not disturbed by the fact that it is hard to enforce that law. We tried in a single moment almost to change the customs and habits of people acquired over centuries of time. It may take us a generation to reach the result that we want, but these moral reforms always work out in the end, because they are right, and the Governor of Pennsylvania has made himself secure in his position by insisting that this thing is essentially right and if it is right the people of Pennsylvania and their sworn officers must range themselves upon the side of that thing which appeals to the conscience and to the judgment of all right-thinking men and women. You are asking now to vote down a proposition of offering the Governor of Pennsylvania the means of carrying out the laws of this Commonwealth as they relate themselves to the laws of the United States. Pennsylvania is today a great battle-ground, a great battle-ground because on one side are arrayed these forces that want to aid boot-legging and want to aid those who openly or covertly tear down the law and on the other side are arrayed those citizens who believe that the Constitution of the United States and the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are supreme and ought to be followed. The great common sense judgment of the people always prevails in the end. I sometimes have referred, in talking on the floor of this Senate, to that poet Tennyson, who many years ago, almost three generations ago, wrote that great poem "Locksley Hall", and he said this:

> "For I dipped into the future, far as human eye could see,
> Saw the vision of the world and the wonder that should be,
> Saw the heavens filled with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
> Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;
> Heard the heavens filled with shouting, and there rained a gastly dew,
> From the noaions' airy navies grappling in the central blue,
> Far along the world wide whisper of the south wind rushing warm,
> With the standards of the people plunging through the thunder storm;
> Till the war-drum throbbed no longer, and the battle flags were furled
> In the parliament of man, the federation of the world;
> There the common sense of most shall hold a fretful realm in awe,
> And the gentle earth shall slumber lap't in universal law."

And I wonder whether that great English poet saw the day when the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and its law-enforcing agencies would range themslves on the side of justice, truth and right. The Senate of Pennsylvania today will reflect credit upon itself if it says to the Governor of Pennsylvania, "You are sworn to enforce the law, the Senate of Pennsylvania proposes to aid you by every means within its power."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

A division being called for, 24 Senators voted in the affirmative and 20 in the negative, whereupon the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. Chairman, I move to amend on page 33, line 1, the item "250", that is under the head of the Department of Agriculture, on page 31 you find the heading Department of Agriculture and on page 33, in line 1, I move that the words which start at the bottom of page 32 in line 28 with the words "two hundred and fifty thousand dollars" and figures "$250,000," on page 33, line 1 be changed to three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000). That is at the request of the Secretary of Agriculture, who requested today to have this increase, because he says he needs this additional sum for fighting tuberculosis among cattle. It would also mean that the figures $584,000 at the end of line 2 page 33 would be changed to $50,000 more, or $634,000.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. Chairman, I second the motion.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. Chairman, I move to amend on page 37 in line 3 by inserting a parenthesis (1) after the word "gauge".

Mr. CLARK. Mr. Chairman, I second the motion.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. Chairman, I move to amend on page 36, line 11, by striking out the word "merges" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "mergers".

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. Chairman, I offer the following amendment: page 80, line 23, by striking out the figures $484.44 and inserting in lieu thereof in the margin the figures 488.44; also page 82, line 7, by striking out the figures $127,150,00, in lieu thereof the figures $127,250.00; also page 84, line 27 by striking out the figures $48.00 and inserting in lieu thereof the figures $148.00; also page 8, line 22, by striking out the words "two years the sum of six hundred fifty-eight thousand dollars" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "and", also line 24 by striking out the word "For" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "for"; also line 27 by strikinng out the word "three" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "nine hundred and fifty-eight"; also line 28 by striking out in the margin the figures "$300,000.00" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "$958,000.00".

Mr. STITES. Mr. Chairman, I move that the Committee of the Whole do now rise.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, as Chairman of the Committee of the Whole of the Senate, I desire to report Senate Bill No. 1162, (House Bill No. 81) as amended.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the report of the Committee of the Whole?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, that the bill as amended be printed for the use of the Senate.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 13, 1923.

The House met at 10:00 o'clock A. M..

The SPEAKER (C. J. Goodnough), in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. B. Cox, offered the following prayer:

Our gracious Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this hour of opportunity and privilege. We pray that Thou wouldst help us this day to be ready for every call for service that may come to us. May we be self-composed, confident, yet conscious of our responsibility and dependence upon Thee. Help us to be diligent in business, patient under its exactions; may we be generous, yet not wasteful. Help us to be pure in thought, noble in all that we may do and ever ready to acknowledge our own errors as well as to repay obligations. May we always be courteous, yet earnest in the resistance of evil. We pray, in a word, that Thou wouldst help us to so comport ourselves as we come into Thy service charged with the grave responsibilities of life as becomes a true servant of Thee. We ask it in the name of Christ. Amen.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION.

THANKING MEMBERS.

Mr. MATHAY offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

Whereas it has come to the attention of many members of the House, that certain ulterior, nefarious, insidious schemes, plans and influences, have, during the past few weeks, been resorted to, to secure the passage of bills of questionable merit.

And Whereas it is the sworn duty of each and every member of this House to vote upon all measures impartially and without preference, and to stand by the Speaker, to uphold the honor, integrity and dignity of the House, so that there may be no aspersions, insinuations or innuendoes cast upon those members who desire to act with decorum and in good faith, and be free from persuasion, coercion, intimidation and other sinister influences.

And Whereas it is imperative that such matters as embodied in this resolution hereafter, be immediately brought to the attention of the House for such action as it may deem proper.

And Whereas one bill in particular was overwhelmingly defeated on final passage. But to insure the passage thereof at a subsequent date a certain member of this House arranged for a reception to be given to the Philadelphia members in a notorious town in the County of Berks, and after giving the Philadelphia delegates a royal good time, they returned to the House, reconsidered their action and placed said bill upon the postponed calendar.

And Whereas another member of this House at all times held in the highest esteem, and coming from a County almost outside of the border of Pennsylvania, and by trick, artifice, connivance and machination, caused to be presented two resolutions and subsequently passed them, whereby one of said Members agreed to see that this House be furnished with pretzels and peanuts, and the other member agreed to furnish innocent buttermilk, containing more than one half of one percent, and by adroit, clever and skilful lobbying cause said resolutions to be unanimously adopted and whereupon immediately ways and means were devised to curry favor with the members of this House in order to win them in their good graces to insure the passage of the legislation they were interested in. One of said bills to empower the school districts to create a police force and employ thereby unlimited numbers of policemen. The other bill being an enormous tax of one half of one percent on the now overpurdened and taxed corporations.

And Whereas said members of the House caused to be brought to Harrisburg large numbers of pretzels, peanuts and innocent buttermilk, which was dispensed by the House stenographers and others without any right or authority from this House.

And Whereas by the aforesaid means, artifices, tricks, connivances and machinations, one of the said bills was passed, and the other bill, after the members had had their fill of buttermilk, was quickly called up, and whilst the members unconsciously were laboring under the influence of said buttermilk and in a joyous frame of mind, unanimously also voted said bill through this House.

And Whereas before the vote on both bills, a mysterious package was handed to the Speaker of this House, the contents of which are best known to him, and rumor has it, that he more than enjoyed the contents of same.

And Also Whereas certain high officers of the Commonwealth, including the Executive of this State, were invited to participate in the feast of pretzels, peanuts and buttermilk, which they did and expressed their hearty approval and enjoyment of the same.

Therefore Be It Resolved that this House go unanimously upon record as commending and expressing their hearty approval of the actions of the delegation from Berks County, to wit, the Hon. Earnest B. Posey, Paris E. Eaches, Orville C. Eshelman, Ralph E. Schoener and Wilson G. Sarig, who supplied the pretzels and the delegation from Lehigh County, the Hon. Robert E. Haas, Harry J. Smith, Albert E. Rinn, also known as "Grade Crossing Rinn", who are responsible for the bringing of the peanuts to Harrisburg, and last, but not least our good friend from Armstrong, the Chairman of the Law and Order Committee, the jovial Charles F. Armstrong and that this House by the adoption of this resolution thereby expresses its thanks and appreciation of the hospitality of the various members engaged in the bringing about of this love feast to such a successful conclusion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the House will agree to express its recommendation and hearty approval of the action of the members, however, the Chair feels that further consideration of the resolution should be with relation to the collateral issue and the Chair therefore refers the resolution to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1436 (Senate Bill No. 59), entitled:

An Act to repeal an Act entitled "An Act to regulate the practice of the profession of engineering and of land surveying creating a State Board for the registration of Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors defining its powers and duties imposing certain duties upon the Commonwealth and political subdivisions thereof in connection with the public work and providing penalties" was defeated on final passage on June 12, be reconsidered.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill which was defeated yesterday, and it repeals the licensing engineers' Act, that is, the act which requires the engineers to take out a license. I understand there has been a great deal of dissatisfaction with regard to this on the part of the engineers, and therefore I believe there was a lot of misunderstanding at the time the bill was being considered. For that reason, I move that the vote be reconsidered, and I now ask that it be voted upon favorably by the members of the House.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as the gentleman from Philadelphia has just said, this bill is to repeal the law enacted during the closing hours of the last session of the Legislature, requiring registered engineers to obtain a certificate and making it a misdemeanor for those men to practice their profession without being so registered.

The reason for the repeal, at least one of the reasons for the repeal, is that the bill serves no good purpose and is a useless expense to the State. This is indicated by the fact that the State is required to furnish the organization with whatever may be required, with quarters, furniture, supplies, stationery, printing, and so forth, and the fees that the law requires for registration cannot be used except for purposes of the organization, and are of no use whatever to the State. Another reason for the repeal is that, notwithstanding the fact that this law was enacted for the safeguarding of life, limb and property, it was not necessary in this respect, because other laws already on the statute books were sufficient to safeguard the life, health and property of the citizens, and covers most if not all of the activities of the professional engineers. Practically every class of engineering work is already protected by laws now in existence, and these laws are satisfactory. I might say before sitting down that this law was passed with the Senate by a large majority, and as it serves no real good purpose, I hope the House will pass it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. HARTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1542, (Senate Bill 1018) file folio 3043, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section seven of article three of the Constitution of Pennsylvania on page 15 of yesterday's calendar was defeated on final passage June 12, 1923, be reconsidered.

Mr. HONTZ. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House this motion is to reconsider Senate Bill No. 1018, the voting machine bill which was defeated on the floor of this House last evening. This motion to reconsider brings this bill back for the third time. On April 17th, it was defeated on the floor of the House, and the bill then included the state of Pennsylvania. It was taken up in the Senate and applied to Allegheny County only, but this House last night after proper discussion of the merits and demerits of this clause voted it down. Now, here is another attempt to put it on the calendar when we have vital and important matters to vote on at this time. The general appropriation bill will be here in a short time. What it will contain we do not know, but we must clear our desks to meet the vital bills of importance which will come to us. I am not going to burden you by giving you any further information, but we have had some constitutional amendments which carries money with it. If you give us this experiment now it means an expenditure of millions regardless of how the Allegheny county delegation votes or how the state Senate voted. It is purely a political matter and as an experiment is is expensive and I move that this motion to reconsider be laid upon the table.

Mr. McCAIG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McVICAR. Am I correct with reference to your ruling on matters of this kind, that the motion is not debatable.

The SPEAKER. A motion to lay upon the table is not debatable.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McVicar and Mr. Vickerman and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, on this motion to reconsider I shall speak very briefly. The gentleman from Allegheny who previously spoke on this motion unintentionally made an error. This bill has not been before you three times. It is true that in the early part of the session there was a bill relating to voting machines in the entire state of Pennsylvania before you. That was not an acceptable bill, but because Allegheny county desires voting machines in that county a bill was introduced in the Senate and passed there by a considerable majority; that is the bill now before you. When it came up yesterday afternoon the House did not have a full attendance by any means, but the bill received 102 votes in its favor. Had there been a full attendance it would have received a constitutional majority.

Now, all I want to say to you is this, that if you believe in the practice of home rule, and if you believe that Allegheny county should have voting machines if they so desire, then I say you ought to support this bill. This bill is supported by 5 of the 6 senators from Allegheny county, by all of the Allegheny members in this House with the exception of 6 or 7. It is endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce, by the Mayor of the City of Pittsburgh, by the allied boards of trade, by nearly all the county officials by the Pittsburgh newspapers and many others. We are simply asking you to give Allegheny county the same privilege which the state of New York has given to 300 municipalities, which the state of Connecticut gave to 65% of its citizens; an opportunity the same as 25 counties in the state of Iowa have, and which has been given in the states of Washington and Michigan. Remember also that the bill before you is simply a resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution. If this resolution is passed by this Assembly it must be again passed in the session of 1925. It must be approved by the electors subsequent to 1925, and there must be an enabling act passed in the session of 1927. So I say in conclusion that if you believe in the principle of Home Rule, if you believe in giving to Allegheny county the same as you would want for your own county when it does not effect anyone else, then I say you ought to take the initial step and adopt this resolution and pass it on to the next assembly and to a vote of the electors.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion?

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I only want to call your attention to one point in regard to the passing of this resolution, that is the advertising part. The Appropriations Committee under the instructions of what the Governor asked for had advertising constitutional amendments, $60,000 in their own bill which passed this House. I see by this morning's paper that the Senate has amended that part of the bill to make it $190,000. Now if this resolution passes, to advertise it once in at least two newspapers in each county, would cost the state $35,955. Now under the economy plan, don't you think it would be foolish for us to appropriate $35,955 to advertise a constitutional amendment which is unnecessary? Let us put this $35,955 in some charitable institution where it will do some good.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the ayes and nays were taken.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a vertification of the roll.

Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the negative roll.

The Clerk then proceeded to read the negative roll.

Mr. KELLY. Mr. Speaker, may I ask if Mr. Malie is recorded on the negative roll.

The SPEAKER. Mr. Malie is recorded as voting no.

Mr. MALIE. Mr. Speaker, I voted aye and desire to be so recorded.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. When a roll has been announced after a verification, when the affirmative has been announced and there has been no correction, and then the Chair proceeds to call the negative roll, what is the status of the affirmative roll which has been announced? Can a negative vote be changed to the affirmative or an affirmative changed to the negative?

The SPEAKER. If a member is recorded as voting no and that vote is challenged and the member states that he voted aye, the challenge will be considered by the Speaker and investigation made to ascertain the vote and manner in which the member voted. If it is discovered that he was within the hall of the House and entitled to a vote this vote will be counted as cast.

Mr. MALIE. Mr. Speaker I was in my seat since the House convened and voted aye on this proposition.

The SPEAKER. The names of the members voting aye were called over on the verification of the roll.

Mr. MALIE. I was unable to hear my name called.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. DUNN: Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentlemen will state his point of order.

Mr. DUNN. If a roll has been called and verified no correction con be made and the statement made by the Chair cannot be corrected

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker it appears that the gentleman form Allegheny, Mr. Malie, was in his seat and voted aye. He did not hear his name when the verification of the roll was being called, and it is now necessary to change the negative roll. I argue that it is not inconsistent with the former rulings to have his name stricken off the negative and placed upon the aye roll.

The SPEAKER. The Chair tried to convey the idea that if the vote was challenged the Speaker would investigate, and if the investigation warranted, in the opinion of the Chair, the vote would be changed from no to aye., In the event that the vote would not change the result.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker may I ask what the record shows now as to how Mr. Malie is recorded?

The SPEAKER. The record shows that Mr. Malie voted no.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker, then I challenge the vote of Mr. Malie as having voted no.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I raised a point of order and I would like to ask the opinion of the chair on the point of order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order raised by the gentleman for Philadelphia, Mr. Dunn, is not well taken.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker. I present in writing a challenge to Mr. Malie's vote.

The SPEAKER. On the challenge of the vote of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Malie, who is recorded as voting no, and he states that he voted aye, the chair sustains the challenge and at the same time states that it does not change the result. The idea being that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Malie, is entitled to be recorded in the manner in which he stated that he voted. We feel free to do this because it does not change the result, and the gentleman will be recorded as voting aye

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1494 (Senate Bill No. 872), file folio 2279, entitled:

> An Act to amend section three article seven of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and sixty-eight) entitled "An Act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto" was defeated on final passage be reconsidered?

Mr. GLASGOW. Mr Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, when I voted against this bill yesterday I was under the impression that it referred to volunteer fire companies. Since that time I have learned that it does not. Inasmuch as it does not effect Philadelphia, I think I should not presume to inject myself into it, but I trust the members of the House will support the motion and put the bill back on the calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the "ayes" appeared to have it

Whereupon, a division was called for, and 58 members having voted in the affirmative, and 53 in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, this bill does not affect Philadelphia County, and my only purpose in asking that the vote be reconsidered is because I think it is an injustice to defeat the bill in the manner in which it was. Mr. Speaker, I was under the impression, when I made my motion, that the people interested were in the House, but I find they have left the hall of the House for a few minutes. Therefore, I would ask that the matter be deferred for a few minutes until they return..

The SPEAKER. If there are no objections the final consideration of this bill will be deferred for the present.

Mr. EARLEY. Mr. Speaker, I object.

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—1.

Ludlow.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1479 (Senate Bill No. 795), as follows:

An Act providing that in all suits against any county process shall be served upon and defense made by county controllers

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter when any suit shall be brought against any county of this Commonwealth in addition to the process served and defense made by the county commissioners process shall also be served upon the county controller and defense made by him in any county where such office exists

Section 2 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HEFFRAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to call the attention of the members of the House to the bill now before you. If this bill should pass, instead of three county commissioners you will have four. You will have the three county commissioners, and the controller will also be a commissioner, and this will give rise to a lot of litigation at great expense to the taxpayers. I believe this bill should be defeated.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced by Senator MacDade, and he wants to pass the bill to amend the law in regard to suing the county. Now as the law stands to-day, if you bring suit against the county, the commissioners alone defend that suit. Now Senator MacDade wants to join the county controller in that suit, and it is no more than right. The controller should join in it. It has nothing whatever to do with the controller acting as a commissioner. Today the controller can make no defense in a suit brought against the county. This will allow the county controller to file a defense along with the county commissioners, and it is absolutely right, and I am asking you to vote "aye" on it.

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this bill is wrong in principle. The county controller is merely an auditor, and it does not seem to me that he is the right officer to accept service of process, nor to defend suits. That should be kept where it now is, in the county commissioners, because they have charge of the county affairs and should have charge of the defense of the suits.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to call the attention of the House to the fact that this bill was passed. It is numbered 118, and the governor vetoed it in its language. The evident purpose of this act is undoubtedly good, but in its present form, it would not accomplish the purpose for which it is probably intended, and with that thought in mind, the bill was corrected to the present number, which is 795. The attorney general's office has investigated the bill, and they say in many circumstances it may be embarrasing to the county commissioners to make a defense, and in some instances the county commissioners might be unwilling to make a defense because the suit may be the result of some fault of neglect on their part. Now this is just a further protection to the funds of the county. It only allows process to be served on the controller and he shall supplement the defense to be made by the commissioners. There is no reason at all for voting this bill down, it is a good bill and should pass.

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this bill is all right. We have had in our county an experience where the commissioners failed to make a defense which they should have made, in actions against the county, and our county controller endeavored to defend the taxpayers by an action. An objection was made to that, and the controller was not permitted to defend. Now, in this instance, to my mind the taxpayers suffered because the commissioners did not make the defense that they should have made, and I think it is a protection to the taxpayers, and I believe the bill ought to pass.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, the trouble with this bill to my mind is that the gentleman, the controller of our county, brings more law suits into our county than any other person, or any man who holds office in our county. Our commissioners had to bring suit against our controller at least six times in the last year to make him pay bills that had been passed by these commissioners, bills for salaries for subordinate officers. I think that this bill ought to be voted down just for that reason, because of the men that instigated this bill. I ask the members of the House to vote against this bill. There is no merit to it.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to announce to the members of the House, that the baseball game will take place, rain or shine. The boys are all trained to the minute, and I wish now to announce the batteries: The pitchers for the Democrats will be O'Boyle and Meyers, with Munley behind the bat; for the Republicans, Alexander the Great will be in the box, and Bennie Fields; the catcher will be Harry Smith, of Germantown, Philadelphia. I would like to say that so far as Alexander is concerned, we have been feeding him on raw meat for a week, and he is now ready to go into the box.

Another announcement I would like to make is that I wish that the gentlemen would not take too many cigars and cigarettes with them from the town, but rather buy them from the lady members of the House, who will have them there at the same price that you would pay for them here in Harrisburg. The Governor has assured me that he will throw out the first ball, and the Mayor of Harrisburg will also be present to take part in the ceremony, and I would ask now that we lay aside all thoughts of the probability of rain. Let us be for once real sports, because I think there are a lot of sports in the House, and I would like you all to be there at the suggestion of the Speaker, whenever he sees fit to go. You can go over on the cars, or walk, it is only a short distance across. You can take the cars down here at Second and Walnut. The game will take place over on the Island.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STERLING. During the past few days, the city of Philadelphia, this Commonwealth and Nation, have lost, in the pasing of Doctor Joseph Krauskoff, of Philadelphia a great spiritual and civic leader and outstanding citizen. His great and useful life was shortened by his never sparing, never shrinking devotion in the assumption of heavy burdens for the betterment of man-his City and State. He gave his whole enthusiasm to any cause in which he enlisted. He was an uncompromising idealist and still an able executive, a practical man of affairs not merely a dreamer or theorist. Through his founding of the National Farm School at Doylestown, Pennsylvania he erected a most conspicuous and durable monument to himself and gave to American youth an opportunity for technical farm training and agricultural education. His benefaction in this respect was that rich gift of unselfish, consecrated effort which he brought to every task, small or large, because he genuinely loved his Country-State-City and his fellow men.

To memorialize Doctor Krauskoff that rare citizen of unquestioned usefulness of most marked ability of unfaultering devotion to duty Mr. Speaker, I offer this resolution and request its immediate adoption.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING DOCTOR JOSEPH KRAUSKROPF.

In the House of Representatives, June 13, 1923.

Whereas, Doctor Joseph Krauskropf of Philadelphia, noted educator, humanitarian, founder of the National Farm School at Doylestown, and Rabbi of the Keneseth Israel Temple at Philadelphia, died on the twelfth of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, and

Whereas, It is fitting and proper that this General Assembly should pause for a moment in its labors and contemplate the passing of this eminent American, whose life has made an indelible impress upon the Commonwealth, and

Whereas, When the stream of imigration of Russian Jewish refugees from the pogrom-stricken steppes was at its height, in one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, Dr. Joseph Krauskopf went into the Pale in Russia to study the plight of his co-religionists, and made a tour of the agricultural colonies there, and

Whereas, He was so strongly impressed by the Jewish Agricultural School at Odessa and its results, that upon his return he founded the National Farm School at Doylestown, one of the largest institutions of its kind in America today, and a monument to his memory, and has been its president from the day of its foundation, and

Whereas, Shortly after the outbreak of the Spanish-American War, in one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, he was appointed by the National Relief Commission to be one of the three special commissioners to visit army camps and cantonments in the United States and Cuba and to render such relief as was found to be necessary, and

Whereas, Upon the outbreak of the War with Germany in one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, he was appointed a National Food Director in charge of the Jewish people and served with credit and distinction, and

Whereas, During the past few years his time has been devoted chiefly to the direction of the affairs of the National Farm School at Doylestown, and

Whereas, In spite of failing health and strict orders from his physicians, Dr. Krauskopf insisted upon continuing his manifold activities, and it was not until forced to do so by a breakdown that he consented to take a rest, and

Whereas, By his unfailing devotion to, and his indefatigable work in the performance of the duties he assumed he died a martyr to his congregation and his school, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That in the death of Dr. Joseph Krauskopf, the Commonwealth has lost an eminent citizen, an eloquent preacher, a deep thinker, a profound scholar and a mighty influence for civic betterment. That although eminently a leader of his Race, he was preeminently a staunch, patriotic and virile American, paying unswerving allegiance and rendering unfaultering devotion to the land of his adoption, that he was a rare citizen of usefulness unquestioned, of ability most marked, of learning most profound and in his devotion to duty, he faultered not, until at the end when his arduous labors in the service of his fellowmen undermined his health, he laid down his life for his friends; and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the Senate and of the House of Representatives, and that a copy thereof duly certified by the proper officers of the Senate and House of Representatives be forwarded to the family of the deceased.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO FLAG DAY

Mr. LUCAS offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, June 13, 1923.

Whereas, Tomorrow, June the fourteenth, has been fixed, set aside and designated as Flag Day and on that day good and patriotic citizens throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania wil be engaged in payting tribute to our National Emblem and through it as a symbol will be renewing allegiance and pledging new devotion to the Nation, and

Whereas, It is fitting that we as a part of the law making body of this Commonwealth should on that day make some record of our respect for and veneration of and give testimony of our love and reverence for that Flag which had stood for American liberty, typified American freedom, symbolized the purity and loftiness of her ideals and protected her citizens at home and abroad since June fourteenth, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Members of this House of Representatives of the Conmonwealth of Pennsylvania shall, during the session to be held tomorrow, June fourteenth, at a time to be selected by the Speaker of the House, rise in place and join in singing America and the Star Spangled Banner, and that time be afforded to any Members of the House so desiring, to deliver short patriotic addresses, and be it further

Resolved, That the Sargeant-at-Arms of the House be instructed to have American flags displayed in the Hall of the House at such places as may be directed by the Speaker.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1549 (Senate Bill No. 242), entitled:

An Act to amend sections ten eleven twelve and fourteen of and to add sections eleven (a) and eleven (b) to an act entitled "An act to regulate the practice of osteopathy in the State of Pennsylvania to provide for the establishment of a State Board of Osteopathic Examiners to define the powers and duties of said Board of Osteopathic Examiners to provide for the examining and licensing of osteopaths in this State and to provide penalties for the violation of this act" approved the nineteenth day of March one thousand nine hundred and nine (Pamphlet Laws forty-six) changing the preliminary educational requirements creating a board to examine and license osteopathic physicians to practice operative surgery providing for such examinations and licensing regulating the practice of the same and requiring additional qualifications therefor defining osteopathy and providing for the effect of reports and certificates made by osteopathic physicians and granting additional powers to the Board of Osteopathic Examiners to revoke licenses

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I know of no bill that has been presented to this Body that bears more scrutiny than this one. I am willing to admit that this bill on the one hand is very meritorious, and on the other hand, a very dangerous bill. This bill is known as the osteopathic surgical bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Smith of Dauphin county.

This bill provides, Mr. Speaker, and members of the House that osteopaths may enter into field of surgery. Secondly, it goes one step further. While you all know that I stood on this floor before arguing for high standards for qualifications for entering into the practice of any cult, whatever that may be, and true that this bill provides for that, it provides that in future days in the osteopathic schools they shall teach surgery, and it also provides that the standards of education shall be raised to an equal basis with that of the other cults known either as the allopaths, the homeopaths or the eclectics. This Mr. Speaker we welcome. We welcome this organization to this high standard, but Mr. Speaker, there is one question that enters into this proposition, and that is that this organization desires a special examining board within its own circle, and that this examining board shall be comprised of two medical men, two osteopaths and the superintendent or director of Pre-professional and Professional Credentials Bureau of the Department of Public Instruction. Now, I cannot see for the life of me why a body of men, who have the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth at heart would want an examining board within its own body of men. I am sure there is not a lawyer in this organization, who for a moment would entertain the introduction of a bill creating a department in the law examining forces simply to examine candidates to practice only criminal law, and we likewise, as medical men deplore the fact that men in the osteopathic circles would ask that a special board be provided for its candidates. This bill furthermore provides that any osteopath, now practicing, or who has practiced for a period of three years shall be admitted by simply filing an affidavit or burden of proof that he is an osteopathic surgeon. I should like to ask any member of this House to define what "osteopathic surgery" means. We don't recognize allopathic surgery, we don't recognize eclectic surgery, and we do not recognize homeopathic surgery. Surgery we recognize as a fundamental study in the healing art, and I certainly cannot see where the term "osteopathic surgery" becomes applicable to the treatment of any known disease, whatever that may be. Surgery I consider as surgery. whether that be done by one cult or by another, and therefore, ladies and gentleman, I cannot see the wisdom of this particular act. I know of no more serious moment in any individual's life, Mr. Speaker, than at the time that an individual is taken to an operating room and placed upon an operating table and receives an anesthetic. There is only one other moment in life that I know of that is as serious, and that is the moment of life when the person's spiritual advisor stands by him and says, "Prepare yourself to meet your Maker", and yet ladies and gentlemen, these very men come here and ask you that into their hands may be placed a knife without a certificate that they know anything about surgery; that they may be permitted to go into the abdomen of that individual, whether it be man, woman or child; that they may be permitted to operate on a brain whether it be that of a man, woman, or child. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I don't think that we have lost our five senses and I am sure you are not going to be so foolish as to allow such a practice as that. I ask you just to stop and think for yourselves, if you yourself or one of your immediate family were to be taken to an operating room for an operation whether you would not stop and try to get the best surgeon that money could afford, if it were within your means. I don't see why men come here to this legislative body and ask us to legislate to them a privilege about which there is some question of doubt as to their knowledge. Let us just go back a few years to 1909 when the osteopathic bill became a law in this Commonwealth. On this very floor people argued that they had a new application in the treatment of disease, without any medicine, a remedy simply by application. They condemned medicine. They condemned surgery and they condemned every other thing known at that particular time to science and medicine, yet today they come in here and ask you members to give them the very thing that they condemned only 14 years ago on the floor of this House.

Mr. Speaker and membres of this House, this bill goes further than that. It places within their hands the use of antiseptics, germicides and anaesthetics. Now, the word "antiseptic", is a very broad one in this bill. It does not provide for local antiseptics, but it uses the word antiseptics and that may be construed internal antiseptics. But they say that in the fundamentals of this law, they have a provision that no medicine may be introduced into the organism of the body, as a curative remedy. How is that question to be determined? This may be rather a dull subject, but I appreciate that it is most serious and I trust you will bear with me just a few moments. I will not be long. As I was saying on the question of antiseptics, the judicial mind in court may interpret it one way, because it seems that the judiciary ofttimes has a mind that is very flexible. I asked at the meeting of the Committee, that they provide a special section that would wipe away any question of doubt, but the committee in its wisdom saw fit not to accept it, for which I make no complaint. I said before what this bill provides and I read on page 10, beginning at line 23 that "any osteopathic physician who has been practicing operative surgery for a period of not less than 5 years"—mark you well the time— "prior to the passage of this act shall not be required to take the examinations required by this section and shall be eligible to appointment as a member of the Osteopathic Surgeons' Examining Board." Now, let us see what does that mean? That means exactly what I said a few moments go, that anyone of these men can qualify and become the examining surgeons, if the Governor desires to appoint them. Yet none of those men who may be appointed on that Board have proven that they know anything of the fundamentals of surgery, and that, my friends, I think is the most dangerous section of this bill. There is a composite examining board, and I see no reason why these men should not be compelled to take the same examination as any candidate who applies to the Board of Medical Education and Licensure for examination and that is one thing I think should have been written into the law, that any osteopath who desires to practice surgery should be compelled to present himself before that Board as a candidate to practice surgery in Pennsylvania as an osteopath and he should be compelled to take that examination that you and I and every individual in the Commonwealth might well know that he is honorably and honestly fit to practice surgery upon the human body. Ladies and gentlemen, with all seriousness, I hope this Assembly is not going to go on record and place in the hands of unscrupulous men and women of this state a knife and permit them to operate on any individual as they see fit.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, when I am sick and troubled with pain I am not able to tell whether I have allopathic pains, homeopathic pains or osteopathic pains. I want to say at the outset that I have never visited an osteopath, I have never been treated by one, and I am searching my memory to see whether I know any among my list of doctors and acquanitances. If I may be permitted to be personal about this, when anyone in my home needs medical attention it has always been our practice at home to go to an allopathic physician, there has been one exception during a vacation time and therefore I hold no brief of any kind for the osteopathic profession. I am however, rising to address the House not upon the question of the merits of the points raised by Dr. Steedle, our colleague from Allegheny, but I am going to address the House upon the condition of the bill when it left the Senate, and on the statement of the legislative friends of the allopaths and homeopaths accepting that bill, what happened to that bill in our committee and why I think we ought to pass it. In the first place the bill was for many weeks in the Senate. Much discussion took place. The bill was introduced, I find, from the Senate history by Senator Smith on March 5th. It was passed in the Senate on May 16th. In other words, in two months and 11 days of meetings hearings, amendments, strikeouts and inserts, a bill finally was presented to the Senate by a sub-Committee of which Senator Miller of Crawford county was chairman. Senator Miller, like myself, is one who for the ills of his family has been treated by allopaths. He went into the situation prejudiced against the osteopaths. Many conferences were held, many amendments were offered and a number adopted, and when the bill was finally passed in the Senate, and from what discussion took place, I want to trouble you at this hour with a congested calendar, for but a few minutes to read a remark or two from Senator Miller's talk to the Senate on page 3079 of the Journal. He said, "The fact of the matter is the bill was amended only yesterday to make it suit them" meaning the doctors, "and therefore the doctors in the different districts do not know of the amendments that went in, but the bill in its present form satifies Dr. VanSickle, the official representative of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, who is also editor of their state publication, also Dr. Mills, who is official representative here of the homeopathic school. Also Dr. Knowles, who has been in conversation by long distance telephone with Dr. Van Sickle, and who is chairman of the legislative committee of the State Medical Society. He has approved the bill. These men say with the bill in its present form, they will not only remove all objections to the bill but actively support it and ask their friends in both Houses to vote for it. After a long series of conference around the dinner table that the Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, has referred to, we have finally gotten together and if you want to please the medical men, vote for this bill; if you want to please the general public, who are interested in raising the standard of all medical schools, vote for the bill." And the bill passed the Senate by 35 ayes to 5 noes, one of whom was the Senator from Allegheny at McKeesport, a neighbor to Dr. Steedle, our colleague who has just spoken.

Now, there was a letter written, of which every Member has received a copy, and I will not trouble or delay you by the reading of the letter, I only want to call your attention to the facts. Dr. J. A. Knowles, President of the State. Medical Society at Philadelphia, on May 19, 1923 wrote Senator Miller, and I hold the original letter here which Senator Miller handed to me in which he says that they withdraw their objections to the bill, and I want you to mark this sentence: "As president of the Conference Committee, that is of the medical legislative conference committee of Pennsylvania" and upon its recommendation" the conference recommendation, if you please, "I agree to the passage of the bill as amended through the Senate." Under the list of members of the Conference Board on the left hand side of the letter head on which Dr. Knowles wrote the original letter, which I have here in my hand, here as a member of the Pennsylvania Medical Society's branch of that conference, appears the name of our good friend, Dr. Joseph G. Steedle, McKees Rocks, Allegheny county, Pennsylvania. Now, please bear in mind, therefore, that the difficulties after two months and eleven days were ironed out in the Senate, that the man at the head of your conference wrote this letter, which he said he had written upon its recommendation, the recommendation of the conference, and that our friend, Dr. Steedle was a member of the conference.

Now, what happened in the House? That bill came here to the House on May 17th and it stayed in committee with nothing done until Wednesday of the last week, when under pressure of a threat from many members of the House, not merely 60 but many members of the House because a petition I know was being circulated to discharge the committee agreed to hold a meeting. It met on Wednesday of the last week and referred it very properly, but at a rather late date, to a sub committee and the following morning, Thursday morning, the last day of our session last week, the sub-committee reported it to the committee, and the committee voted to report the bill out without amendments. It was by a close vote, something like 14 to 10, if I am in error, the doctor will correct me, but I take it that is immaterial. That was last Thursday morning. The bill had been ordered to be reported ont on Thursday afternoon. The bill was taken away and it could not be reported to the House on Thursday afternoon and on Thursday night after we met here until midnight in cleaning our calendar, there was no sight of the bill, and no sight of the chairman who disappeared from our midst, no doubt because of work in the West. I am advised, and if in error, the Chairman of the Committee Dr. Steedle will correct me, that the bill left his possession and went into the possession of one not a member of our House, and that somewhere between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh or his home or somewhere out in the western part of the state, the bill also went through the mails and finally on Monday, with the doctor still absent and with the fact that we have to have three readings before this week was out a certified copy was duly presented aid offered by a member of the committee and first reading took place. If it had not been for that we would not have a chance to support this bill on its merits. I might have been persuaded by Dr. Steedle's speech, had I heard it a week ago, without a chance to meet the points referred to, but frankly, as a member of the House, I cannot tell you whether the points he raised are correct or not, but I made up my mind that if correct tonight, they were correct on May 17th when this bill reached the committee. If correct tonight they were correct Wednesday of last week; if they are correct tonight, they were correct on Thursday of last week when the chairman of the committee and the bill went on a trip. Now members of the House in the light of that letter of Dr. Knowles, in the light of the record of the Senate, in the light of the record of the Senate, in the light of what took place in this committee of our own House, fair play demands that we pass the bill. I don't think we want the closing days of the session of 1923 to be marked by the defeat of bills that ought to have been voted on, on their merits, by any kind of subterfuge, and for that reason I was among those who voted the other evening to give a chance for the first second and third readings, and an even chance, to the compensation bill. By the same token I was willing to do anything in my power to see that the bill should come out of committee, and although I am not a member of the Committee, if I had any doubts about the merits of the bill today I am certain by the tactics employed against it that the bill must have merit. I am certain from Dr. Knowles letter that the bill must have merit; I am certain from the vote in the Senate that the bill must have merit, and like our beloved late president I think our House of Representatives can go on record as saying that when we play we play hard, and when we fight we fight hard. Members of the House, this bill deserves due consideration, it deserves fair treatment at our hands.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker,——

Mr. STAVITSKI. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The motion is seconded by the following members: Messrs. Heyburn, Metcalf, Aston, Hall, Burger——

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle, was on his feet asking for recognition, when the motion for the previous question was made.

The SPEAKER. The motion was also seconded by Messrs. Eaches, Mathay, Dunn, Lucas, Orr, B. P. Evans, Jefferson Smith, Josiah Evans, Bluett, Connor, Howard Smith, Strob, Fields Dilsheimer, and others.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I insist upon the point of order which I just raised, that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle, was on his feet demanding recognition. This is a very important question, anl I think a great many of the members of the House would like to have the information. Certain statements have been made, and now the gentleman from Allegheny desires to answer the gentleman from Montgomery. In view of that fact, and in view of the importance of this measure, it seems to me that the point of order I raised is a proper one.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state for the information of the gentleman from York even if the gentleman from Allegheny had been recognized and was on his feet speaking, that a motion for the previous question was in order. The Chair is most unwilling to cut off debate at any time, but if the motion for the previous question is withdrawn, the Chair will cheerfully recognize the gentleman from Allegheny. Otherwise, the Chair is compelled to rule that the point or order is not well taken.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House——

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the previous question having been called for, that is the only thing before the House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules the point of order is well taken.

On the question,

Shall the main question now be put?

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that I was attacked by the gentleman from Montgomery County it certainly is unfair that I should not have the opportunity to answer him, in defense of the charges made by the gentleman from Montgomery———

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. DUNN Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, the Chair has already made the decision that the previous question is the only thing before the House.

The SPEAKER. The only question before the House is on the previous question. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

MOTION TO SUSPEND.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the rules of the House be suspended for the purpose of permitting the gentleman form Allegheny, Mr. Steedle, to make a statement to the House.

The SPEAKER. The previous question having been ordered by the House, no other motion is in order.

On the question recurring,

Shall the main question now be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that we have ruled as we have been compelled to rule under the rules of the House, at the same time we feel very much inclined to give every member an apportunity to be heard.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the members of this House to withdraw the previous question and permit the gentleman from Allegheny to make his explanation. I beleive in a square deal.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the previous question has been called for, and therefore there is nothing before this House but the calling of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The Chair rules that the point of order is well taken.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the House agreed to the motion for the previous question be reconsidered.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am a member of the committee on Health and Sanitation. After this bill had been referred to our committee I went to Mr. Steedle, and I want to be fair to Mr. Steedle, we have been close friends for the last three sessions, and I want to give him an opportunity here in this House to defend himself if there is anything wrong in the charges made by the gentleman from Montgomery. I myself gave Mr. Ludlow the information, and I want to say to you here and I ask you here and I ask the House and all my friends to vote for this proposition and give Mr. Steedle a chance to defend himself on these charges. The bill would never have been reported out if it had not been done in the way it was. I went to Mr. Steedle after this bill was referred to us and asked what he was going to do with the bill and he said then, "You are not interested in this bill, are you?" I said, "Indeed I am, doctor, I am very much interested because a personal friend of mine and colleague in Philadelphia asked me to do everything honorable to help this bill and try to have it passed." Mr. Steedle then said, "I think we will have a public hearing on this bill." I asked him then, "Doctor, when can you arrange for a public hearing on this bill?" He said, "Well, next week." I went again to the chairman of that committee and asked him whether he would not call this bill up. He said then, "Tomorrow." The following day we called the bill up ourselves. We had that day some twenty-five members of that committee present. We argued the bill pro and con, and finally a motion was made and carried to report that bill to a sub-committee. The sub-committee was appointed, and Mr. Blumberg was chairman of that committee. The next day the sub-committee had a meeting and reported this bill with about thirty amendments. I knew well enough it was only meant to delay the bill, and therefore, a majority of that committee ordered that the bill be reported out by a vote of 14 to 10, without amendments. I don't know who the chairman gave the bill to. The chairman left for Pittsburgh after our hearing. Somebody took the bill along, whether it was the chairman or somebody else, I don't know, but I was told by one of the members of that committee that the bill was handed to him, and he forgot to report the bill and that he mailed the bill by registered letter to Dr. Steedle. I appeal to my friends in this House and they thought this bill should receive fair treatment. The members advised me to let the matter rest until Monday. I waited until Monday evening, and there was no report made by any person on that committee, neither was the chairman present on Monday, neither was the gentleman who had the bill in his chair, who said he had mailed it by registered letter to the Chairman of the committee. Now I want to be fair and if I am not telling the truth I want you to give Dr. Steedle a chance to refute these charges. I want to say this, after I was compelled to get a certified copy which I reported out I stated to the House that this was a certified copy. Then the bill was before this House, and if we had not done that this bill would have gone by default and we would not have had time to act on it. Therefore, I ask you in justice to this bill to pass it.

Mr. LUDLOW. Mr. Speaker, I had no knowledge prior to the motion to move the previous question, that it would be brought up and I am not a party to any gag rule. What I have said is something that Dr. Steedle has a thorough right to reply to if he wants to. I asked awhile ago for fair play, and I sincerely trust that who moved the previous question and seconded it will vote on Mr. Spangler's motion to reconsider. Let us play fair both ways.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, after the very full and elaborate explanation of Mr. Dilsheimer from Philadelphia, I am willing to withdraw my motion.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker I withdraw my second to the motion.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House the bill that we are about to vote on deserves your careful consideration. This is a bill, which as I read it, makes it optional with those contractors who engage in highway contract business to deposit with the State Highway Department, as surety for the faithful performance of contracts between them and the state, of liquid securities, instead of a surety bond issued by a surety company. Now, in a word the effect of the passage of this bill would mean to take out of the field of highway contracting those men or those companies that may not be in sufficiently good financial circumstances to deposit with the state surety bonds and you all know that in the making of bids for such work on the highways the contractor figures into the cost of the job the premium that he pays on the bond, so that the ultimate effect of this situation would be that the small contractor or the man of limited means, or the business that don't own liberty bonds or other acceptable securities will be unable to bid on an equal basis with the rich contractor who may have in his vault or safe sufficient securities to satisfy the state department. The bill, members of the House, in my judgment, will work unequitably against the little contractor and will work advantageously only for the big contractor. Something has been said in a note sent around here of the money that might be saved by the State of Pennsylvania through the passage of this bill. Well, it reminds me of the story of the investor in securities who was anxious always to buy bonds that earned eight or nine percent, and will never buy a bond that only earns four percent. The eight percent bonds obviously cannot be as safe as the four percent investment. In other words when a surety company places a bond with the State Department for the faithful performance of the job by the contractor that bond remains in force until the job is done, and no relationship between the State and the contractor can be effected by the sudden rise of price because naturally if the contractor is scared off of the job because the price of his materials has suddenly gone up the surety company must stay on and complete under the surety contract, but if you pass this bill, in the manner in which it is written, the contractor who has finished three quarters of the job has returned back to him by the State Department a certain percentage of his security, then comes a sudden rise in the market and he can run away and leave his bonds with the state department unless he feels that he can go into the courts and enjoin the State Department in the sale of those bonds for some techical legal reason. Now, with this explanation, members of the House, I sincerely hope that you will see this bill as I see it; that you will see its defects as I see them; that you will see its unfairness as I see it, and that you will see that it can bring no good to the state of Pennsylvania and for those reasons vote no and defeat the bill.

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it appears to me that this is a progressive piece of legislation. It has the approval of the Highway Department and it has my commendation. I believe that it would result in a material reduction in the cost of road construction. If we go back we can recall that 20 years ago the cost of a similar bond was only one-fifth of one percent. Today the Bond companies in Pennsylvania are charging one and one-half percent of the total contract price. Therefore you can see that we are paying one and one-half percent in our road construction for the writing of the bond of the contractor. It is true that the big bonding companies are opposed to this kind of legislation which permits the contractor to take his choice of putting up securities or writing a bond. We must recognise that states like New York, Illinois, and Iowa, which have similar kinds of progressive legislation along these lines are only paying one percent where we are paying one and one half percent. This readily shows that there is manipulation so far as bonding companies are concerned in the State of Pennsylvania in the writing of bonds of this kind. Now, the public must pay the bill and it seems to me that if we can save one and one-half percent in the construction of our roads that is a material item and we should vote for this bill.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, the mere fact that the Highway department recommends this bill, does not necessarily mean that it is a good bill in order to save possibly a dollar or so. That is not the point in this bill. It eliminates the small man from an opportunity of competing with the man of wealth. It deprives the small man who has no liberty bonds, as the gentleman from Philadelphia has explained, who has no securities, and his only remedy, regardless of what the terms may be, is that he can go to a surety company and he can file his bond and compete with his competitors. This bill eliminates the small man and does not give him an opportunity. I feel that the merits of the bill, as explained by the gentleman from Philadelphia are not deserving of the votes of this House and I would ask the members to vote this bill down.

Mr. KELLY. Mr. Speaker, you no doubt all have received a letter, a copy of which I hold in my hand, from the State Highway department. While the ground has been pretty well covered, I want to read you the cost of a surety bond per mile of state road. This is a measure of economy, this letter says. The cost of surety bonds entering into the cost of road construction, it is estimated that this will average $850.00 a mile. The State Highway Department built about 2000 miles of highway in the last four years. That would mean a saving of $1,700,000, or in other words the cost of about 35 miles of road. Now, it is not absolutely necessary that the contractors take out a surety bond. He can do either. This same bill is in effect in the state of New York, Illinois, and Iowa, and at the present time here is what happened. You have been told that this is a bill that will impose a hardship on the poor contractor. Now, here is where it is going to help them. Before this bill in those states I have mentioned, passed, surety bonds cost from one and one half to two percent. Since this legislation became effective the price came down to one percent, and what this will do is to put the poor man in line to save a few dollars for himself to get in line with the competitors who get similar contracts and save the state some money. I ask you to vote for this bill. It is a good bill.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, is there anyone in this House who can explain the purposes of this bill?

Mr. JOSEPH MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is very simple. There are two assessments made, one in May, which extends over until September before it is completed, and one in December. Now the purpose of this bill is to abolish the December assessment.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I think evidently the assessments in the city of Philadelphia and perhaps in Allegheny are different from what they are in the country districts, in fact I know they are. You will remember that under the Constitution as it stands at the present time, a voter, to vote at a primary election, must have paid a state and county tax, and that a state and county tax must have been assessed at least 30 days before that primary election. Now then, suppose you do away with that December assessment, in the country districts I am referring to now. To you men who live in the country districts this is important, and I want you to get it before you vote on this bill, and then you can do as you desire. Under the bill which you have just passed, the primaries next year will be in April. You will have no assessments in your country districts between May and the following April. Now that is too long a time, and with people moving in and moving out, there should be an assessment in December so that the voters may be assessed at least 30 days prior to the primary election. It seems to me for the country districts this is not a good bill.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Our Heavenly Father: It is with mingled relief and regret that we come together here for the last time. What a delightful fellowship we have enjoyed during these past months. We thank Thee for the fine spirit that has pervaded the Senate all through the session, and for the wise and strong and constructive work that has been done.

And now, on the eve of our separation, we pause to invoke Thy blessing upon us. Bless our Governor and our Lieutenant Governor, and the President Protempore of this body. And, O Lord, bless the Senators, every one, those who are present and any who are unable to be here. Be with our Secretary and the Chief Clerk and the Chief of the Reporting Staff and Librarian, and all those, younger and older, who in any way have been linked up with the work of the Senate. Remember the homes that are represented here, the wives and children and all the dear ones, and may Thy favoring smile rest on every circle.

We do not know what the future has in store for us. Life is so uncertain. But whether or no we meet again on earth, at the last great day grant us entrance into the Life more abundant, where we shall dwell with Thee and with one another for ever and ever.

All these blessings we ask in the name of our Lord and Master Jesus Christ. Amen.

The motion was agreed to.

The report was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 570, entitled: "An Act providing for the merging of moneys held in certain special funds in the State Treasury with moneys in the general fund, providing for the use of all moneys in the general for the payment of appropriations and for the payment from the general fund of moneys appropriated and dedicated for special purposes," respectfully submit the following bill as our report:

W. C. HARER.
THOS. M. WHITEMAN,
Committee on the part of the House of Representatives

An Act providing for the merging of moneys held in certain special funds in the State Treasury with moneys in the general fund providing for the use of all moneys in the general fund for the payment of appropriations and for the payment from the general fund of moneys appropriated and dedicated for special purposes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That after the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four all moneys paid into the State Treasury from whatsoever sources derived and to whatsoever purpose dedicated by the laws of the Commonwealth except moneys belonging to the sinking fund the Workmen's Compensation Insurance Fund the State bond road fund the county gasoline tax fund and fund derived from the tax upon the premiums of foreign fire insurance companies the Federal Vocational Education Fund the Industrial Rehabilitation Fund and funds under the control of the retirement board shall be paid into the general fund of the State Treasury All moneys in such special funds in the State Treasury on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four other than those hereinbefore excepted shall be paid into the general fund of the State Treasury All moneys thereafter in the general fund of the State Treasury shall be available for the payment of appropriations made by the General Assembly from time to time for any purpose whatsoever and payable from the general fund

Section 2 The State Treasurer and Auditor General shall keep an accurate record upon their books of the amount of moneys belonging to each special fund which has been heretofore or shall hereafter be dedicated for the purposes for which such special fund was created and in all cases where moneys belonging to such special funds have been heretofore or shall hereafter be appropriated for any of the purposes for which such special fund was created such moneys shall be payable from the general fund of the State Treasury in the same manner as they were heretofore payable from such special funds It is not the intent of this act to abolish any special fund now existing in accordance with law but only to make available the moneys held in certain special funds for the payment of appropriations payable from the general fund

Section 3 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the same?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I have been asked to explain this bill. The vital part of the bill is to make available moneys held in special funds. Out of the 24 special funds existing there are 13 of these funds which can be merged into the general fund of the treasury and used for general appropriation purposes. It is not necessary to explain the merits of the legislation. There are now about 13 special funds floating around not available for current bills. Of all the bills proposed by the reorganization commission, this is the one ewe lamb, I might say, that has escaped the slaughter. Now, this ewe lamb has grown into a considerable sheep and I may say has become a rambunctious question, and I will explain what I mean. This bill was in conference and I was invited to sit with the conference yesterday and the situation is simply this: that of the Senate conferees five agreed to report the bill as originally written but one of the conferees, Mr. Whiteman, asked for a little time in order to consult the Secretary of the Commonwealth and to see whether it would be embarassing in any way to report the bill as originally written. Mr. Whiteman was told by the Secretary of the Commonwealth that if the time were changed to January first, 1924, it would be perfectly agreeable to the budget officer. A few hours later Mr. Whiteman received a letter from the Secretary of the Commonwealth in which he reversed himself, and I regret that I do not have the letter in my pocket or I would read it to you, but I assure you that the letter was what I have stated to you.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Woodward, whether the Committee of Conference has agreed on this report.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, it has.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the same?
